OFF DUXBURY REEF

Whale Skeleton Dates To The Miocene Epoch

By PAT ANGLE

To most people it would probably have looked just like another big rock lying there on the beach off Duxbury Reef in Bolinas.

But Carl V. Ziegler, a naturalist employed by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department, recognized it for what it was: part of the skeleton of a whale from the Miocene Epoch, a creature that lived between 15 and 30 million years ago.

"I was on patrol when I spotted it and, believe me, I was pretty excited," said Ziegler, who happens to be an amateur paleontologist. He said recent high tides which washed away a small section of the reef near Bolinas Point two weeks ago apparently undearthed the rare fossil from the place it had been entombed for millions of years.

Ziegler encountered it last Friday.

To preserve his find from souvenir hunters, Ziegler quickly covered it with debris. "I was really worried, because there were a lot of people around." Then he had to wait two agonizing days before he could get help to carry the object, which weighs more than 300 pounds, away to a safe place in the college of Marin's marine-biology station in Bolinas.

The fossil was easily dated, he said, by the age of the particular rock in which it was lodged, a miocene-monterey formation. Without a skull, it is impossible to tell the kind of whale or much else about it, but Dr. Chan said the bones will be sent to the University of California's paleontology department for further study.

"It is one of the oldest mammals ever found in Marin," he said. "A very interesting discovery." A portion of the skull of a whale of the same period was found near Bolinas in 1966.

The whale the bones belonged to may have swum all over the county and even the state in his day, the biologist said, since almost all of California was covered by seas during the Miocene period.

He said it was fortunate that the fossil was found by Ziegler, since many significant specimens are carted away by the general public and never turned over to scientific authorities. Chan urged all fossil finders to bring their discoveries in to the college or marine laboratory or some other place where they can be identified.

One of these days he hopes to enlist the aid of students and other interested persons in unearthing the rest of what may be Marin's oldest resident.

New Policy On Death Penalty Appears Headed To Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said today the administration will probably ask Congress to make the death penalty mandatory for airplane hijackings, kidnapings, killing of prison guards and other "cold-blooded, premeditated" serious crimes.

Kleindienst, in his first full-fledged press conference at the Justice Department since he became attorney general, said generally he felt the death penalty was not a deterrent to crime, but he said he felt that capital punishment was justified in certain serious crimes such as skyjackings.

Asked if the administration would submit legislation to Congress to legalize the death penalty in certain cases, Kleindienst replied: "I believe so." He said the legislation would make the death penalty "mandatory in these restricted cases."

The attorney general rejected suggestions that the Justice Department and the FBI had been "politicized" under him and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell. Kleindienst said "no prosecutive decisions have been made on the basis of the politics of the defendant."

He also refused to discuss the Watergate case in which political operatives of President Nixon allegedly bugged the Democratic national headquarters. Kleindienst said an order by U. S. Judge John Sirica prohibited him from commenting on the case.

Kleindienst repeatedly dodged direct answers to a number of questions implying political overtones to Justice Department decisions involving Democrats and Republicans and the 1972 elections.

New Gas Station Ban Is Lifted

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials yesterday lifted a 10-week-old ban on new gasoline stations on the ground that "we have to be practical."

Oil companies, gas station developers and labor unions had protested the ban vehemently, claiming it created undue economic hardships while not reducing smog.

The ban was imposed in late October by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, with no new stations foreseen by district officials until "perhaps the mid-1970s."

Both of Marin's representatives to the nine-county board, Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Sausalito City Councilman Stephen Fraser, voted with the majority in the 13-4 vote to lift the ban.

Directors said, however, equipment will have to be installed to help stop the flow of fuel vapors — contributers to bad air — into the atmosphere.

Fraser's vote was contrary to his own arguments earlier that new stations should be allowed only if they were equipped with systems to recover at least 90 per cent of the fumes emitted in filling car tanks.

Noting that this requirement has been imposed in San Diego, Fraser asked, "Why are we in the Bay Area less willing to adopt a tough standard in defense of the quality of our air than Southern California?"

Director William R. Jelavich, a Mountain View city councilman, also argued for the requirement. Such a system is supposed to be available in 30 days, he said, adding it was "not the end of the world" if new gas stations cannot be built for another month.

Arrigoni and others, however, won postponement of the requirement to next Jan. 1, although saying district officials might find earlier steps necessary. The supervisor said the date "puts industry on notice we may not allow any new stations after then."

The board's motion will require vapor recovery systems on new stations for fumes emitted while filling underground storage tanks. This will take care of only about 30 per cent of the hydrocarbons emitted from gas stations, according to the district staff.

The district's administrator, D. J. Callaghan, assured the board that there was "no engineering data" as to whether a system to recover vapors from car tanks will work.

Arguing that new stations would cut pollution because of more efficient gas pumps, San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said the ban merely was "Williamsburging the old stations."

There was no discussion of requiring existing stations to install the vapor recovery systems.

A district official said that recently unsuccessful applicants to build some 40 new stations would be encouraged to reapply for permits.

The list of denied gas station permits includes one each in San Rafael, Mill Valley and San Anselmo.

In other business, the board rejected a proposal by management consultants that they create an executive secretary responsible only to them and independent of Callaghan. By split votes, the board instead agreed to hire an independent clerk, but with strictly limited clerical responsibilities.

Alioto branded the management consultants' proposal "an attempt by minority elitists to continue their hatchet job" on Callaghan. He decried critics of the district as "boutique whites." They were "an incredible crowd — they never sleep," he said.

The rhetoric also got heavy in a board attack on a legislative committee investigating citizens' complaints against the district. Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort said the investigation by the Legislature, which created the district, was "well beyond their responsibilities."

Alioto branded the committee's action as "a Spanish investigation," and praised board chairman Robert B. St. Clair for spurning a subpoena to testify before the committee. "You're free to fight that way," Alioto said to the San Mateo County supervisor.

The board also received a monthly report of violation notices, including four in Marin and Southern Sonoma. Two were issued against the Big G Supermarket in Corte Madera and one each against Robert Cronback and P. A. Respini, both of Petaluma.

Mercury Plunges Again In Marin

Sub-freezing temperatures gripped Marin today amid an apparently growing outbreak of flu-like illnesses.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said today residents tend to overheat their homes in cold weather, increasing vulnerability t cold viruses and flu.

She said that flu, characterized by high fever, headaches, sore throats and aching muscles, has picked up in Marin this week. She said she did not know whether flu in Marin was of the English type, which state health officials report is cropping up in the Bay Area.

A flu-type illness has been blamed for increasing employee absenteeism in Marin, with officials of United Market in San Rafael reporting that up to 25 per cent of the staff was sick last week. Other supermarkets and banks in San Rafael also report absenteeism due to flu.

Lows today ranged from 22 degrees in Woodacre to 32 in Sausalito and Fairfax. Federal forecasters predicted the cold snap will continue tonight with lows in the 30s and highs tomorrow in the 50s.

Other low temperatures reported for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today were: San Anselmo, 33; Ross, 30; Larkspur, 27; Cotati, 28; Mill Valley, 28; Mount Tamalpais, 30, and Novato, 28.

Major Storm Slams Nation's Breadbasket

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

A major winter storm tore through the Midwest today, transforming interstate highways into writhing lanes of snowbound cars, touching off a flurry of auto accidents and triggering power failures.

Three men were killed and one was injured Wednesday when a pickup truck collided with a trailer truck in freezing rain near Ottawa, Ill.

Rain, sleet and snow fell in much of the northeastern part of the nation late Wednesday. Three persons were killed at Owega, N.Y., when a bus carrying a junior high school swimming team from Vestal, N.Y., skidded on an ice-slicked highway and overturned.

A blizzard bowled through eastern Nebraska, stopping traffic on major highways leading into the metropolitan Omaha and Lincoln areas and causing at least one death.

Winds of up to 52 miles per hour hurled tons of snow through eastern Nebraska, reducing visibility to zero and creating massive traffic jams. At least one storm-related traffic death was reported.

The trip between Omaha and Lincoln, Neb., normally takes 40 minutes, but snow-clogged roads and stalled cars turned the trip into a five-hour ordeal Wednesday. Snow piled up to seven inches at some locations and was whipped into drifts by the strong winds.

Catholic schools in the Omaha area remained closed today as a result of the storm and several suburban Omaha school systems announced that schools would be closed today. Omaha public school students were not scheduled to return to classes from the holiday break until Monday.

The commander of Offut Air Force Base, home of the Strategic Air Command, said the base near Omaha would operate on a limited basis until noon today, with only mission-essential personnel reporting this morning.

A state convention of the Nebraska Association of Community Colleges, expected to draw some 450 persons to Norfolk, Neb., today, was postponed until a later date because of the storm.

The Nebraska State patrol warned motorists to stay off Interstate 80, the state's main east-west highway, between Omaha and York. A four-mile-long traffic jam built up in U.S. 75-73 south of Omaha.

Near-blizzard conditions were reported in Iowa, forcing the municipal airport at Des Moines to shut down.

One of the worst ice storms on record left some 30,000 homes and offices in Kansas City, Mo., without power and sent hundreds of persons to homes of friends or relatives or to churches and schools to keep warm. Power company employes worked through the night in an effort to restore power.

Traffic moved at a crawl, when it moved, as heavy snows clogged roadways in southeastern Minnesota.

Heavy rains soaked the Chicago area, causing some delays at O'Hare International Airport as the rain blocked out part of the airport's approach radar. Several rivers and streams overflowed but flooding was not severe and no additional flooding was expected today.

Call Says Bomb On Jetliner

RAPID CITY, S. D. (UPI) — A Trans World Airlines 747 jumbo jet with 236 persons aboard on a flight from Madrid was ordered to this high-altitude South Dakota city today because a Spanish extortionist demanding $237,000 ransom claimed a pressure bomb set to explode at 3,200 feet was planted on the aircraft.

The plane, en route from Madrid, first was ordered sent to mile-high Denver, then was diverted to Ellsworth Air Force Base at Rapid City, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said.

"My guess is security," the FAA spokesman said. "They can probably control it better there." Rapid City is 3,276 feet above sea level.

The plane was diverted because of a telephone threat to TWA's Madrid office.

The incident was the third enactment of a theme from a 1966 television drama by Rod Serling, "The Doomsday Flight," in which an airliner was sent to Denver because of its 5,280-foot altitude to foil an extortionist and a pressure bomb.

A TWA spokesman said the plane had enough fuel to reach Rapid City. The flight with 218 passengers, a crew of 15 and 3 TWA employes aboard had been scheduled to land at Kennedy Airport in New York at 12:25 p.m. EST but was ordered to land at Rapid City.

In New York, TWA spokesman Angus McClure said the flight was diverted to Rapid City, where it was to land at 3:30 p.m. EST, because "I believe there are some weather problems in Denver."

Asked if landing at the South Dakota air base was not taking a chance in view of the extortionist's claim that the bomb would go off at about that altitude, McClure said, "It's above 3,000 feet." He also said, in answer to a question, "from the beginning we have felt this was a hoax."

Sources close to TWA in Madrid said a bag was placed by a roadside outside the Spanish city. Sources did not say if the bag contained the demanded ransom in pesetas.

"But nobody turned up to pick it up," sources said. TWA would not confirm that the ransom had been provided.

TWO U.S. PLANES LOST IN VIETNAM

Another B52, $15 Million F111 Added To Growing List Of Destroyed Craft

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Command said the 17th B52 bomber of the war was downed today and reported the loss of another $15 million swing-wing F111 jet in last month's raids over the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland.

The command announcements, which did not specify how either aircraft was downed, came as U.S. warplanes took advantage of clearing weather to step up attacks south of North Vietnam's 20th Parallel bombing boundary that runs 65 miles south of Hanoi.

Spokesmen said all six crewmen aboard the stricken B52 bailed out and were rescued from the Tonkin Gulf today after the pilot guided the $8 million plane out over the water. The two F111 crewmen, whose plane crashed "west of Hanoi" Dec. 22, are listed as missing and cause of the downing was not known.

The B52 crew "noticed heavy fumes in the cockpit" just before bailing out, spokesmen said. Air Force and Navy helicopters plucked the men to safety from waters near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams.

Another 15 B52s were downed over North Vietnam during President Nixon's 12-day bombing campaign of the Hanoi-Haiphong area that was suspended Saturday. The first combat loss of the war of the huge jets was last Nov. 22.

Today's announcements brought to 29 the number of U.S. warplanes the command says were downed in the Dec. 18-30 aerial blitz of Hanoi and its chief seaport. At least 84 American airmen are listed as

Senate Demos Ask Viet Funding Cutoff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democrats approved a resolution today calling for an end of funding for the Vietnam War in the new Congress. The vote was 36 to 11.

The measure was pushed through the Democratic caucus by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., at a three-hour meeting as pressure mounted on Capitol Hill for an end to the war and an explanation from the Nixon Administration why the bombing of North Vietnam was resumed.

Kennedy's resolution was similar to one passed Tuesday by the House Democratic caucus by a 2-1 margin. It declares the policy of Democrats in the 93rd Congress "that no further public funds be authorized, appropriated or expended for U.S. military combat operations in or over Indochina and that such operations be terminated immediately subject only to arrangements necessary to insure safe withdrawal of American troops and the return of American prisoners of war."

A less stringent resolution, offered by Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, which would have asked President Nixon to come before Congress to explain his war policies, was defeated 24 to 23.

The administration, meanwhile, continued to ignore Congressional demands for more information, declining to send any representative to Congress for even a closed briefing. A Republican source said the White House did not want to break an agreement with Hanoi not to discuss the negotiations before they resume Monday.

The same source said Nixon plans to address the nation on television as soon as the next round of negotiations is completed.

Both Republicans and Democrats seemed in agreement that the administration must furnish some information about the strikes to key committees. Jackson suggested an address by the President to a joint session of Congress.

So far, President Nixon's only move has been an agreement to send Henry A. Kissinger, the chief Vietnam peace negotiator, to Capitol Hill tomorrow for a get-acquainted chat with freshman House Republicans.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler warned yes-

(UPI) — A Trans World Airlines 747 jumbo jet with 236 persons aboard on a flight from Madrid was ordered to this high-altitude South Dakota city today because a Spanish extortionist demanding $237,000 ransom claimed a pressure bomb set to explode at 3,200 feet was planted on the aircraft.

The plane, en route from Madrid, first was ordered sent to mile-high Denver, then was diverted to Ellsworth Air Force Base at Rapid City, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said.

"My guess is security," the FAA spokesman said. "They can probably control it better there." Rapid City is 3,276 feet above sea level.

The plane was diverted because of a telephone threat to TWA's Madrid office.

The incident was the third enactment of a theme from a 1966 television drama by Rod Serling, "The Doomsday Flight," in which an airliner was sent to Denver because of its 5,280-foot altitude to foil an extortionist and a pressure bomb.

A TWA spokesman said the plane had enough fuel to reach Rapid City. The flight with 218 passengers, a crew of 15 and 3 TWA employes aboard had been scheduled to land at Kennedy Airport in New York at 12:25 p.m. EST but was ordered to land at Rapid City.

In New York, TWA spokesman Angus McClure said the flight was diverted to Rapid City, where it was to land at 3:30 p.m. EST, because "I believe there are some weather problems in Denver."

Asked if landing at the South Dakota air base was not taking a chance in view of the extortionist's claim that the bomb would go off at about that altitude, McClure said, "It's above 3,000 feet." He also said, in answer to a question, "from the beginning we have felt this was a hoax."

Sources close to TWA in Madrid said a bag was placed by a roadside outside the Spanish city. Sources did not say if the bag contained the demanded ransom in pesetas.

"But nobody turned up to pick it up," sources said. TWA would not confirm that the ransom had been provided.

TWO U.S. PLANES LOST IN VIETNAM

Another B52, $15 Million F111 Added To Growing List Of Destroyed Craft

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Command said the 17th B52 bomber of the war was downed today and reported the loss of another $15 million swing-wing F111 jet in last month's raids over the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland.

The command announcements, which did not specify how either aircraft was downed, came as U.S. warplanes took advantage of clearing weather to step up attacks south of North Vietnam's 20th Parallel bombing boundary that runs 65 miles south of Hanoi.

Spokesmen said all six crewmen aboard the stricken B52 bailed out and were rescued from the Tonkin Gulf today after the pilot guided the $8 million plane out over the water. The two F111 crewmen, whose plane crashed "west of Hanoi" Dec. 22, are listed as missing and cause of the downing was not known.

The B52 crew "noticed heavy fumes in the cockpit" just before bailing out, spokesmen said. Air Force and Navy helicopters plucked the men to safety from waters near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams.

Another 15 B52s were downed over North Vietnam during President Nixon's 12-day bombing campaign of the Hanoi-Haiphong area that was suspended Saturday. The first combat loss of the war of the huge jets was last Nov. 22.

Today's announcements brought to 29 the number of U.S. warplanes the command says were downed in the Dec. 18-30 aerial blitz of Hanoi and its chief seaport. At least 84 American airmen are listed as

Senate Demos Ask Viet Funding Cutoff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democrats approved a resolution today calling for an end of funding for the Vietnam War in the new Congress. The vote was 36 to 11.

The measure was pushed through the Democratic caucus by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., at a three-hour meeting as pressure mounted on Capitol Hill for an end to the war and an explanation from the Nixon Administration why the bombing of North Vietnam was resumed.

Kennedy's resolution was similar to one passed Tuesday by the House Democratic caucus by a 2-1 margin. It declares the policy of Democrats in the 93rd Congress "that no further public funds be authorized, appropriated or expended for U.S. military combat operations in or over Indochina and that such operations be terminated immediately subject only to arrangements necessary to insure safe withdrawal of American troops and the return of American prisoners of war."

A less stringent resolution, offered by Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, which would have asked President Nixon to come before Congress to explain his war policies, was defeated 24 to 23.

The administration, meanwhile, continued to ignore Congressional demands for more information, declining to send any representative to Congress for even a closed briefing. A Republican source said the White House did not want to break an agreement with Hanoi not to discuss the negotiations before they resume Monday.

The same source said Nixon plans to address the nation on television as soon as the next round of negotiations is completed.

Both Republicans and Democrats seemed in agreement that the administration must furnish some information about the strikes to key committees. Jackson suggested an address by the President to a joint session of Congress.

So far, President Nixon's only move has been an agreement to send Henry A. Kissinger, the chief Vietnam peace negotiator, to Capitol Hill tomorrow for a get-acquainted chat with freshman House Republicans.

Antihijack Rules In Effect Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first phase of the government's strict new anti-hijacking program goes into effect Friday amid appeals to passengers "to keep your good humor" and a dispute over how the first hijacker of 1973 managed to board an airliner with a gun.

Under emergency procedures issued last month by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, 531 airports around the nation must screen all passengers boarding an airliner, and inspect all carry-on luggage, including handbags carried by women.

By Feb. 5, armed guards must be stationed at each airport boarding gate, and passengers will be physically searched if necessary.

The Air Transport Association (ATA), a trade organization representing the nation's major airlines, urged air travelers to speed up the boarding procedure by:

—Keeping carry-on luggage to a minimum.

—Unzipping luggage "as you near the inspector."

The ATA also urged passengers "to keep your good humor —remembering that the inspectors are doing their duty and doing it for your protection."

The growing number of air travelers arrested at airports—over 6,000 during the last 20 months—has triggered arguments over violations of individual civil rights since many of the arrests involved possession of narcotics.

However, the ATA claims the airlines have reported "very few incidents involving displeasure of passengers over recent increases in security precautions."

The security program is a massive undertaking. The nation's airlines make an average of 15,000 flights a day and carry some 500,000 passengers in a fleet of 2,200 jetliners.

To carry out the program, the government and the airlines have put in place more than 2,000 electronic screening devices, and the guard force is expected to number around 3,000.

But the cost of the program will be borne by the air traveller, not the government or the airlines.

Sale Of New Birth Pill Is Approved

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — Syntex Laboratories Inc. started marketing a new birth control pill Wednesday which does not contain estrogen.

Russ Wilks, Syntex public relations manager, said the Food and Drug Administration had cleared the new compound for prescription use.

He said the bill contains only one active ingredient, progestin, and that it didn't "interfere with ovulation" and does not interrupt the menstrual cycle.

"It seems to affect the endometrium (the lining of the uterus) so that a fertilized egg cannot be implanted," he said.

In tests over eight years, it was found that among the women who tried the pill there were "about three pregnancies per 100 women," a higher rate than with other pills, he added.

Chavez Sues Teamsters And Growers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm workers union filed a $128 million suit Wednesday against the Teamsters Union and California growers and shippers, alleging they had agreed to "sham" contracts that conspired against minorities.

At a news conference in Salinas, where Chavez has been trying to organize lettuce pickers in rivalry with the Teamsters for nearly three years, the labor leader announced a new drive and expanded lettuce boycott.

"We're not going to commit any violence," Chavez said. "The Teamsters have the growers. We've got the workers."

The federal court suit named more than 185 individuals and companies it said had conspired against blacks, Chicanos and Filipinos with contracts signed in July, 1970.

The union, which asked for "not less than $28,440,000" in real damages and $100 million in punitive damages, said the pacts were signed despite the fact "a substantial majority" of the farm workers were represented by Chavez' United Farm Workers, AFL-cIO.

The federal court suit came a week after the California Supreme Court ruled that Chavez and his union could picket growers and shippers even though the Teamsters contract was valid.

Aid To Sick Aviation System Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential commission today claimed the nation's aviation system is "in serious trouble" and recommended a multibillion program to cure it, including direct government aid to airplane manufacturers.

The commission also proposed:

—Sharp decreases in allowable aircraft noise.

—Creation of an undersecretary of transportation for civil aviation.

—Allowing supersonic transports to land in the United States as soon as noise and pollution standards are met.

The two-year study was conducted by the President's Aviation Advisory Commission whose nine members represented the public, government and industry. The commission placed the cost of its recommendations at up to $103 billion over the next 12 years.

According to the study, aircraft noise is "the most explosive problem facing aviation today." Attempts so far by the aviation industry to cut aircraft noise "are insufficient to win public acceptance," the report said. It urged the airlines to set up immediately "steeper takeoff and approach" procedures for aircraft, to speed engine retrofit programs, and to "retire from service" by 1980 any airliners unable to meet federal aircraft noise standards.

The commission recommended that supersonic transports be permitted to use U.S. air space "as soon as it is clear" that they do not cause serious environmental problems, that they do meet noise standards, and do not produce sonic booms over "U.S. land areas."

Potentially the most controversial recommendation by the commission was one urging the government to give financial help to the airplane manufacturers.

"Direct financial participation by the federal government is recommended if the risk to private industry is considered too great for it to support," a statement accompanying the report said.

It also urged the government to appoint an undersecretary for civil aviation to "handle the selection of civil transport aircraft" and to deal with federal aid to manufacturers.

Under the present system, aircraft manufacturers compete for airline business with individually designed airliners. But airline industry observers claim the cost of the super airliners of the future will be too great a risk for the manufacturers, who could face bankruptcy if an airliner is economically unsuccessful.

The commission said it would much prefer to leave the development of large transport aircraft up to the private sector.

An Air Piracy Arrest Is Made

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Frank J. Lucero, 38, a Denver civil engineer, was arrested at San Francisco International Airport Wednesday after allegedly threatening air piracy.

Lucero was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Richard Urdan who ordered a psychiatric examination. The charge was conveying false information concerning air piracy.

The FBI said Lucero boarded a United Air Lines flight for San Francisco under the name of "James Bond" and later told stewardesses he wanted the pilot to "make a 38-degree turn and fly to Montreal and Paris."

Authorities said he was not armed and used no physical coercion when he made the request.

Jupiter Ice

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Three astronomers say they have detected the presence of water-ice on two of the 12 moons of the planet Jupiter.

"We have conclusively identified absorbtions due to water frost in the infrared reflectivities of Jupiter's Galilean satellites J2 and J3," the astronomers reported in a recent issue of Science magazine.

12 Suspended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve Washington police officers, including the chief of the department's Community Relations Division and the heads of two district vice squads, were relieved of duty Wednesday as the result of a year long probe of gambling payoffs.

Youth Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's 18 to 20-year-olds had the vote for the first time in a national election last year but less than half of them took advantage of it.

A Census Bureau report said today first-time voters turned out in smaller numbers—on a percentage basis—than any other age group.

The report said only 48 per cent of 11 million persons in the 18-20 group actually voted in the presidential election.

An estimated 71 per cent of persons in the 45-54 age category voted. This was the highest percentage of any age group.

Death Toll

ROME (UPI) — The death toll in four days of flooding and landslides rose Wednesday to 22, but the weather cleared and officials said today they believed the worst storm of the winter so far was over.

The government announced it was sending emergency relief supplies into the south and to Sicily, where rainstorms caused most deaths and damage.

Aid To Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro started the new year Wednesday by announcing the Soviet Union, "a true friend," has agreed to refinance his government's debt.

The arrangement gives Cuba 13 years before making the next payment on what it owes the Russians for aid extended since 1959. Some Western experts figure the amount at $3 billion, not counting arms deliveries.

Payments would extend 10 years into the next century.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Standard Brands Inc., a New York City foods company, has agreed to discontinue advertising claims that use of its Fleischmann's Margarines will prevent or mitigate heart disease, the Federal Trade Commission announced Wednesday.

The FTC said the agreement was offered in settlement of a formal FTC complaint charging deceptive or false advertising was used in marketing of the margarine.

Court Of Future Is Being Tested

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The jurors recline in comfortable high-backed chairs and click on their individual television sets.

Unbothered by commercials, the jurymen watch a trial which has been prerecorded on videotape and edited by a judge and attorneys. If they wish, the jurors can see instant replays of key testimony.

Trial by television is just one of the many futuristic ideas being tested by the McGeorge School of Law in a three-year experiment with a "courtroom of the future."

"Courtroom practices in the United States haven't changed in more than 100 years," said Judge John J. Dutton, director of the school's center for legal advocacy. "If you took Aaron Burr and put him in a Brooks Bros. suit, he'd feel right at home in today's courtrooms."

The school is constructing an elaborate "courtroom in the round" in a special building to be completed by mid-summer. Until then, students and professors are experimenting with some of their ideas in a makeshift model courtroom.

When the new facility is dedicated, it well could be called the Perry Mason courthouse. Raymond Burr, the actor who played Perry Mason in the long-running TV series of courtroom dramas, contributed $150,000 toward construction of the $460,000 building.

The unique courtroom will have an electronic isolation booth where unruly defendants can be prevented from disturbing the proceedings while still seeing and hearing what is going on.

The audio piped into the defendant's small glass enclosure will be translated into his native tongue if he doesn't understand English.

Five video tape cameras will be placed in unobtrusive locations around the circular courtroom to record the trial without disturbing the participants.

Dutton said the television facilities could be used for the entire trial, or certain facets of it.

Evidence will be automatically flashed onto the 23-inch screens beside the judge, jury and witnesses instead of the current cumbersomme task of handing it around the courtroom.

"Judges might be more willing to allow photographs, even filming, of trials under these conditions," said Marvin E. Lewis of San Francisco, president of the American Trial Lawyers Association.

The experimental courtroom will be used primarily by students in mock trials under laboratory-type conditions. But it also may be used for real cases of the Sacramento Superior Court, if judges and attorneys consent.

Dutton said that the equipment, while a big expense initially, might result in large overall savings in courtroom costs because it would speed up the justice system, slashing the time the judge and other courtroom employes would spend on each case.

While avoiding any predictions of the courtroom's success until it has been used for several months, Dutton said he is hopeful the experiment will lead to revolutionary changes in U.S. courtroom practices.

Other novel aspects of the courtroom, which will be the most modern in the nation when completed, include:

—Jurors sitting in a semicircle with desks in front of them to encourage note-taking. The design will permit jurors to sit with their backs to the audience, freeing them from distractions by spectators.

—A security system locking courtroom doors by remote control. Persons entering the court will be scanned by special devices which detect guns.

—Video tape records of the trial to be used for appeals to higher courts.

Judge Gordon Schaber, dean of McGeorge, sees the model courtroom as one answer to professional criticism of law schools' failure to provide students with practical courtroom experience.

"The lawyers complain that since law schools are not providing this type of training, they must do so by default," Schaber said. "They feel that we must do a better job of bridging the gap between law school and the profession.

"The attorneys of today are still practicing legal surgery in the barber shop. While all other professions have adopted the benefits of modern technology, lawyers still practice in an ill-suited and obsolete arena—the courtroom."

Hitchhiker Robbery Reported

A Santa Rosa man said he was robbed of $15 at knifepoint yesterday by two hitchhikers he picked up in San Francisco.

Dan Austin, 24, told Marin sheriff's deputies he gave a ride to a man and a woman shortly before 10 p.m. on Van Ness Avenue and drove them to Marin.

As he approached the Rodeo Avenue exit in Sausalito, the pair pulled knives and ordered him onto the off ramp. They took his wallet, containing the money, and ordered him to walk up a nearby hill, then fled with his auto, deputies said.

The orange 1973 Volkswagen, which has no license plate, only a dealer's sticker, has not yet been recovered.

The male robber was described as white, about 28 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall with short brown hair. The white female was about 26 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall with brown hair.

Spokesmen said today they withheld news of the loss of the F111 jet during an unsuccessful attempt to rescue the two-man crew. It was the second F111 downed in the Northern raids.

In ground action in South Vietnam, the Saigon command said today North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces stepped up their attacks Wednesday and early today to the highest point in more than two months. A command spokesman listed 116 "enemy-initiated incidents" between dawn Wednesday and daybreak today.

The U.S. command reported 106 jet fighters and 11 waves of B52s lashed North Vietnam's lower panhandle. Navy pilots sank 13 supply barges at the mouth of the Sonng Ma River, just below the 20th parallel. Trucks in parking lots and on the highways were bombed by other Navy and Air Force planes and pilots reported destroying "numerous" vehicles in the raids.

Drug Overdose Cause Of Death

A 20-year-old San Rafael man, found dead Dec. 11 by a boy looking for mistletoe, succumbed to an overdose of barbiturates, according to Marin coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig.

Ralph W. Jacobs III was found dead on a hillside near Lucas Valley Road and Los Gamos Road two weeks after his family reported him missing.

He was a student studying music at Dominican College in San Rafael.

36 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

Streptococcus infection, accounting for 39 cases reported, was the most prevalent communicable disease in Marin County last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer.

Twenty-one cases of gonorrhea and one of salmonella also were reported.

Meeting Canceled On Novato General Plan

The Novato City Council has canceled a special meeting which was to be held tonight on review of the proposed new Novato area general plan because Mayor F. Wayne Sartain is ill with flu, the city manager's office reported.

No new date was set for the session.

OBITUARIES

Harry Kramer, 82, Former Fairfax Councilman, Dies

Harry A. Kramer, longtime resident and former city councilman of Fairfax, died yesterday in his home at the age of 82.

Kramer suffered fractured neck vertebrae and a broken arm in a fall Oct. 30 and was apparently recuperating when complications occurred. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael shortly after 7:30 a.m., according to Bill J. Thomas, county coroner's deputy.

Some 50 relatives and friends had attended a 50th wedding anniversary party for Kramer and his wife, Ethel, last June.

He served one term on the council, from 1942 to 1946.

Kramer was born in San Francisco. He retired from the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in 1955. He was remembered by Fairfax neighbors as being an active promoter of Independence Day parades and civic celebrations during his years in the community.

He formerly was active in the Fairfax Lions Club and the San Rafael Elks Lodge.

In addition to his wife, Kramer is survived by a son, Frank Kramer of Fairfax; two daughters, LaVerne Ruhl of San Anselmo and Mrs. Robert L. Ferrari of Novato; six grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Armed Robbery Indictments Are Returned

The Marin County Grand Jury returned armed robbery indictments yesterday against the three women and a man who held up two employees of the Co-op market in Corte Madera New Year's Eve day.

The four — John Turner, 27; Candice Kay Yockey and Stephanie Kline, both 26-year-old San Franciscans, and 20-year-old Claudia Vonnetta Grayson of Oakland — were scheduled for arraignment today in Marin Superior Court.

The four, who remain in jail under $50,000 bail each, appeared in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday, at which time the prosecution indicated grand jury indictments may be sought.

CONGRESS

terday that attempts by Congress to end the war through legislation might actually prolong the fighting by "raising doubts in the enemy's mind about the U.S. position."

The House foreign affairs subcommittee on Europe tried to call hearings for today on strained U.S. relations with its European allies caused by the bombing, but a spokesman for the committee said the State Department refused to furnish a witness until Jan. 12, and then only behind closed doors.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee asked Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Kissinger to meet them in private Tuesday, but both declined.

Weekend Tree Burning Slated

The Novato Professional Firemen's Association will hold its annual Christmas tree burning from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the department's drill tower, Atherton Avenue near Olive Avenue.

There is no charge for disposing of the trees, according to Capt. Raymond Dougherty, fire prevention officer.

Stand On Impact Reports Explained

An Independent-Journal report yesterday inadvertently changed the meaning of a comment made by John O. Nelson, general manager of the North Marin County Water District, at a Novato City Council meeting on environmental impact reports.

Nelson said the duplication of environmental impact reports could be avoided if the City of Novato would prepare them when several agencies are involved.

Dan Austin, 24, told Marin sheriff's deputies he gave a ride to a man and a woman shortly before 10 p.m. on Van Ness Avenue and drove them to Marin.

As he approached the Rodeo Avenue exit in Sausalito, the pair pulled knives and ordered him onto the off ramp. They took his wallet, containing the money, and ordered him to walk up a nearby hill, then fled with his auto, deputies said.

The orange 1973 Volkswagen, which has no license plate, only a dealer's sticker, has not yet been recovered.

Hearing On Burglary To Be Tuesday

A preliminary hearing for a Fairfax man and a Woodacre woman, charged with burglarizing a Fairfax shop, was scheduled yesterday for Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

For Miss Soga, it was her third arrest in as many months. On Oct. 13 she was arrested on suspicion of concealing stolen jewelry and is now awaiting trial in superior court.

Only hours before the Fairfax burglary, she was released from jail after the district attorney's office decided not to charge her with taking $160 from a Lagunitas man when she visited his home Dec. 27.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Girard R. Courteau opposed any reduction of her $10,000 bail. He said even her father wants her kept locked up because of her heroin usage.

Agency Slapped On Pesticide Controls

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post has criticized the state Agriculture Department for falling short of its duty to control and regulate pesticide use in California.

In a 50-page report prepared by his office, Post said Wednesday the department is caught between promoting the interests of the agriculture industry and watching over the largest use of pesticides by any state in the nation.

The report, a joint project with the division of environmental studies at the University of California at Davis, listed 13 "specific problem areas" in regulating the manufacture, sale and use of pesticides.

"The problems we have identified with the department's pesticide program arise only secondarily from lack of legal power," the report said.

"They arise primarily out of difficulties inherent in the department's being charged with both the responsibility for promoting the private interest of the agricultural industry, while at the same time regulating that industry in the public interest," it said.

Among the "problem areas," the report cited a weakness in the department's registration programs for pesticides. It said there were "no meaningful penalties, monetary or otherwise," for sale of the chemicals without proper registration.

The report also said the department had "no criteria for establishing a list of injurious materials."

"It (the department) has primarily reacted to problems and placed materials on the list only after problems have arisen," the report said.

The report said "changes in policy and administration should resolve" some of the problems but that the "inertia characteristic of the past efforts and attitudes of the department still presents a formidable obstacle" in solving the difficulties.

The agriculture department was given sole authority to set pesticide regulations and enforce by a bill enacted last session. In the past, the agriculture department and the Public Health Department have been involved in a jurisdictional dispute over regulation of pesticide use.

No Verdict Reached In GI's Case

A Marin Superior Court Jury has failed to decide whether a 19-year-old soldier is guilty of attempted rape, kidnap and sexual perversion.

Judge Henry J. Broderick dismissed the jury in the case of SP/4 James Allan Mueller after it had tried for almost 11 hours to reach a unanimous decision Friday and Tuesday.

Mueller was arrested Oct. 8 after a 21-year-old San Francisco woman told police she rolled out of Mueller's car and held him at bay with a broken glass bottle until two youths on motorbikes rescued her on a dirt road near the Sausalito rock quarry.

He subsequently was charged with forcing a different girl to copulate orally with him at the same site Sept. 8.

Each of the women testified Mueller gave them rides while they were hitchhiking.

Girl, 18, Ordered To Serve Time In Jail

A teen-age girl, whose case was rejected by juvenile court, has been ordered to jail by a Marin Superior Court judge on charges of burglarizing the San Rafael home of a doctor, then using the physician's credit card.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered Deborah Lynn Bronson, 18, of San Rafael, to spend 90 days in jail and pay $500 restitution as conditions of three years' probation.

She pleaded guilty in November after a plea bargain with Judge E. Warren McGuire, who promised she would receive no more than six months in jail.

Codefendant Richard A. Hickox, 19, of San Rafael, received six months in jail for two burglaries in San Rafael.

Miss Bronson, 17 in July when the crimes were committed, was sent to adult court by juvenile court referee Jack G. Blaine. He ruled she was not a suitable candidate for the private juvenile proceedings.

In juvenile court she faced 15 counts of forgery to obtain more than $500 in merchandise on July 25. Two forgery counts and the burglary charge were filed in adult court and one forgery count was dismissed in the plea bargain.

Hickox and Miss Bronson both were implicated in the burglary July 25 of the home of Dr. Thomas Zavattero on Prospect Drive. Almost $1,200 in personal property was taken, then his credit card and checkbook were used to buy almost $700 in merchandise, according to authorities.

Miss Bronson, who works through the Marin Neighborhood Youth Corps, was described by her probation officer as a troubled girl caught by authorities 12 times for running away from home. Her father is an attorney living in the East Bay.

How To Avoid Bunco Bilking

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Attorney General Evelle J. Younger Wednesday offered tips to Californians on how to avoid being bilked by bunco artists and confidence men.

Younger issued a 24-page booklet entitled "On Guard: A Guide for the Consumer," which also offers advice on buying cars, automobile repairs, retail installment contracts, door-to-door sales, warranties, credit cards, dance and health studio contracts, and swimming pools.

In the foreward, Younger wrote that "in our complex society today, consumers face more difficulties than ever before in making informed consumer decisions.

"The purpose of this booklet is not to serve as a substitute for legal advice but to inform residents of California of consumer law and problems in order to avoid being victimized."

Younger gave four general rules for avoiding being bilked by con men:

Don't discuss your personal finances with strangers.

Call the police and report any such approach.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Edward E. David Jr. has resigned as science adviser to President Nixon, David's aides said today.

David was not available for comment.

Director of the White House Office of Science and Technology since September, 1970, David was said to believe that Nixon had ignored his recommendations.

Communications Class Scheduled

A class in semantics and communications will be given once a week beginning at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Terra Linda High School's adult program.

Robert Wanderer, who gives similar courses throughout the Bay area, will be the teacher.

PENNY ANTE NOT ALWAYS POKER GAME

NORFOLK, Va. — Military personnel, who have to pack up and move every few years, are used to deposits for damage, gas, electricity and water and, not the least, for a telephone.

Now hear this: When Capt. Charles A. L. Swanson moved here from Washington, to be CO of the Naval Air Station, he received a letter from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. saying that he owed two cents on the closing bill. Mrs. Swanson taped two pennies to a card and dispatched them in an 8-cent letter. In another 8-cent letter, the phone company acknowledged receipt of the two cents — and added a caution about sending cash through the mail.

The moral is not that the postal service was 24 cents richer, but a "penny earned was not a penny saved." (Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

College May Join Redevelopment Fuss

The Marin Community College District board last night took another step toward possible legal action against the City of San Rafael in connection with the city's redevelopment plan.

Trustees scheduled a closed session for 7 p.m. next Wednesday to meet with the county counsel to discuss possibility of a law suit against the city.

At issue are future tax revenues resulting from any increased assessed valuation in the redevelopment area which would go to pay for redevelopment and thus be siphoned off from other special districts in the area.

Tuesday Marin County supervisors voted 4-1 to issue what amounted to a one-week ultimatum to San Rafael officials to put the redevelopment plan to a vote or face a legal battle.

The San Rafael School System, which stood to lose the largest amount of money, has reached an agreement with the city under which some revenues will be rebated to the schools.

The college district is demanding the same kind of agreement.

Dr. John A. Grasham, president of the college district, has estimated the district stands to lose as much as $1 million under the redevelopment proposal for the downtown and canal areas.

He has said the college district may fight redevelopment even if the county doesn't.

Marin Community College Board Also:

ETHNIC — Postponed until Jan. 17 action on a proposed ethnic studies department, asking more information on the costs and courses to be included.

TELEVISION — Agreed to look further into the possibility of closed circuit television for College of Marin, which has been offered three cameras at a bargain price. Other expenses might be partially financed by federal grants.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Alonzo Gonzales, formerly a designer-state technician in the drama department, as instructional materials specialist in the audiavisual department at $892 a month.

WELDING — Postponed decision on hiring a welding instructor when a delegation of students asked that Thadius Beattie, currently teaching on a part-time basis, be hired for the fulltime job.

HEATING — Agreed to spend up to $5,000 for an outside consultant who is to investigate why the heating and ventilating system at Harlan and Science Centers doesn't work.

LEASE — Modified a lease with a tenant on the Indian Valley Colleges property so that he may stay in a house on the site but not run horses on the college property.

GIFT — Accepted a gift of about $600 worth of books and magazines from librarian John Eschelbach to the college library.

At Least 16 Countries Will Honor Truman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has announced that dignitaries from at least 16 foreign countries were expected to travel to Washington Friday for memorial services for the late President Harry S Truman.

Israeli President Zalman Shazar and Eliahu Elath, the first Israeli ambassador to the United States, will lead that nation's delegation. South Korea will be represented by Prime Minister Kim Chong Pil and Foreign Minister Kim Young Shik, a State department spokesman said.

Truman extended de facto diplomatic recognition to Israel on May 14, 1948, the day that state was proclaimed in Tel Aviv as the British evacuated Palestine. He also pushed to create the United Nations force which intervened when North Korean troops invaded South Korea on June 25, 1950.

Board Says Incentive Pay Is Out

The Novato Fire Protection District board determined last night it doesn't have funds to grant incentive pay for firemen's college training this fiscal year.

Fire Chief Jack W. Kidder said the district now pays tuition and the cost of books, but firemen had requested a 2.5 per cent pay raise for 30 units of fire science and a 5 per cent raise for 60 units.

The incentive pay isn't in the current budget and there aren't funds to finance it, the chief said.

Directors also agreed that service to unit three of the Marin Valley Mobile Country Club, 196 mobile homes on 35.4 acres south of Hamilton Air Force Base, should be by contract with the owners, terms yet to be set, rather than by setting up a special assessment district, the chief reported.

The board also purchased from Nave Dodge of Novato a four-wheel chassis to be developed into a grass fire unit at a cost of $5,415.

Directors adjourned until 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the main fire station.

A Few Holdouts In San Quentin Strike

"Things were pretty well back to normal today" at San Quentin prison, a spokesman said, with only about a "dozen hardcore strikers in the East Block" refusing to leave their cells and go to work.

Prison information officer Lee DeBord said that all but the few remaining strikers were given breakfast this morning under a "controlled feeding" schedule in which men were taken to the mess hall in small groups.

The strike began Monday, when about 900 inmates refused to leave their cells for meals or work assignments. About 1,400 of the prison's 1,800 inmates have work details.

Two sets of demands were found by prison officials, the first one demanding the firing of Warden Louis S. Nelson, and a subsequent list asking conjugal visits for all inmates, public telephones, minimum wages and the right to grow long hair.

(DeBord said today that the warden's response to the conjugal visit request was that "we'd have to build a huge motel within the walls." About half of the prison's inmates now are eligible for such visits in buildings outside the walls but inside the prison fences.

The remaining strikers today were called a "multiracial" group by DeBord, who said they had not been identified with any particular movement within the prison.

All of their demands have been ignored by prison officials.

Policy On War Is Criticized

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first New York State woman elected to advise the nation's Roman Catholic Bishops disagrees with the church's position on birth control and wishes Cardinal Terence Cooke would take a stronger stand against the Vietnam War.

The election of Mrs. John Lukens, 42, of Tappan, N.Y., to the Advisory Council of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops was announced Wednesday. She became the first New York laywoman elected to the council and will serve a two-year term.

The Council advises bishops on what the laity in the areas they represent are thinking and gives advice on pastoral concerns.

Strawberry Rec District Stalled On New Member

The Strawberry Recreation District board is still deadlocked and unable to choose a successor to director Carl L. Schaefer from two candidates.

The board, at its meeting Tuesday, split 2-2 over motions to appoint Patricia M. Jeremiah, the loser in a recent board election, or Fred Holmes, another contender for the board seat, according to David E. Roberts, recreation manager.

It was the second time directors had failed to pick a replacement for Schaefer, since a meeting last month ended in a similar deadlock.

Roberts said the board, after meeting in closed session for about a half hour, agreed Tuesday to give the matter more thought and try again at its Jan. 15 meeting.

The motion to nominate Mrs. Jeremiah failed, with directors Thomas Miller and Arthur R. Senter favoring her appointment and Manuel K. Lehua and Jane Brown opposed.

Lehua and Mrs. Brown voted for Holmes's nomination, while the other two directors voted against it.

Planners Slate Officer Election

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will elect new officers for 1973 when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

The commission also will consider an application by W. H. Ellis and L. E. Santucci for a two-lot subdivision at 47 and 69 Foothill Road.

How To Avoid Bunco Bilking

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Attorney General Evelle J. Younger Wednesday offered tips to Californians on how to avoid being bilked by bunco artists and confidence men.

Younger issued a 24-page booklet entitled "On Guard: A Guide for the Consumer," which also offers advice on buying cars, automobile repairs, retail installment contracts, door-to-door sales, warranties, credit cards, dance and health studio contracts, and swimming pools.

In the foreward, Younger wrote that "in our complex society today, consumers face more difficulties than ever before in making informed consumer decisions.

"The purpose of this booklet is not to serve as a substitute for legal advice but to inform residents of California of consumer law and problems in order to avoid being victimized."

Younger gave four general rules for avoiding being bilked by con men:

Don't discuss your personal finances with strangers.

Call the police and report any such approach.

Solution Offered To Cure Cal Expo's Ills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly committee has called for the operation of the financially troubled California Exposition to be turned over to a nonprofit corporation with management expertise.

In a report Wednesday on the management of the exposition and state fair, the Assembly Efficiency and Cost Control Committee accused the present 23-member Exposition Executive Committee of "poor maned that the group be abolished.

"The present executive committee has had four losing years at the gate, both from a monetary and attendance projection standpoint, with no conclusive evidence that the future holds anything different," the 33-page report said.

The committee recommended that a nonprofit firm take over operation of the exposition and that it be headed by a smaller decision-making board than the executive committee.

It said members of the new board should "possess the expertise and creative talents required to manage an exposition."

The Assembly committee also recommended the legislature appropriate funds to finance the first phase of an updated five-year master plan for the exposition. It said the executive committee's master plan was not financially feasible.

If the state administration and legislature do not support a long-range master plan, the committee said, the exposition may be trapped in a "financial quagmire" that could force an indefinite suspension of Cal Expo operations or movement to a more populous area of California.

The exposition, envisioned as a year-round Disneyland-type attraction when it opened in 1968, was operated for 58 days its first year by a nonprofit corporation.

The executive committee replaced the corporation when the exposition ran up a $1.5 million deficit in the initial year. The exposition was returned to a three-week-a-year state fair format in 1969.

The Assembly committee, headed by Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, began its study of Cal Expo's management in November 1971.

Training For Women Studied

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Mexican defense department is considering a proposal to extend mandatory military service to women, a spokesman said today.

To become law, President Luis Echeverria needs to endorse the idea and then gain the approval of congress.

Currently, most Mexican men are required to serve nine months' military duty. Their service usually consists of training sessions one day a week.

Cairo Police Get Tough With University Students

CAIRO (UPI) — Police armed with clubs and tear gas today evicted scores of students involved in a five-day sit-in at Cairo University to demand greater freedom of expression and protest the arrest of 50 of their colleagues.

Students were reported also making public their disenchantment with the continued no-war -no-peace situation in the Middle East.

The campus agitation spread into Cairo streets Wednesday when hundreds of students armed with stones and rocks battled riot police using tear gas and nightsticks.

Police were under orders to use force if necessary to clear the university compound of the striking students.

The eviction followed a government decision late Wednesday to close all universities and colleges until the start of the mid-year holiday Jan. 11.

The order affected seven universities, four of them in Cairo, and dozens of other educational institutes with a total enrollment of nearly 200,000.

The students are demanding more freedom of expression and emocracy as well as protesting the arrest of 50 other students and their disenchantment with the Middle East situation.

Police and students surged back and forth for hours in the clashes, until the students were forced back into the campus. Many of them were allowed lat2er to leave university grounds individually.

By nightfall, the situation in the university area was calm, but nearby streets were strewn nearly ankle deep with rocks and stones.

A preliminary police report said there were some injuries but few of them serious.

The rioting prompted Education Minister Shams Eddin Wakil to summon universify presidents to a meeting late Wednesday. The decision to close universities was taken at the meeting.

Solution Offered To Cure Cal Expo's Ills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly committee has called for the operation of the financially troubled California Exposition to be turned over to a nonprofit corporation with management expertise.

In a report Wednesday on the management of the exposition and state fair, the Assembly Efficiency and Cost Control Committee accused the present 23-member Exposition Executive Committee of "poor maned that the group be abolished.

"The present executive committee has had four losing years at the gate, both from a monetary and attendance projection standpoint, with no conclusive evidence that the future holds anything different," the 33-page report said.

The committee recommended that a nonprofit firm take over operation of the exposition and that it be headed by a smaller decision-making board than the executive committee.

It said members of the new board should "possess the expertise and creative talents required to manage an exposition."

The Assembly committee also recommended the legislature appropriate funds to finance the first phase of an updated five-year master plan for the exposition. It said the executive committee's master plan was not financially feasible.

If the state administration and legislature do not support a long-range master plan, the committee said, the exposition may be trapped in a "financial quagmire" that could force an indefinite suspension of Cal Expo operations or movement to a more populous area of California.

The exposition, envisioned as a year-round Disneyland-type attraction when it opened in 1968, was operated for 58 days its first year by a nonprofit corporation.

The executive committee replaced the corporation when the exposition ran up a $1.5 million deficit in the initial year. The exposition was returned to a three-week-a-year state fair format in 1969.

The Assembly committee, headed by Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, began its study of Cal Expo's management in November 1971.

Training For Women Studied

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Mexican defense department is considering a proposal to extend mandatory military service to women, a spokesman said today.

To become law, President Luis Echeverria needs to endorse the idea and then gain the approval of congress.

Currently, most Mexican men are required to serve nine months' military duty. Their service usually consists of training sessions one day a week.

Cairo Police Get Tough With University Students

CAIRO (UPI) — Police armed with clubs and tear gas today evicted scores of students involved in a five-day sit-in at Cairo University to demand greater freedom of expression and protest the arrest of 50 of their colleagues.

Students were reported also making public their disenchantment with the continued no-war -no-peace situation in the Middle East.

The campus agitation spread into Cairo streets Wednesday when hundreds of students armed with stones and rocks battled riot police using tear gas and nightsticks.

Police were under orders to use force if necessary to clear the university compound of the striking students.

The eviction followed a government decision late Wednesday to close all universities and colleges until the start of the mid-year holiday Jan. 11.

The order affected seven universities, four of them in Cairo, and dozens of other educational institutes with a total enrollment of nearly 200,000.

The students are demanding more freedom of expression and emocracy as well as protesting the arrest of 50 other students and their disenchantment with the Middle East situation.

Police and students surged back and forth for hours in the clashes, until the students were forced back into the campus. Many of them were allowed lat2er to leave university grounds individually.

By nightfall, the situation in the university area was calm, but nearby streets were strewn nearly ankle deep with rocks and stones.

A preliminary police report said there were some injuries but few of them serious.

The rioting prompted Education Minister Shams Eddin Wakil to summon universify presidents to a meeting late Wednesday. The decision to close universities was taken at the meeting.

Saigon Restates Demands

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam negotiator Pham Dang Lam demanded today that North Vietnam withdraw all of its military forces from the South and recognize the South as a fully independent nation — a demand Hanoi has repeatedly rejected.

The restatement at today's weekly semi-public session of the Paris talks of President Nguyen Van Thieu's undiminished conditions for peace was an indication of the further hard bargaining lying ahead for Dr. Henry A. Kissinger when he meets Hanoi's Le Duc Tho on Monday.

Washington administration officials already were warning against undue optimism and Ambassador William J. Porter, the chief U.S. negotiator, said in a somber speech today, "I am not inclined at all to underestimate the problems which exist and which will face us still for some time." He did not endorse the Saigon demands in his statement.

Porter spoke of "this new year of negotiations" and of looking ahead "to what the year may bring"—as if the peace talks could continue through the year. He said, "We would see this year as marking, at last, the concluding phase of this protracted conflict" and of the negotiations.

The widely publicized Majestic Hotel meeting was considered by diplomatic observers as a holding operation pending the new Kissinger-Tho confrontation. After a stop-over in Peking, where he held talks with Premier Chou En-lai, Tho left for Paris today via Moscow.

The meeting of the North and South Vietnamese, the Viet Cong and the U.S. delegation on the Avenue Kleber was one of two East-West meetings being held today. U.S. and Hanoi experts met at suburban Gif-surYvette, south of Paris, for the third day in a row to push work on various protocols to go with an eventual peace treaty.

Today's four-way meeting was the first since Dec. 23 when the Communists walked out in protest against the U.S. bombing campaign against the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

The Communist Vietnamese, in rejecting the Saigon demands, called them a "U.S. maneuver" to split Vietnam into two states forever and demanded that Washington sign without delay the Oct. 20 peace draft accord.

The draft recognizes Vietnam as one nation and makes no mention of North Vietnamese invasion forces in the South, estimated by the U.S. Command at 145,000 and by Saigon at 300,000 men.

North Vietnamese negotiator Nguyen Minh Vy said the United States has failed in its attempt to impose its own peace terms on Hanoi by unleashing the "most ferocious bombing in the history of U.S. aggression against Vietnam from Dec. 18 to Dec. 30."

In an attack on Washington, Viet Cong negotiator Binh Ba Thi said that President Nixon, now ending his first four-year term, "contrary to his promises in his recent term has neither ended the war in Vietnam, nor brought home all U.S. military men. Instead, over the past four years, the U.S. government has constantly intensified and expanded the war." The Viet Cong said Saigon's demands for two Vietnams meant "perpetual partition of Vietnam and setting up South Vietnam as a separate country placed under U.S. neo-colonialist domination."

Viet Cong negotiator Dinh Ba Thi said "these demands constitute a U.S. maneuver to deny the fact that there now exists in South Vietnam two administrations, two armies and three political forces, a reality the United States had to recognize in October 1972."

Thi referred to the Oct. 20 draft peace agreement which largely reflected Hanoi's and the Viet Cong's peace plans.

The Saigon diplomat said: "Likewise, there is no reason for the Hanoi authorities not to accept restoration of the Demilitarized Zone as set by the 1954 Geneva accords or for them not to subscribe to a clause explicitly included in the accords, prohibiting North and South Vietnam from recourse to force against the territory of one another."

He added: "Peace will come tomorrow...provided the Hanoi Communist regime accepts the reality of the existence of two states of Vietnam. If the Hanoi authorities are motivated by a real desire for peace, they must withdraw to North Vietnam all their troops in South Vietnam."

Diplomatic observers said Lam's statement indicated President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has not dropped his opposition to the basic clauses of the Oct. 20 accord worked out between Washington and Hanoi. That draft made no mention of the presence of North Vietnamese troops in the South and recognized Vietnam as a single nation.

Knife-Armed Duo Frees Slayer Suspect At Napa

NAPA (UPI) — Two men armed with knives, one of them dressed in a miniskirt and pantyhose, invaded the Napa State Hospital and freed a patient being held for murder charges, the Napa County Sheriff's office reported today.

An all-points bulletin was issued for the three men.

The patient, who was freed from a security ward while one of the invaders held a 10-inch knife at the throat of a technician, was identified as John Pierce Burnside, 27, who faces charges of murder in connection with a San Francisco robbery-slaying in 1966.

"It was a planned operation. He was ready and waiting to go," said Sheriff's Capt. Ken Marlow.

One of the confederates who freed Burnside was identified as John Taylor Daniel, 32. The other, who was dressed in women's clothing and had on a wig and makeup, was not immediately identified.

Marlow said that at about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday night the female technician was seized by the two and forced to oqn the door of the security ward.

The two invaders, each of whom carried a 10-inch knife, then ordered several other hospital attendants into a side room of the ward and robbed them of their personal belongings. The three men then fled, locking the ward door after them. None of the other patients in the ward was involved in the escape, the sheriff's office said.

Marlow said the woman attendant who was seized in the escape was not injured. Her car keys were taken, but the trio did not use her car in their escape.

The sheriff's officer said the hospital has had "very good security" following a recent court order requiring that criminal patients be kept locked up.

Residency Exceptions Criticized

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco's personnel director wants the board of supervisors to do something about local government employes who do not live in the city as required by law.

Personnel Manager Bernard Orsi said he was tired of having to approve suburban residences for city employes who show evidence from doctors that they should not live in San Francisco for health reasons. He told the Civil Service Commission he would ask the supervisors to conduct hearings on the problem.

The matter arose Tuesday because of four requests from employes to move outside the city, all of which had to be approved by the commission.

About a year ago Orsi tried to crack down on the suburban dwellers by requiring all medical requests to be reviewed and approved by the city's medical examiner, but the plan was dropped after the medical examiner said he could not challenge a private physician's judgment.

Humphrey, McGovern Win Relations Seats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern —rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination last year —both won coveted seats today on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Since there was only one Democratic vacancy on the committee, that of defeated Sen. William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., the Senate Democratic Steering Committee decided to expand the committee by one member, to 17.

That decision, ratified today by the Senate Democratic Caucus, made it unnecessary for Democrats to make a choice between Humphrey and McGovern for the vacancy.

McGovern gave up his seat on the Interior Committee to move over to Foreign Relations. It was reported that Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., would be given a place on Interior, a committee whose work is important to McGovern and Abourezk's home state.

Humphrey gave up his seat on the Government Operations Committee to move over to Foreign Relations. He was a member of Foreign Relations before he left the Senate in 1964 to assume the vice presidency.

Other assignments made by the Democratic caucus included:

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Mike Gravel, DAlaska, and Lloyd M. Bentsen, DTex., to the Senate Finance Committee, which handles tax, trade, pension reform, health insurance, Social Security and welfare legislation. Mondale and Gravel, both liberals, will add a somewhat more liberal tinge to the conservative-dominated Finance Committee.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., to the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Richard Clark, D-Iowa, to the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Conference Delayed

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — An intestinal infection which this week struck astronaut Eugene Cernan, commander of the Apollo 17 moon landing flight, has postponed today's scheduled post-flight news conference until Friday.

Driver Is Held For Drug Probe

A 20-year-old Novato woman, whose auto was involved in an accident, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of driving under the influence of drugs and her passenger was arrested on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs, San Rafael police reported.

Janet Lynn Martinson of 74 Grove Lane, Novato, was held in lieu of $1,200 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Barbara Ann Byrne, also 20, and of the same address, was released on her promise to appear next Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, the Martinson car pulled out from the curb northbound on Irwin Street at Fourth Street, and hit the side of another northbound car driven by James Anthony Crovo of 20 Blossom Drive, San Rafael. The girl's car then hit a parked auto belonging to Alice Miller of 14 Truman Drive, San Rafael, police reported.

No one was injured in the accidents.

Since there was only one Democratic vacancy on the committee, that of defeated Sen. William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., the Senate Democratic Steering Committee decided to expand the committee by one member, to 17.

That decision, ratified today by the Senate Democratic Caucus, made it unnecessary for Democrats to make a choice between Humphrey and McGovern for the vacancy.

McGovern gave up his seat on the Interior Committee to move over to Foreign Relations. It was reported that Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., would be given a place on Interior, a committee whose work is important to McGovern and Abourezk's home state.

Humphrey gave up his seat on the Government Operations Committee to move over to Foreign Relations. He was a member of Foreign Relations before he left the Senate in 1964 to assume the vice presidency.

Other assignments made by the Democratic caucus included:

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Mike Gravel, DAlaska, and Lloyd M. Bentsen, DTex., to the Senate Finance Committee, which handles tax, trade, pension reform, health insurance, Social Security and welfare legislation. Mondale and Gravel, both liberals, will add a somewhat more liberal tinge to the conservative-dominated Finance Committee.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., to the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Richard Clark, D-Iowa, to the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Conference Delayed

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — An intestinal infection which this week struck astronaut Eugene Cernan, commander of the Apollo 17 moon landing flight, has postponed today's scheduled post-flight news conference until Friday.

Driver Is Held For Drug Probe

A 20-year-old Novato woman, whose auto was involved in an accident, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of driving under the influence of drugs and her passenger was arrested on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs, San Rafael police reported.

Janet Lynn Martinson of 74 Grove Lane, Novato, was held in lieu of $1,200 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Barbara Ann Byrne, also 20, and of the same address, was released on her promise to appear next Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, the Martinson car pulled out from the curb northbound on Irwin Street at Fourth Street, and hit the side of another northbound car driven by James Anthony Crovo of 20 Blossom Drive, San Rafael. The girl's car then hit a parked auto belonging to Alice Miller of 14 Truman Drive, San Rafael, police reported.

No one was injured in the accidents.

Architectural Panel Is Sought

The Larkspur City Council last night decided to see if the city's architectural review committee could be revived after Councilman Robert H. Lee noted that proposed "environmental design review" duties would fall on a young staff planning technician.

"You're going to rely on one man to make the City of Larkspur," complained Lee, after planning director Arthur N. Stout said he intended to delegate initial review of design applications to the junior member of the city's three-man planning department.

The planning commission had recommended abolition of the committee — which has been defunct in recent months — and assumption of architectural review duties by staff, following guidelines to be set down in a new environmental design ordinance.

Lee said he believed it would be a serious mistake, since 80 to 90 per cent of the cities in the Bay Area have architectural supervision committees. He said it was particularly important to have professional supervision when large developments on the San Quentin Peninsula would be coming up for design review applications.

Councilman Alfred J. Malvino said he wouldn't go for a committee made up entirely of architects. Some of the apartment buildings approved by the previous architectural review committee, claimed Malvino, were "atrocious . . . there's got to be other people too, an engineer, and a landscape architect and a lay person."

Councilman Neil R. Brixon confessed he had disliked the architectural review committee, and said poor attendance had killed its existence.

Stout commented that if such a committee were revived, it should be delegated the power to make final decisions, cutting down on the time lag previously required when applications had to go to the planning commission as well.

The council voted to ask the planning commission to reconsider reinstituting the committee.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

TOWN MEETING — Heard from Warren Patton, chairman of the Larkspur Town Meeting, that its members would like to sit on citizens' committees. Councilmen said they were considering forming a citizens' advisory committee for review of the town's general plan and its elements, and would keep members in mind.

GO-KART — Introduced an ordinance rezoning Alfred Pinnila's Go-Kart track on East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to commercial. Finnila intends to sell the 1.85-acre parcel, said his attorney.

ABANDONMENT — Announced its intention to abandon an easement on a section of Myrtle Avenue to create two legal parcels on lots owned by Peter James Wikel, who originally bought them as legal lots in 1945. The easement abandoned is on a 45-degree slope and Asst. City Mgr. Harlan Barry said the city could never construct a road on the sliver of land.

JUNKYARD — Instructed Alfred Finnila to remove 40 old cars from property he owns on East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard which has been rented by a group named Ill Eagle Auto Repair. His attorney said court action had been required to get the tenants off the property after the tenants had ejected a process server. They had vacated the land, leaving 40 junk cars and Finnila is to sell the cars as soon as legally possible.

ABATEMENTS — Instructed city Atty. Joseph Forrest to write letters on zoning and safety violations under a new abatement enforcement ordinance: an illegal rental in a single-family zone at 70 Marina Vista, a minor fence violation at 18 Piedmont Road, and three structures at 73 Madrone Avenue, said by staff to be unoccupied and considered a fire hazard.

PLANNING PROGRAM — Approved spending $12,000 for planning consultants to prepare general plans for the area west of 101, including Greenbrae, Corte Madera Creek and its environs to Magnolia Avenue, for central Larkspur and Mount Tamalpais slopes west of Magnolia, and for a housing and conservation element; appointed councilman Malvino to a committee to select two possible consultants, and both Malvino and Councilman Joan Sestak to a committee to review proposals to be prepared by the competing consultants.

SEWAGE PLANT — Appointed Mayor William G. Fleckles and Malvino as a two-man committee to work with the Ross Valley Sanitary District on its plans for a new treatment plant on the San Quentin Peninsula. The district has announced its intention to condemn 40 acres of prime development land in city territory to provide a buffer zone for the plant, and the city hopes to get the site switched to prison lands.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed William C. Webb of 26 Dartmouth Drive, an engineer, to the Marin County Solid Waste Management Committee.

REVENUE SHARING — Hoping for more public discussion, put off a discussion on how to spend its federal revenue sharing funds to its Feb. 7 meeting. The city got $38,961 for 1972, and expects another $10,000 by June 30.

UNDERGROUNDING — Instructed Forrest to amend the city's ordinances to require undergrounding of utility wires in all new developments. But in case of single-family houses going in the middle of areas not yet undergrounded, it wouldn't be required immediately.

CREDIT CARDS — Authorized use of credit cards for city cars, notably the police cars, so low-lead gas can be purchased at a low cost. Heavy maintenance, caused by use of high octane gas from the city's own pumps, also is hoped to be avoided.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Dan P. Dougherty, who is moving to Kentfield, from the city park and recreation commission.

RAILWAY — Adopted an ordinance putting the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in an interim zone so as to preserve it for eventual public uses, including mass transit, bicycle paths, hiking and equestrian trails.

TEXACO — Emerged from an hour-long closed session with Forrest and announced that the proposed Texaco service station at Magnolia Avenue and Doherty Drive (near the new Alpha Beta Market) could have an ingress driveway from Magnolia, in addition to another driveway. Texaco had threatened legal action over the city's refusal to permit ingress, saying permission previously had been granted. The driveway cuts directly across city-owned landscaping and Texaco must relandscape the area after the driveway is constructed, and maintain it.

COUNTY PLAN — Set a special meeting for Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m. for review of the countywide plan and the scope of the enlarged city-county planning commission that is proposed.

ADJOURNED — Said it next would meet Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

Savoy Creates A Market Drink

LONDON (UPI) — The Savoy Hotel announced today it has created a Common Market Cocktail to celebrate Britain's entry into the European Economic Community.

Fulbright Attacks Critics Of Sweden

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., contends the administration was "childish" in its reaction to Sweden's criticism of American bombing of North Vietnam.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Tuesday the United States was "jumping on a little country" when it took diplomatic slaps at Sweden after Swedish Prime Minister Olaf Palme bitterly assailed the bombing. "It was an immature and petulant response," Fulbright said. "We always seem to do this to a little country. It's childish."

Larkspur Seeks Humane Society Report On Impounding Dogs

Complaining that loose dogs continue to roam the streets of the city, the Larkspur City Council last night asked the director of the Marin County Humane Society to prepare a report on the number of dogs being impounded each month in the city.

Councilman Alfred Malvino told the director, John Gill, that it appeared dog catchers were concentrating on issuing citations to owners, rather than capturing dogs and impounding them.

Malvino said he hadn't seen a humane society truck in the city since 1971, and Councilman Joan Sestak said she had never seen a dog catcher cruising in the Madrone Woodlands and canyon areas, locations where packs of dogs are said to be running down deer.

Gill said animal control officers had a problem with owners refusing to give their names, and "stealing their dogs back."

Gill said catchers found it difficult to catch loose dogs, and preferred to follow a dog to its home and issue the owner a $15 citation.

Impound fees are $7 for the first offense, he said, and $10 for the second.

He said $15 citations can be issued to owners of dogs repeatedly impounded, with $25 citations given if the dog is unlicensed. Only 40 per cent of dogs caught are actually licensed, he estimated.

While most councilmen grumbled about the loose dogs, Mayor William G. Fleckles grumbled about the budget of the Marin County Humane Society.

He quizzed a surprised director Gill at great length about the county's animal control budget, which in 1970 was $270,750 and this year is $367,460.

Fleckles complained that a category listed simply as "miscellaneous maintenance" was $339,924 in the year ended June 30, 1972, and he had no idea what it included. Gill said it included some salaries, but these also were subsidized by the humane society.

The council asked for a detailed breakdown of the budget, adding that if it appeared taxpayers were paying an undue burden, it would consider raising the impound fees within the city.

Bill Is Aimed At N. Vietnam Travel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another attempt will be made to pass legislation that would prohibit travel by U.S. citizens to North Vietnam or any nation in armed conflict with the United States unless the travel is approved by the President.

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., introduced the bill Wednesday.

Agency To Hawk Wares In Russia

NEW YORK (UPI) — An American advertising agency, Marsteller, Inc., will soon be advertising American products in the Soviet Union.

The agency announced Wednesday it has contracted with the Soviet Union state advertising agency to jointly assist American firms in marketing their products in the USSR.

The agreement is the first made between the Russians and a U.S. advertising agency. It was signed in Moscow after three months of discussions.

Board Hires Workshop Consultant

The Sausalito School District board has agreed to spend $50 to hire a consultant to conduct a half-day workshop in team teaching in the district on Jan. 26.

The board voted Tuesday to employ Paul Heckmann, a team leader at the demonstration school, sponsored by the University of California at Los Angeles.

Heckman will be in Marin on that date to participate in the Marin County Schools office's institute for teachers during the morning. The county schools office will pay for the rest of his services and his transportation.

In other business, trustees agreed to hold a meeting on Jan. 22 to discuss plans for closer cooperation and possible sharing of students and programs with the Mill Valley School District. Sausalito parents will be invited to attend.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the board also voted to postpone the next meeting of the Sausalito-Mill Valley Joint Board Committee, set for Jan. 11, until after the parents' meeting.

Hashish Arrest Leads To Term In Federal Jail

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A third Marin County resident, Peter B. Erlebron, 29, of Bolinas, has been sent to federal prison for his part in a $40,000 hashish deal.

Erlebron earlier had pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing the drug. Judge Samuel S. Conti in U.S. District Court sent him, like another defendant, Kenneth Michael Stevens, 22, of Mill Valley, to prison for five years.

A woman arrested with them, Barbara Lynn Coffman, 27, of Bolinas, was given a six-month prison term.

A fourth person, Carl Sheldon Wolfe, 29, of Mill Valley, was acquitted by a jury, and a fifth defendant, William Paul Wyler, 24, of Baltimore, Md., jumped bail and is missing.

They were all arrested in a raid on a Bolinas house last February in which federal agents seized 22 pounds of hashish.

Plea Made For Stolen Sermons

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The daughter of a minister is appealing for the return of his sermons which were stolen from her car the day after his death in Southern California.

Miss Marie Zeller told police that 26 sermons and other documents were taken from her car Friday. She said her father, Rev. Harry K. Zeller, died the next day at his home in Claremont.

Miss Zeller, a professional planner, said her father had given the documents to her to edit for publication.

Zeller, 57, was a minister of the Church of the Brethren and administrator of Pilgrim Place, a residential community for retired missionaries.

Gill said catchers found it difficult to catch loose dogs, and preferred to follow a dog to its home and issue the owner a $15 citation.

Impound fees are $7 for the first offense, he said, and $10 for the second.

He said $15 citations can be issued to owners of dogs repeatedly impounded, with $25 citations given if the dog is unlicensed. Only 40 per cent of dogs caught are actually licensed, he estimated.

While most councilmen grumbled about the loose dogs, Mayor William G. Fleckles grumbled about the budget of the Marin County Humane Society.

He quizzed a surprised director Gill at great length about the county's animal control budget, which in 1970 was $270,750 and this year is $367,460.

Fleckles complained that a category listed simply as "miscellaneous maintenance" was $339,924 in the year ended June 30, 1972, and he had no idea what it included. Gill said it included some salaries, but these also were subsidized by the humane society.

The council asked for a detailed breakdown of the budget, adding that if it appeared taxpayers were paying an undue burden, it would consider raising the impound fees within the city.

Bill Is Aimed At N. Vietnam Travel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another attempt will be made to pass legislation that would prohibit travel by U.S. citizens to North Vietnam or any nation in armed conflict with the United States unless the travel is approved by the President.

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., introduced the bill Wednesday.

Agency To Hawk Wares In Russia

NEW YORK (UPI) — An American advertising agency, Marsteller, Inc., will soon be advertising American products in the Soviet Union.

The agency announced Wednesday it has contracted with the Soviet Union state advertising agency to jointly assist American firms in marketing their products in the USSR.

The agreement is the first made between the Russians and a U.S. advertising agency. It was signed in Moscow after three months of discussions.

Board Hires Workshop Consultant

The Sausalito School District board has agreed to spend $50 to hire a consultant to conduct a half-day workshop in team teaching in the district on Jan. 26.

The board voted Tuesday to employ Paul Heckmann, a team leader at the demonstration school, sponsored by the University of California at Los Angeles.

Heckman will be in Marin on that date to participate in the Marin County Schools office's institute for teachers during the morning. The county schools office will pay for the rest of his services and his transportation.

In other business, trustees agreed to hold a meeting on Jan. 22 to discuss plans for closer cooperation and possible sharing of students and programs with the Mill Valley School District. Sausalito parents will be invited to attend.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the board also voted to postpone the next meeting of the Sausalito-Mill Valley Joint Board Committee, set for Jan. 11, until after the parents' meeting.

Council Fails First Appointment Test

It provided that in such case, the vacancy should be filled by appointment by the remaining council members. However, the unusual provision was that they were given only 20 days to fill it, and if it were unfilled at the end of that time, the board of education should appoint the new councilman.

OVER THE YEARS, councils labored diligently to prevent the board of education from making appointments to the city council. Twenty days was a short period for filling a vacancy; but somehow the council always made the deadline — with one exception.

The only time the choice was left to the board of education was in 1936, when a sharply divided council was unable to agree on a successor to Holland Dutton, who had resigned. The day after the 20-day limit expired, the board appointed Jacob Albert, who subsequently was elected for two more terms.

There were other occasions when the council used up almost all the 20 days before making a selection, but it always made one.

There was, however, considerable feeling that the arrangement was unsatisfactory. And so, when a general charter revision was submitted to the voters in April, 1967, it contained a change giving the council 60 days to fill a vacancy and providing for a special election in case it remained unfilled in that period.

With 60 days instead of 20 to make a choice, it appeared there should be no difficulty.

HOWEVER, in its first test, the new provision failed.

City Councilman Harry A. Barbier died on Oct. 29. Eight candidates — including some of exceptionally high caliber — applied for appointment to fill the vacancy. Yet the council allowed the 60 days to expire without making an appointment. The members, it seems, couldn't agree.

Not only that, but the council agreed to set the "special election" for April 17 — which is the date of the regular municipal election. This was done in spite of the charter provision that "it shall immediately call an election" after expiration of the 60 days. Setting the election so far away perhaps meets the letter of the law, but not its spirit.

We thus have a situation in which, with the important and controversial redevelopment program just getting under way, with decisions to be made on use of bond issue funds for open space purchase, and with next fiscal year's budget to be prepared, the council remains with only four members for five months.

Since the four members were deadlocked on appointment of a new councilman, it would not be surprising to find them deadlocked on other important matters.

THE SAN RAFAEL City Council scarcely demonstrated responsibility in allowing the 60 days to elapse without filling its vacancy.

Perhaps we should go back to the unusual old charter provision. With the fear of appointment by the board of education, past councils were always able to agree —and within 20 days, at that.

Government Health Care For All Appears Next

By EARL G. WATERS

It cannot be predicted with certainty whether it will be Congress or the California Legislature which will act first, but it can be predicted that the next major social program to be enacted will be health care for all citizens.

The costs of medical care have become today something beyond the ability of most citizens to cope with.

We used to talk about "catastrophic" illnesses which wiped out lifetime savings with one disastrous sickness. Today's costs make almost any ailment which requires hospitalization catastrophic.

This is not because of the doctor's fees. True, the medical men no longer have to barter in chickens and hams and canned peaches, but their fees are not excessive.

It is more because of the vast improvements in knowledge of medical treatment and the highly scientific and specialized equipment required. It is also because of the frightening increase in malpractice suits. Doctors are running scared. They take every precaution against oversights which might come back to haunt them in the courtroom. They order excessive tests and treatment. Then, too, there is inflation.

IRONICALLY, the people most hurt by medical costs, as Assemblyman William Campbell, R-La Puente, perceived, are the so-called middle class. These are the steady workers who save, pay their taxes, and buy health insurance.

But it is not enough. When illness strikes they suddenly find the insurance only partially covers expenses.

Those on welfare have no such problem. They are cared for under existing federal and state programs.

Campbell proposed a state program which would pick up medical bills for those in the middle group after their insurance had been exhausted. He never quite got his package put together in an acceptable form.

Governor Reagan has concerned himself with the problem and his staff may propose a program this session.

SEN. GEORGE MOSCONE, D-San Francisco, also is seeking an answer. He has proposed a payroll deduction plan encompassing everyone to finance a medical care program for everyone.

Moscone has pointed out that while 90 per cent of Californians have health insurance, only 37 per cent of the average person's medical costs are covered.

Moscone's plan is broad and also seeks to control costs by eliminating costly duplications of facilities in communities, upgrading the quality of medical care and improving efficiency and organization of care.

He also aims at costs caused by unnecessary medical and surgical treatment, diagnostic tests and hospitalization. He would leave free choice of doctors and freedom for doctors to choose their practice situations.

Other plans are being considered by Congress. If one looks at the history of other social programs such as Social Security and Unemployment and Disability Insurance, it can readily be seen that health care is next. Chances are it will be a joint federal-state program. However, the state may not be able to wait. The pressure is on.

Low Pay Of Police Surprises Reader

On Dec. 12, 1972, you published a lead article concerning the policemen in San Anselmo and the fact that they had burglarized a store — and this of course, nobody will condone — in fact, a theft of any kind is breaking our laws.

However, I was amazed when I read further in the article that the salaries of the policemen involved were $1,129 and $830 respectively per month . . .

I recently was burglarized twice within a short period of time — and the first time it was an armed burglary during the night while my wife and I were home by three men with lethal weapons — and you know the terror that we went through at that time and this story was published in the Independent-Journal.

Since this burglary, we had another burglary — fortunately, while we were not home.

Of course, because of these two incidences, we met many of our San Rafael policemen — and in common with most other poeple, my only previous contact with our police officers was either seeing one directing traffic or seeing one in a patrol car or receiving a ticket for an infraction of a parking violation. Fortunately, I have had few of these.

I was amazed at the intelligence, courtesy and most excellent manners in general, as well as the helpfullness we received from these police officers when they came in contact with us.

My previous feelings towards a policeman or a cop, as they are often called, was that they were either people that could not get other forms of employment or were sadistic or had a superiority complex — and being a policeman was a good way for their inner feelings to be shown.

However, my feeling now toward our police officers, after talking to many of them, has changed completely. The men that I have met have been, as I mentioned previously, people that I myself and millions of other business people, would gladly have as a part of their organization — and I am sure many would reach executive status.

I do not know what we pay our police officers in San Rafael. However, I am wondering if this is not a good time to take a good look at ourselves — and ask ourselves, if we are paying these officers sufficient money to be targets for millions of sick people, that we have our share of in San Rafael also, as do all other communities — who are roaming our streets, where our officers often without warning or notice are targets for these sick people, who carry lethal weapons and who have killed our officers in the past and who have often maimed them for life and subjected them to tortures while trying to do their job to protect the rest of us from these sick people, whom we are also exposed to . . .

Old Assurances No Longer Possible In Predicting Future

Forecasting world events in the new year is a great deal more difficult and uncertain now than it has been for some time. The year 1972 broke the old molds. The Nixon visit to Peking ended the old "cold war" pattern. No man can be sure right now what the new patterns will be like.

Right now we are not even sure that 1973 will bring President Nixon that "peace with honor" in Vietnam which seemed to be just around the corner. Continued war, right through the year, without even the release of the prisoners, is conceivable. However, Mr. Nixon will certainly make a further strenuous effort to get a satisfactory settlement.

An even larger uncertainty concerns the relationship of the United States to the various countries of Europe. Will the United States remain in close harmonious alliance with the countries of Western Europe as the "detente" progresses?

NO ONE NOW CAN foresee what will be in 12 months. And, of course, the shape of the relationship with Russia will largely determine the new relationship of Russia to the countries of Western Europe.

Subordinate to the larger uncertainties is the crucial relationship of Britain to the other members of the European Common Market. Until now that group of countries has been dominated by France. Will it continue to be so dominated after Britain is admitted? Doubt on this point is the very reason Charles DeGaulle did his utmost for so long to keep the British out. If the Germans and Italians side with the British on any specific issue, the French will no longer be in the controlling position.

These uncertainties in place of the old fixed certainties of the "cold war" era explain why diplomats were often reluctant to push on with the great changes of 1972. Before that year, one knew what one could count on. There was always the solid rock of American hostility towards China and rivalry with Russia. The nations did their planning from those fixed channel markers. A diplomat knew what he could rely on.

What are the "solid verities" of these times?

ARAB HOSTILITY towards Israel, and vice versa, is still with us. At least there is still that one fixed landmark, although a lot of people are thoroughly weary of it and wish it would go away.

The Berlin Wall remains. But its physical meaning to the people on opposite sides has been eroded. Will it continue to be eroded until the stiff, formal new relationship between the two Germanies becomes easier and more productive?

Japan still is on very formal, cold terms with Russia. Will this change during 1973, or will Japan tend to ally itself more and more with China and increasingly share China's interest in lands gathered in by Russians at one time or another?

Perhaps the most solid feature of the new landscape is the fact of Russian armed forces growing steadily stronger along the frontier with China. Most western experts think that the Russians have by now given up any serious thought of a preemptive strike at China. The primary Russian interests may be nothing more than hanging on to the lands in Asia the acquisitive czars gathered in during the 19th Century. The Russian empire is too loosely held together to permit any territorial losses (or so the Russians seem to think).

PERHAPS THE MOST interesting question during 1973 will be about whether the Russian empire can be held together. The Jews are not the only minority group which has grievances against the dominant Russians. Why have the Russians gone back to charging exhorbitant fees for exit visas? Obviously to discourage a Jewish migration which in turn might set other minorities to wanting escape, perhaps by other means.

Most westerners are anxious about loosening of the ties among Western countries in any continuation of the detente. But the Russians have their worries, too. Perhaps they have more reason to worry.

France Wants American Force In Europe — But Not In France

By NICHOLAS DANILOFF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the United States prepares for talks on military reductions in Europe, one of its oldest allies, France, is highly skeptical that any good can come from such discussions.

France will not be participating in the talks among the United States, the Soviet Union and their allies, expected to begin in Geneva Jan. 31. France, while still a member of NATO, has opted out of the military activities of the Atlantic Alliance.

But the government in Paris has strong opinions which it has not propounded very loudly so far. The French thinking runs along these lines: The strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT) reached between the United States and the Soviet Union at the Moscow summit meeting last May is a virtual guarantee that the two countries will not engage in war with strategic nuclear weapons.

THE AGREEMENT has rekindled the hopes of diplomats for a substantial detente in Europe. This hope is being further fired by the projected talks in Geneva on mutual and balanced force reductions (which diplomats call MBFR), and by a parallel conference now in its opening stages in Helsinki, Finland, on other European security problems.

But the difficulty, in the French view, is that the Soviet Union possesses an overwhelming superiority in conventional weapons compared to the defenses of the Western European countries.

Under the reductions which may be negotiated, a sizable number of U.S. troops would be pulled back to the United States.

This would presumably please Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who has been agitating for a reduction in the 300,000 troops which the United States maintains in Europe.

It would be virtually impossible to police any force reduction agreement which the Russians might undertake. And it would be an illusion to think, the French are saying, that Soviet forces could not sweep across Europe in a well coordinated drive.

In the French thinking, the general guarantee of European peace still appears to be the American commitment symbolized by the 300,000 U.S. troops.

With that force in Europe, the United States can hardly be indifferent to a deterioration in the politico-military situation.

The French do not appear to feel there is any inconsistency in the fact that in the 1960s they obliged NATO to move its European headquarters out of France to Brussels and required the departure of U.S. forces which had been stationed in France.

France seems to appreciate the American contribution while at the same time feeling that without U.S. troops on its soil it has more independence in making its own defense decisions.

U.S. diplomats acknowledge that the projected talks on force reductions are bound to be extremely complicated because of the different weapons used by the Atlantic Alliance and its Communist opponents.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

To deny an individual the right to a job unless he joins an organization is in total violation of every American concept of individual liberty. — Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska senator.

We will solve our pollution problems when we stop wailing about how bad things are and start doing something positive about them. — Ross E. McKinney, engineering professor.

Vice is a creature of such hideous mien that the more you see it, the better you like it. — Finley Peter Dunne.

Tribute To A Man Who Did Job Right

Jack was an independent businessman — blacksmith, welder, rigger. If he could help you on a construction job or any job he would. And it would be done right. In the many years I spend in construction in Marin County I called on him lots of times and we got the job done. He was a good man. . .

Can't Wait Negotiations While Lands Obliterated

I am horrified that President Nixon interpreted his election victory as a signal to continue and intensify the slaughter and destruction of the people and land in Indochina.

We can't wait for a succession of bombing negotiations while South and North Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia are obliterated.

I hope the Congress acts swiftly to cut off the funds for this war of dishonor.

He Writes Too Often, But How Can We Resist?

The "volunteer editors" of the world salute Bryce Anderson and the editors and publishers of the I-J for their editorial of Dec. 30 on the writers of "letters to the editor."

We may not agree with the I-J on all counts, may not get all our letters published, but the treatment is fair, perceptive and a real effort is made not to be selective and include everyone.

There is something noble and great about an influential body which shows to all its sense of fair play. I guess that's why we all admire great sports heroes, statesmen and the editors of the I-J.

Low Pay Of Police Surprises Reader

On Dec. 12, 1972, you published a lead article concerning the policemen in San Anselmo and the fact that they had burglarized a store — and this of course, nobody will condone — in fact, a theft of any kind is breaking our laws.

However, I was amazed when I read further in the article that the salaries of the policemen involved were $1,129 and $830 respectively per month . . .

I recently was burglarized twice within a short period of time — and the first time it was an armed burglary during the night while my wife and I were home by three men with lethal weapons — and you know the terror that we went through at that time and this story was published in the Independent-Journal.

Since this burglary, we had another burglary — fortunately, while we were not home.

Of course, because of these two incidences, we met many of our San Rafael policemen — and in common with most other poeple, my only previous contact with our police officers was either seeing one directing traffic or seeing one in a patrol car or receiving a ticket for an infraction of a parking violation. Fortunately, I have had few of these.

I was amazed at the intelligence, courtesy and most excellent manners in general, as well as the helpfullness we received from these police officers when they came in contact with us.

My previous feelings towards a policeman or a cop, as they are often called, was that they were either people that could not get other forms of employment or were sadistic or had a superiority complex — and being a policeman was a good way for their inner feelings to be shown.

However, my feeling now toward our police officers, after talking to many of them, has changed completely. The men that I have met have been, as I mentioned previously, people that I myself and millions of other business people, would gladly have as a part of their organization — and I am sure many would reach executive status.

I do not know what we pay our police officers in San Rafael. However, I am wondering if this is not a good time to take a good look at ourselves — and ask ourselves, if we are paying these officers sufficient money to be targets for millions of sick people, that we have our share of in San Rafael also, as do all other communities — who are roaming our streets, where our officers often without warning or notice are targets for these sick people, who carry lethal weapons and who have killed our officers in the past and who have often maimed them for life and subjected them to tortures while trying to do their job to protect the rest of us from these sick people, whom we are also exposed to . . .

Old Assurances No Longer Possible In Predicting Future

Forecasting world events in the new year is a great deal more difficult and uncertain now than it has been for some time. The year 1972 broke the old molds. The Nixon visit to Peking ended the old "cold war" pattern. No man can be sure right now what the new patterns will be like.

Right now we are not even sure that 1973 will bring President Nixon that "peace with honor" in Vietnam which seemed to be just around the corner. Continued war, right through the year, without even the release of the prisoners, is conceivable. However, Mr. Nixon will certainly make a further strenuous effort to get a satisfactory settlement.

An even larger uncertainty concerns the relationship of the United States to the various countries of Europe. Will the United States remain in close harmonious alliance with the countries of Western Europe as the "detente" progresses?

NO ONE NOW CAN foresee what will be in 12 months. And, of course, the shape of the relationship with Russia will largely determine the new relationship of Russia to the countries of Western Europe.

Subordinate to the larger uncertainties is the crucial relationship of Britain to the other members of the European Common Market. Until now that group of countries has been dominated by France. Will it continue to be so dominated after Britain is admitted? Doubt on this point is the very reason Charles DeGaulle did his utmost for so long to keep the British out. If the Germans and Italians side with the British on any specific issue, the French will no longer be in the controlling position.

These uncertainties in place of the old fixed certainties of the "cold war" era explain why diplomats were often reluctant to push on with the great changes of 1972. Before that year, one knew what one could count on. There was always the solid rock of American hostility towards China and rivalry with Russia. The nations did their planning from those fixed channel markers. A diplomat knew what he could rely on.

What are the "solid verities" of these times?

ARAB HOSTILITY towards Israel, and vice versa, is still with us. At least there is still that one fixed landmark, although a lot of people are thoroughly weary of it and wish it would go away.

The Berlin Wall remains. But its physical meaning to the people on opposite sides has been eroded. Will it continue to be eroded until the stiff, formal new relationship between the two Germanies becomes easier and more productive?

Japan still is on very formal, cold terms with Russia. Will this change during 1973, or will Japan tend to ally itself more and more with China and increasingly share China's interest in lands gathered in by Russians at one time or another?

Perhaps the most solid feature of the new landscape is the fact of Russian armed forces growing steadily stronger along the frontier with China. Most western experts think that the Russians have by now given up any serious thought of a preemptive strike at China. The primary Russian interests may be nothing more than hanging on to the lands in Asia the acquisitive czars gathered in during the 19th Century. The Russian empire is too loosely held together to permit any territorial losses (or so the Russians seem to think).

PERHAPS THE MOST interesting question during 1973 will be about whether the Russian empire can be held together. The Jews are not the only minority group which has grievances against the dominant Russians. Why have the Russians gone back to charging exhorbitant fees for exit visas? Obviously to discourage a Jewish migration which in turn might set other minorities to wanting escape, perhaps by other means.

Most westerners are anxious about loosening of the ties among Western countries in any continuation of the detente. But the Russians have their worries, too. Perhaps they have more reason to worry.

France Wants American Force In Europe — But Not In France

By NICHOLAS DANILOFF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the United States prepares for talks on military reductions in Europe, one of its oldest allies, France, is highly skeptical that any good can come from such discussions.

France will not be participating in the talks among the United States, the Soviet Union and their allies, expected to begin in Geneva Jan. 31. France, while still a member of NATO, has opted out of the military activities of the Atlantic Alliance.

But the government in Paris has strong opinions which it has not propounded very loudly so far. The French thinking runs along these lines: The strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT) reached between the United States and the Soviet Union at the Moscow summit meeting last May is a virtual guarantee that the two countries will not engage in war with strategic nuclear weapons.

THE AGREEMENT has rekindled the hopes of diplomats for a substantial detente in Europe. This hope is being further fired by the projected talks in Geneva on mutual and balanced force reductions (which diplomats call MBFR), and by a parallel conference now in its opening stages in Helsinki, Finland, on other European security problems.

But the difficulty, in the French view, is that the Soviet Union possesses an overwhelming superiority in conventional weapons compared to the defenses of the Western European countries.

Under the reductions which may be negotiated, a sizable number of U.S. troops would be pulled back to the United States.

This would presumably please Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who has been agitating for a reduction in the 300,000 troops which the United States maintains in Europe.

It would be virtually impossible to police any force reduction agreement which the Russians might undertake. And it would be an illusion to think, the French are saying, that Soviet forces could not sweep across Europe in a well coordinated drive.

In the French thinking, the general guarantee of European peace still appears to be the American commitment symbolized by the 300,000 U.S. troops.

With that force in Europe, the United States can hardly be indifferent to a deterioration in the politico-military situation.

The French do not appear to feel there is any inconsistency in the fact that in the 1960s they obliged NATO to move its European headquarters out of France to Brussels and required the departure of U.S. forces which had been stationed in France.

France seems to appreciate the American contribution while at the same time feeling that without U.S. troops on its soil it has more independence in making its own defense decisions.

U.S. diplomats acknowledge that the projected talks on force reductions are bound to be extremely complicated because of the different weapons used by the Atlantic Alliance and its Communist opponents.

A street sweeper in San Francisco is paid $11,000 a year. It's hard work sweeping the litter to the top of all those hills, and nobody thought to tell the guys to sweep down instead of up.

Parents of doctors in the California city are being upstaged by mothers who go around bragging about "my son the street sweeper."

It might be cheaper for a San Franciscan to deposit his litter in a safe deposit vault instead of scattering it on the street.

President Nixon is working on a new revenue sharing plan. He wants San Francisco's big spenders to share some of their spare cash with the federal government.

Can't Make New Start In '73; Too Much Left Over From '72

The year of Our Lord 1972 seemed an unusually untidy year.

New Year's Day usually has been a time for neatly packaging up all the problems of the prior year, and saying we'll start afresh with a clean slate. This cannot be, in 1973-vintage Marin, for there were so many problems left unresolved in the closing days of 1972.

A FEW of the local Gordian knots even were puzzlers left over from 1971. For example, the seemingly endless debates over the countywide general plan, and its elements including a housing mix; how to make most of West Marin into a public recreation area without having the place jammed by throngs of tourists, and the interminable talk over the future use of Hamilton Air Force Base by civilian airlines.

The past 12 months added some more cliff-hangers: whether Fairfax would ever get a new town hall, whether the county health department streamlining would ever be finished; how projects such as the North Ridge open space preserve would become a reality.

The San Rafael City Council finished the year with the seat of the late Harry A. Barbier still unfilled.

Redevelopment plans in San Rafael, Larkspur, Corte Madera and elsewhere probably will generate columns and columns of type in months to come, overshadowing all the words that were written about the controversies in 1972.

It's not a local happening, but the Vietnam war still has oppressive effect on nearly every household, seemingly more so since it looked last fall as if we'd be out of it by New Year's Day.

These continuing worries prompt me to lift a glass in an apocryphal Irish toast: May all the lumps on our heads in this new year, be bumps of wisdom!

PROGRESS, if you want to call it that, is changing even the bucolic view from the windswept hill where Highway 37 crosses Sears Point in southern Sonoma County.

It was startling, while enjoying the clear air Sunday, to spot the Transamerica Building and the new television tower dominating the skyline of San Francisco. They showed up evenmore clearly after sundown.

At least the jagged hump of the Farralone Islands loomed unchanged above the Pacific mist Monday, as hundreds of strollers walked across the Golden Gate Bridge. I cannot remember seeing both the Bay and the Golden Gate straits themselves so filled with sailboats on any New Year's Day.

Janitor Ordered To Serve Time On Drug Charge

A 43-year-old janitor, arrested after he set off an alarm in a building he was cleaning, has been ordered to serve 90 days in jail on charges of having drugs and a concealed weapon in his car.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court also placed Eugene Williams of Mill Valley on probation for five years.

Mill Valley police arrested Williams Aug. 8 after he allowed them to search his car. The pistol was under the front seat; marijuana and 900 pills were in the trunk, according to police.

Police said they responded to an alarm in a doctor's office, found Miller outside, and asked to search his car when they couldn't immediately verify he was the janitor.

A misdemeanor count of having pot was dismissed when Williams pleaded guilty to the other charges in November. The sentence was arrived at in a plea bargaining session between judge, district attorney and defense counsel.

You Don't Need To Attend Those White House Dinners

WASHINGTON — The White House, in its running feud with the Washington Post, has kept Mrs. Dorothy McCardle, a Post reporter, from covering the President's social events. It is believed that the ban will be in effect at least until after the inauguration.

This is not the catastrophe one might think it is, mainly because social events at the White House write themselves, and you really don't have to be there to cover them.

School District Said Solvent Despite Growth

The Cotati-Rohnert Park School District Board has heard that the district is financially solvent, despite rapid growth in number of students.

Schools Supt. James H. Davidson told the board Tuesday the district received an additional $146,162 from the state because of the increased enrollment.

He said expenses for four new teachers, additional portable classrooms and salary increases totaled $143,649 so far this year.

Davidson said the financial picture may get even better if Senate Bill 90 is approved, since it will increase income by 15 per cent to poor districts like Cotati-Rohnert Park.

Highway Fund Fight In Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's impounding of federal highway funds is being fought in court by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and 15 Senate committee chairmen.

The Democratic senators filed a friend of the court brief Tuesday in the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis. The court is hearing a test case of the impoundment of federal highway funds for Missouri.

In June, the U.S. District Court ruled the federal government cannot impound federal highway funds indiscriminately. The Circuit Court is hearing an appeal.

Nixon has impounded more than $5 billion in highway funds over the last four years.

Contracts For Plane Awarded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has awarded $181.1 million in contracts for Phase II of the advanced medium short takeoff and landing prototype transport aircraft program, it was announced Tuesday.

Sens. Henry Jackson and Warren Magnuson, both D-Wash., said Boeing Co., Seattle, would receive $95.2 million in contracts and McDonnell Douglas Corp., Los Angeles, $85.9 million in contracts.

Authorization of Phase I of the program at $2.5 million for each of the contractors came Nov. 10.

Social Security

For most American workers, the first pay check of 1973 will be somewhat smaller than the last one of 1972. There has been an increase in the Social Security tax deducted from pay checks. Social Security began during the New Deal. The benefits and the costs have been increasing ever since. When the program began in 1937, 6 out of every 10 workers were covered. Today, 9 out of 10 employed Americans are included in the program. To meet the rise in the cost of living, Social Security pensions and taxes will rise automatically in the future, matching increases in consumer prices.

Highway Fund Fight In Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's impounding of federal highway funds is being fought in court by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and 15 Senate committee chairmen.

The Democratic senators filed a friend of the court brief Tuesday in the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis. The court is hearing a test case of the impoundment of federal highway funds for Missouri.

In June, the U.S. District Court ruled the federal government cannot impound federal highway funds indiscriminately. The Circuit Court is hearing an appeal.

Nixon has impounded more than $5 billion in highway funds over the last four years.

Contracts For Plane Awarded

Sens. Henry Jackson and Warren Magnuson, both D-Wash., said Boeing Co., Seattle, would receive $95.2 million in contracts and McDonnell Douglas Corp., Los Angeles, $85.9 million in contracts.

Authorization of Phase I of the program at $2.5 million for each of the contractors came Nov. 10.

Social Security

For most American workers, the first pay check of 1973 will be somewhat smaller than the last one of 1972. There has been an increase in the Social Security tax deducted from pay checks. Social Security began during the New Deal. The benefits and the costs have been increasing ever since. When the program began in 1937, 6 out of every 10 workers were covered. Today, 9 out of 10 employed Americans are included in the program. To meet the rise in the cost of living, Social Security pensions and taxes will rise automatically in the future, matching increases in consumer prices.

DO YOU KNOW — Are federal civilian employees covered by Social Security?

PHOEBE COOPER
June vows planned

Little Fella Forester Is Woman

The "little fella" scaling logs at a mill just outside Prescott is the only woman forester in the Forest Service's Southwestern Region and one of five in the country.

"In my sophomore year of college I met Susan Varren, the only girl forestry student," says Becky. "She told me that if I wanted to be a forester, there was no reason why I shouldn't be and not let anyone talk me out of it."

"There were two other girls that started with me, but they dropped out, as I knew they would," she says. "They were too delicate and flighty."

"Then it was like having 30 brothers," she says.

Her "being mistaken for a man" problem, she says, began in college. In her forest clothes and hair tucked under a hardhat, she had to talk fast to keep from being thrown out of her dormitory one day by her house mother.

Becky landed her first job as a graduate forester in the Prescott Forest in June. It was supposed to be only for the summer, but a devastating 28,000-acre fire forced a crash timber sale to salvage as much of the damaged timber as possible. Scalers were critically needed and Becky volunteered to learn.

In six weeks of on-the-job training with experienced scalers, she felt she was ready to be tested for a certification of proficiency.

Louis Liedman, veteran forester and timber expert from the Regional Office in Albuquerque, administered the test. She passed.

Little Fella Forester Is Woman

The "little fella" scaling logs at a mill just outside Prescott is the only woman forester in the Forest Service's Southwestern Region and one of five in the country.

"In my sophomore year of college I met Susan Varren, the only girl forestry student," says Becky. "She told me that if I wanted to be a forester, there was no reason why I shouldn't be and not let anyone talk me out of it."

"There were two other girls that started with me, but they dropped out, as I knew they would," she says. "They were too delicate and flighty."

"Then it was like having 30 brothers," she says.

Her "being mistaken for a man" problem, she says, began in college. In her forest clothes and hair tucked under a hardhat, she had to talk fast to keep from being thrown out of her dormitory one day by her house mother.

Becky landed her first job as a graduate forester in the Prescott Forest in June. It was supposed to be only for the summer, but a devastating 28,000-acre fire forced a crash timber sale to salvage as much of the damaged timber as possible. Scalers were critically needed and Becky volunteered to learn.

In six weeks of on-the-job training with experienced scalers, she felt she was ready to be tested for a certification of proficiency.

Louis Liedman, veteran forester and timber expert from the Regional Office in Albuquerque, administered the test. She passed.

GENERATION RAP

Try To Charm Girlfriend's Mother — It Usually Will Work

RAP:

My girlfriend and I (both 16) have been going together for three months, but mostly it hasn't been "together."

Her parents have got to be the strictest in the world. I ask her out all the time, but the usual answer is, "No, my folks won't let me." We only see each other at school and sometimes on weekends when she's allowed to go skating with girl friends. If her father knew I was there too he'd probably keep her home, (which is off-limits to me).

My friends tell me to break up and find a chick who can do things with me, but they don't know how I feel about her. I love her very much but since the Christmas holidays, when I couldn't even talk to her on the phone, I'm beginning to agree with them.

What should I do? — CONFUSED

DEAR CON:

You'd be surprised how many teen-agers have this same problem. Parents of girls are often so scared by all they read and hear that they figure boys can't be trusted, even in their own living rooms.

What can you do?

We've listed several times before all the routine procedures:

1. Go to see the girl's mother and try charming her. Mothers aren't as tough as fathers, and sometimes they'll act as go-betweens.

2. Get brave and stop over on a Sunday afternoon. If you prove you aren't trying to avoid her parents, they may accept you (grudgingly). Or you might "happen" by as she and her dad are washing the family car. A guy who helps can't be all bad, yes?

3. Perhaps your girl can initiate discussions with other parents or relatives who aren't as strict.

4. Last, the old standby: Talk it out. If teens show they "understand" parental fear and work on trust, rather than resentment, they'll crack all but the hardest nuts. Let's hope your girl's parents aren't that hard, Con.

So these are our hints. If anyone has other ideas, please give! Maybe we can run a column on "How to Educate Over-Strict Parents." — HELEN AND SUE

RAP:

Every time I ride around and look at houses I wonder how many of them are like mine inside — full of screaming? You'd think since I was born to it, I'd get adjusted, but I guess I'm the oddball. I tie up in knots when my folks start yelling at each other.

It's worst at the breakfast table. I gag on my food, but I'm not allowed to leave. The terrible part is they don't even realize how they sound, while I'm quietly going crazy. They seem to thrive on noise.

My father can yell his head off. Then goes to work and his employees think he's the greatest. I live for the day when I can leave this house. Meanwhile, how can I live in it? — PATSY

PATSY:

There are people who can only show they care through "screaming." I mean they're noisy by nature. If they didn't explode, they'd end up with ulcers.

If you can look at your folks and still see love through their fighting, then don't shut them up — just tune them out. These aren't your battles. — SUE

DEAR PATSY:

Even if they aren't "your battles," constant screaming can drive a naturally quiet person up the wall. Why not tape record one of the fights, play it back to your parents, then ask them to tone it down until you leave the house? They might even enjoy calmer breakfasts themselves, once they get used to them. — HELEN

PARENT AND CHILD

Youngsters Learn About Grading

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

Elizabeth Boynton, a ninth-grade English teacher, read two earlier "Parent and Child" columns about school grades. The first discussed the harmful effects of giving arbitrary grades; the second suggested alternative ways to register success and failure in school work.

Using the two columns and a "Peanuts" comic strip poking fun at grading, Miss Boynton worked out an English class project. This is what she writes about what she did and what happened:

"My strategy, in giving the students photocopies of the comic strip and two columns, was to engage these students in small-group discussions about a topic that concerned them and thereby, on the sly, involve them at their best in working with language through reading, speaking, listening, and writing.

"NINTH GRADERS know a great deal about grading. This, I figured, would allow them to swim instead of sink during the discussion. On the other hand, they needed to know more.

"It had taken me two hours to prepare the discussion guide given to the chairman of each six-member group. I chose questions for discussion and also questions which needed a written response.

"Now I can see the time was worth it. As I visited the groups, I was excited by their concentration. They behaved as if their words were important. This class had never been able to carry off a small-group discussion before. I decided the fault had been mine, not theirs; mine for not asking the right questions.

"The next day I asked each one to evaluate his group discussion and tell how it had affected his views. The class clown, who liked voting on the different alternatives to grading, pointed out, 'This is the best thing we've done all year.'

"SEVERAL COMMENTED they enjoyed learning that there actually were alternatives to grading. A girl, who said she and her parents were very upset with the present system of grading and would do all they could to change it, wrote:

" 'This discussion made us feel like people, not things.' "

Grading is an excellent topic for use by English teachers to hold small-group discussions. It is also a topic where parents and children can meet as peers exploring ideas as equals from radically different perspectives.

If parents don't initiate such a discussion, then the children should prepare some discussion materials. Grading is different at different school levels and varies widely, of course, from teacher to teacher and from school to school. Discussion guidelines need to be set.

With no absolute measure to use as a standard, this means that grading and reward-punishment systems must always be compromise solutions. And compromises are best when all affected agree on the ground rules.

Coleen Coleman's engagement to Patrick Williams of San Anselmo has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Coleman of San Rafael.

Colleen, who is the sister of George, Doreen and Linda Coleman of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School and the College of Marin Registered Nursing Program. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Linda Pareto of San Rafael and Mrs. Louise Averill of Sausalito.

Col. and Mrs. Francis Williams of San Rafael are Patrick's parents. He is the brother of Kathy, Kevin, John, Dennis, and Julie Williams, all of San Rafael; Mrs. David Babonis of Scranton, Pa., and Terry Williams of Springfield, Va.

Patrick is a graduate of St. Martin's High School in Olympia, Wash. and attended the College of Marin. He is employed by the San Anselmo Fire Department.

The couple plans to be married June 9.

The Classic Look

The sure French classic look is returning to Paris. Smocks and jeans look passe, while long or short skirts, accessorized with hats and dramatic belts are interesting and new.

Santa Rosa To Be Home For Newlyweds

For the ceremony Barbara was attended by her sister Carol Tucker of Greenbrae as maid of honor and Lois Lynch of Kentfield, Lori Barsocchini of Kentfield and Catherine Stai of Larkspur.

Home Brighteners

Individual decorating touches help brighten the home. Frame and hang bright scarves or convert unusually patterned towels into wall hangings. Some of the popular patchwork quilts make pretty tapestry-like wall hangings.

Stanley Augustine of Sonoma performed best man duties. The ushers were the bride's brother, Bruce Tucker of Greenbrae, and John Boothby of San Rafael and M. Russell Baruh of Ross.

Barbara is a graduate of Redwood High School and the University of California at Berkeley. She now attends Sonoma State College, working on a teaching credential.

The bride is also the sister of Mrs. J. Anthony Guichard of San Francisco and Kenneth Tucker of Campbell.

Jack is the son of Mrs. Gladys Lee of Santa Rosa and Roy W. Lee of Antioch. He is a graduate of Petaluma High School, U.C. at Berkeley and obtained the master's degree in physical therapy at Stanford University School of Medicine. He is employed with Lee Brothers Construction Co. in Santa Rosa.

His Name's Known In 40 Nations

By ALINE WILLBUR
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

DALLAS — No wonder women in 40 countries have learned how to pronounce Ca-cha-rel and are collecting the imaginative French sweaters and their coordinated shirts, garbardine pants, and skirts, to play the mix-match game.

The Cacharel label brings the softness of cashmere and a body-hugging fit, not to be confused with the tight fit of stretch fabric, expressed in some of the most feminine fabrics that casual sportswear has seen. These include a light flannel, challis, wool jersey, and a lightweight wool gabardine, which Jean Cacharel himself calls "a 12-month fabric."

The Frenchman creates all his own fabrics and colors; some are in sunny, solid shades or cool pastels, but most are in the unusual print designs which launched him on the road to fame seven years ago.

The big news this winter is the "cache-coeur" (heart-warmer), a short, snug front-wrap weskit to wear over blouses, and the "sarraut," a long-belted overblouse with round collar and cuffs similar to the cover-up grade-school children wear to protect their clothes. The cache-coeur can be worn with skirts or slacks; the sarraut, because of its length, requires pants.

Designed for slender women, Cacharel clothes have a fit and a look which has a universal appeal. Some 60 per cent of Cacharel clothes are sold overseas without any adaptation or change in sizing for any country.

"They bring a new personality to the woman who wears them," Mr. Cacharel says proudly "and this is why they appeal to Japanese women as well as to American women."

In Dallas for a short visit to present his new collection, the handsome designer-manufacturer and his wife, Dominique, frankly admit that they are amazed at the quick growth of Cacharel. Seven years ago, when Jean Cacharel left his hometown of Nimes in southern France for Paris, he was a well-known soccer player and a tailor by trade. Bored by the drabness of men's clothes, he decided to invade women's sportswear, and bring color to it.

"Seven years ago ready-to-wear was in its infancy and women's slacks were black, navy, or red," Cacharel said. He started in his own apartment with custom-made slacks and shirts, but in a year he had so many orders on a waiting list that he was forced into ready-to-wear.

THAT IN turn led to weaving his own fabrics. "This was the only way I could be assured to have always the right weight, quality, and design," he explained. Cacharel factories are now scattered around Paris and in the south of France.

Four years ago, Cacharel Boutiques sprang up in Paris and in major French cities. There are now 20 of them in France alone. They sell exclusively Cacharel clothes, offering customers a quick, easy way to achieve a wide variety of looks.

"No unisex for us" Mr. Cacharel explains. "The men's clothes are quite different in look and are as masculine as the women's line is feminine."

But what really excites Dominique and Jean is the reception they hope their children's clothes will have in the United States. "They are as practical as blue jeans" stresses Dominique, "only a little more elegant and colorful."

Action Looms Against Patrick Firm

By LARRY MOWELL

A Marin Superior Court judge said yesterday he will order a clothing company belonging to the William Penn Patrick empire to halt its "endless chain" method of recruiting and to stop enrolling distributors until it publicly discloses its financial picture.

In a notice of intended decision, Judge Joseph G. Wilson said Alexandor Taylor Inc. of San Rafael must stop paying distributors up to $2,500 for signing a recruit and comply with the state Franchise Investment Law.

"The Franchise Investment Law is a disclosure statute and the disclosure sought to be compelled is just as important to the prospective participant in Alexander Taylor Inc., who is being asked to put up his money, as it is to the prospective purchaser of a franchise for the sale of chickens, ice cream or hamburgers," the judge wrote.

Among the law's requirements are public disclosure of what each distributor, or franchise, can expect to earn and disclosure of the experience of employees and of the rights of each franchise.

Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., attorney for the men's clothing firm, had argued that the business is not a franchise subject to the investment law and that the law against endless chain operations is unconstitutionally broad.

Final details of the injunction will be worked out in further discussions, Wilson said, but a notice of intended decisions is usually the framework for the ultimate ruling.

Wilson's intended decision, pending appeal, came in a suit filed Aug. 25, 1971, by the state Attorney General's office, which has launched a broadside attack on Patrick's worldwide sales empire.

Patrick has fired back with full page newspaper ads and a $10 million damage suit filed yesterday in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

The suit against Alexander Taylor contens the company has "created an endless chain market scheme" in which it enlists investors by telling them they can earn large amounts of money by recruiting others.

Noting the recruiting fee runs from $100 to $2,500, Wilson said, "The chance to receive this compensation is a major inducement to prospective participants."

"The potential economic evils of the endless chain are readily apparent and it is not for this Court to say that the legislature cannot constitutionally deal with this problem by forbidding its operation."

Furthermore, the judge, said, prospective clothing salesmen need the state-required financial information to make "an informed judgment."

In her written argument, Deputy State Atty. General Diana W. Cohan charged Alexander Taylor Inc. has refused to "fully and fairly inform its own investors of its business practices."

She said the company claims its distributors can earn an average of $1,000 a month when, in fact, the top retail salesman made no more than $1,000 in six months.

The suit asks $250,000 civil penalty and $250,000 punitive damages, as well as compliance with the two state laws. Wilson's intended decision did not comment on damages.

Top Labor Mediator Leaving Government

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's top labor mediator, J. Curtis Counts, said today he is returning to private industry after four years as director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS).

Labor Department sources said Counts, 57, had been offered the No. 2 job of undersecretary of labor and also had been asked to stay on as FMCS director, but had turned down both offers.

Two More Outbreaks In Belfast

BELFAST (UPI) — Police fought a gun battle with three bank robbers in a Belfast suburb today, wounding one of the men and capturing the other two, police said. There also was a shootout between British troops and gunmen at a Belfast social club.

The robbers grabbed a sack of money and were backing out of the building with the bank's assistant manager as hostage when spotted by two policemen on the street in Carryduff. Both groups started firing and one of the gunmen fell before the others surrendered, police said.

A pre-dawn army raid on a social club provoked a shootoutin the Roman Catholic Ardoyne district earlier today. The soldiers, who arrested four men in the club, said a stray bullet fired by gunman hit a civilian in the shoulder and that they wounded a sniper.

The civilian was shot as he stood by the lighted window of his home watching the soldiers being fired upon. An army spokesman said the man turned on his lights and a lamp in his garden when the soldiers sought safety in his yard.

"The soldiers smashed the lamp and asked him to turn off his indoor lights, which were spotlighting them, but he refused," an army official said. "A few moments later he was hit."

In Dublin, Irish Premier Jack Lynch met with his key ministers today before flying off to the United States in an effort to halt private American donations to the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

Action Looms Against Patrick Firm

By LARRY MOWELL

A Marin Superior Court judge said yesterday he will order a clothing company belonging to the William Penn Patrick empire to halt its "endless chain" method of recruiting and to stop enrolling distributors until it publicly discloses its financial picture.

In a notice of intended decision, Judge Joseph G. Wilson said Alexandor Taylor Inc. of San Rafael must stop paying distributors up to $2,500 for signing a recruit and comply with the state Franchise Investment Law.

"The Franchise Investment Law is a disclosure statute and the disclosure sought to be compelled is just as important to the prospective participant in Alexander Taylor Inc., who is being asked to put up his money, as it is to the prospective purchaser of a franchise for the sale of chickens, ice cream or hamburgers," the judge wrote.

Among the law's requirements are public disclosure of what each distributor, or franchise, can expect to earn and disclosure of the experience of employees and of the rights of each franchise.

Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., attorney for the men's clothing firm, had argued that the business is not a franchise subject to the investment law and that the law against endless chain operations is unconstitutionally broad.

Final details of the injunction will be worked out in further discussions, Wilson said, but a notice of intended decisions is usually the framework for the ultimate ruling.

Wilson's intended decision, pending appeal, came in a suit filed Aug. 25, 1971, by the state Attorney General's office, which has launched a broadside attack on Patrick's worldwide sales empire.

Patrick has fired back with full page newspaper ads and a $10 million damage suit filed yesterday in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

The suit against Alexander Taylor contens the company has "created an endless chain market scheme" in which it enlists investors by telling them they can earn large amounts of money by recruiting others.

Noting the recruiting fee runs from $100 to $2,500, Wilson said, "The chance to receive this compensation is a major inducement to prospective participants."

"The potential economic evils of the endless chain are readily apparent and it is not for this Court to say that the legislature cannot constitutionally deal with this problem by forbidding its operation."

Furthermore, the judge, said, prospective clothing salesmen need the state-required financial information to make "an informed judgment."

In her written argument, Deputy State Atty. General Diana W. Cohan charged Alexander Taylor Inc. has refused to "fully and fairly inform its own investors of its business practices."

She said the company claims its distributors can earn an average of $1,000 a month when, in fact, the top retail salesman made no more than $1,000 in six months.

The suit asks $250,000 civil penalty and $250,000 punitive damages, as well as compliance with the two state laws. Wilson's intended decision did not comment on damages.

First Reading To Evaluation Guides

The Marin County Board of Education after objections from teacher organizations were overcome, gave first reading Tuesday night to guidelines on state-mandated evaluation of instructors and administrators.

The guidelines, required under the new Stull Bill, had previously met opposition from teacher groups.

One objection, the fact that administrators will evaluate teachers, while teachers won't get to evaluate administrators, has been withdrawn, John Knight, president of the Asociation of Marin County Superintendent of Schools Staff, told the board.

The second aspect of the document which hadn't found favor — a classroom checklist which couldn't apply to administrators — has been deleted from the guidelines, said Knight.

The 270-page document overhauls old teacher dismissal procedures and introduces a new system of ratings. It's the result of months of work by county schools staff, and Stephen L. Parodi, curriculum coordinator, said appears to be "fair and practical both to the evaluator and evaluatee."

The Marin County Board of Education Also:

PERSONNEL — Hired six teachers under temporary permits: Anne Degenhardt, Marin Community College, three-fourths time at $2,980; Charlotte Jenkins, Marin Community College, three-fourths time, $2,660; Paula Strassman, San Rafael Children's Center, one-half time, $2286; Mary P. Bicknell, Pilgrim Park, three-fourths time, $2,869; Sally Lee, Manzanita Children's Center, $4,221; Evelyn Stallings, Manzanita Children's Center, $4,221.

CONSULTANTS — Approved paying $75 each to consultants to conduct children's center workshops this spring, Libby Byers, Betty Halpern, Virginia Mitchell and Harriet Shaffer; also approved contributing $157 as Marin's share of workshop expenses at the annual workshop for counselors and guidance consultants on Jan. 19 and 20 at the Christian Brothers Retreat House in Napa County.

GIFTS — Accepted nine gifts, including five motorcycles donated to the regional occupational program motorcycle maintenance program by Sandy Greenblat, Marin Mttorsport; a refrigerator for Meadow Park School from Esther Herrera; cash for Marindale School from Heather Westerman, Kathleen McGuire, Pam Leete, Karin Morrill, Cherrie Steward, Edward L. Mundt, Joan Winterburn and the Marin Ballet Aquacade; video tape for Forest Meadows Development Center from Mr. and Mrs. Peter Haas and Mr. and Mrs. John Joseley, and $1,000 for Magnolia Park School from Stephen Walter.

INSTITUTE — Approved hiring ten consultants to conduct the annual teachers' winter institute on Jan. 26 at Novato High School, and heard that about 1,500 teachers from throughout the county will attend the training session, highest attendance ever.

Patrick Firm Proceedings Nearing End

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission hearing examiner said yesterday he expects to wrap up by next week proceedings against the Holiday Magic Inc. cosmetic firm now in their 13th month.

"I've heard a lot of cases but I haven't heard one that caused me so much trouble," Examiner Edgar A. Buttle said before the hearing reopened yesterday. "But this session will be the end of the case."

SEVERAL HEARINGS

Buttle and attorneys for the government and Holiday Magic of San Rafael have participated in several hearings in the case, including sessions in San Francisco and Chicago. Following the conclusion of testimony and cross examination by next week, Buttle's ruling will have to be acted on by the full commission.

At issue is Holiday Magic's marketing and advertising system.

An FTC complaint alleges Holiday Magic uses "an unfair and deceptive lottery-type, multi-level merchandising program," unreasonably restrains trade "by fixing its distributors resale prices and allocating sales territories," discriminating in price between competing distributors and using misleading advertising in its efforts to recruit distributors.

EARLY IN 1971

The complaint was first filed in early 1971 and public hearings opened Nov. 1, 1971.

Wednesday's proceeding was itself bogged down much of the day as attorneys haggled over what evidence should and should not be admitted into the hearing record.

An exasperated Buttle said at one point, "We'll be here for days with something that is essentially not relevant."

First Reading To Evaluation Guides

The Marin County Board of Education after objections from teacher organizations were overcome, gave first reading Tuesday night to guidelines on state-mandated evaluation of instructors and administrators.

The guidelines, required under the new Stull Bill, had previously met opposition from teacher groups.

One objection, the fact that administrators will evaluate teachers, while teachers won't get to evaluate administrators, has been withdrawn, John Knight, president of the Asociation of Marin County Superintendent of Schools Staff, told the board.

The second aspect of the document which hadn't found favor — a classroom checklist which couldn't apply to administrators — has been deleted from the guidelines, said Knight.

The 270-page document overhauls old teacher dismissal procedures and introduces a new system of ratings. It's the result of months of work by county schools staff, and Stephen L. Parodi, curriculum coordinator, said appears to be "fair and practical both to the evaluator and evaluatee."

The Marin County Board of Education Also:

PERSONNEL — Hired six teachers under temporary permits: Anne Degenhardt, Marin Community College, three-fourths time at $2,980; Charlotte Jenkins, Marin Community College, three-fourths time, $2,660; Paula Strassman, San Rafael Children's Center, one-half time, $2286; Mary P. Bicknell, Pilgrim Park, three-fourths time, $2,869; Sally Lee, Manzanita Children's Center, $4,221; Evelyn Stallings, Manzanita Children's Center, $4,221.

CONSULTANTS — Approved paying $75 each to consultants to conduct children's center workshops this spring, Libby Byers, Betty Halpern, Virginia Mitchell and Harriet Shaffer; also approved contributing $157 as Marin's share of workshop expenses at the annual workshop for counselors and guidance consultants on Jan. 19 and 20 at the Christian Brothers Retreat House in Napa County.

GIFTS — Accepted nine gifts, including five motorcycles donated to the regional occupational program motorcycle maintenance program by Sandy Greenblat, Marin Mttorsport; a refrigerator for Meadow Park School from Esther Herrera; cash for Marindale School from Heather Westerman, Kathleen McGuire, Pam Leete, Karin Morrill, Cherrie Steward, Edward L. Mundt, Joan Winterburn and the Marin Ballet Aquacade; video tape for Forest Meadows Development Center from Mr. and Mrs. Peter Haas and Mr. and Mrs. John Joseley, and $1,000 for Magnolia Park School from Stephen Walter.

INSTITUTE — Approved hiring ten consultants to conduct the annual teachers' winter institute on Jan. 26 at Novato High School, and heard that about 1,500 teachers from throughout the county will attend the training session, highest attendance ever.

Press Is Subject Of Bagley Attack

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman William Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday accused the news media of "seeming hypocrisy" and complained of "incessant criticism" of the Legislature by the press.

Bagley, who declared he was not trying to "ape" Vice President Spiro Agnew, said that lawmakers often receive a "lot of unnecessary heat." Agnew is well-known for his criticism of the news media.

"If we don't get something done," Bagley said, "we are accused of partisan bickering. If we do get something done, we are accused of engaging in an unholy alliance."

The "unholy alliance" comment referred to a description of the joint support of both Gov. Ronald Reagan and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, of a $1.1 billion school finance-property tax relief bill. The description originated with legislative opponents of the bill.

"That's not an unholy alliance, that's how the system works," said Bagley.

He declared such comments are "unfair," warning that the public is losing faith in the Legislature. Bagley asked for a halt to the "incessant criticism."

The assemblyman said he "hijacked" the bill and "rammed it out" during the last days of the 1972 session.

"But," he added, "you didn't hear one adverse word (in the news media) because that bill was favorably received."

Bagley charged that other "hijacked" measures which were not favored by the media received a different treatment."

McDonald's Hits Back In Big Suit

McDonald's hamburger restaurants yesterday filed a $11 million federal antitrust suit against San Francisco's labor unions and restaurant owners for allegedly stopping their application for three new eating places.

The suit said the company now operates two restaurants in San Francisco and was denied licenses for three others despite the fact they complied with "all of the necessary code requirements, ordinances and regulations."

The suit contends that the defendants conspired by bringing pressure, including political pressure, on the Board of Permit Appeals.

The defendants were not acting in good faith, the suit said, in "their consistent, repeated and baseless opposition" to the permits and they knew their opposition to be "a sham and frivolous."

Defendants were the San Francisco Local Joint Board of Culinary Workers, Bartenders, and Hotel, Motel and Club Service Workers, the Golden Gate Restaurant Association and Hotel Employers Association.

Evers Is Named To Bay Group

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Regan has named William D. Evers, a San Francisco attorney, as chairman of the San Francisco Bay Conversation and Development Commission.

Evers, 45, a member of the commission since June 1967, succeeds Melvin B. Lane of Atherton, who resigned.

Call Made For Safety At Airports

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The director of the state Aeronautics Department Wednesday proposed far-reaching legislation designed to prevent recurrence of the Sept. 24 ice cream parlor tragedy in Sacramento where 22 people were killed by an F86 Sabrejet.

The proposal by Joseph R. Crotti, which would affect every California airport in densely populated zones, was unveiled at the opening of a two-day hearing by the Assembly Natural Resources Committee on airport safety.

Crotti urged the 1973 Legislature to appropriate vast sums of money to purchase land developments in the direct line of busy airport runways, to establish "green belts" around airports, and to "put teeth back into" local land use commissions.

He also called for state standards on zoning around airports, the requirement of barriers at the ends of dangerous runways and the shortening of runways that lack sufficient "clear zones."

The director said airports are "an endangered species" and like wild animals "they become dangerous when they are hemmed in."

Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, committee chairman, indicated he may sponsor legislation during the upcoming session to prevent recurrence of the Sabrejet crash at other airports in densely populated areas.

Several other local representatives proposed measures similar to that of Crotti and detailed specific instances where they had been unable to halt development around airports because of weak state laws.

Metric System

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., has introduced a bill to convert the United States to the metric system of measurements. "The United States is one of the last nations to remain on the old system of measures," Teague said Wednesday.

Youth Is Held For Auto Theft

A 19-year-old Waldo Point resident has been ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court after a Marin Municipal Court judge ruled enough evidence exists to try him on an auto theft charge.

Ordered to appear Wednesday by Judge David R. Baty was Adam Jesse James, arrested Dec. 17 after residents of apartments at 450 East Strawberry Drive in Strawberry detained him as a possible prowler.

Deputies determined the car he was driving was stolen from Vito Migale of San Francisco.

Students Burn Effigy Of Nixon

DACCA (UPI) — Students hoisted the flags of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong atop the United States Information Service (USIS) building Wednesday and then burned an effigy of President Nixon.

They also hoisted a black flag to mourn the death of two other students who were killed Monday during a violent demonstration in protest against U.S. bombing of North Vietnam outside the USIS building.

Police guarding the USIS center and library withdrew Tuesday.

PARKING LOT REPAIR JOB — Frank Lathrope, founder of the "Car-Doc" mobile automotive repair service, replaces an ailing auto's muffler in a downtown San Rafael parking lot. Lathrope and his partners will take their well-stocked van anywhere in Marin for emergency auto repairs, days, nights or weekends. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

GARAGE ON WHEELS

Doctor For Ailing Autos Even Makes House Calls

By JEFF GREER

Frank Lathrope of Fairfax owns a stethoscope, forceps and hemostats just like a medical doctor, but he does his surgery on ailing autos.

Lathrope and two partners launched their "Car-Doc" business in October. Since then, their bright yellow truck has buzzed around Marin County day and night, putting distressed motorists' cars back into running order.

The truck is a miniature service station on wheels, stocked with ignition parts, fan belts, radiator hoses, oil and even gasoline to help motorists who simply have run dry.

The emergencies range from drying out the distributor of a San Anselmo merchant's auto on a stormy night to paying a house call on a weekend to replace brake linings on a housewife's family chariot in Tamalpais Valley.

And the van has made nighttime runs to Marin motels and trailer parks to soothe balky engines for tourists while they slept.

Lathrope and his partners, Michael Tachet and Neil Crowley of Greenbrae, all hold other jobs to support their families while the Car-Doc venture is getting started — but their hours are staggered so one is always available for an emergency run.

Lathrope's wife, Carolyn, takes customer calls and handles the books from the couple's home at 76 Wood Lane.

The truck, equipped with two-way radio, should be accustomed to the snow-rain-sleet routine, Lathrope explained, laughing. It's a rebuilt Post Office vehicle, still retaining its right-hand driver's seat.

"We want to get two more trucks and outfit them completely," Lathrope added.

The Car-Doc's tool chest is a gadget nut's dream. Tucked inside are an oscilloscope for tune-ups, an array of timing lights, compression testers and every description of wrench, plier and other tool found in a normal service station.

Neatly crowded in are Lathrope's stethoscope — useful for locating sinister noises in a running engine — and the forceps, hemostats and other tools he's adapted for special mechanical tasks.

"I have a standing order with all the tool supply places to let me know when anything good comes in," explained the balding, mid-40ish Lathrope. "If a tool can make the job easier or save time, I want it."

Lathrope took a service station gas-pumping job after he got out of the Army in 1946. He soon graduated to mechanical work, not entirely willingly.

"The boss told me to rebuild the carburetor on a Cadillac parked outside the station. I said I didn't know how; he said do it," Lathrope said. "I lifted the hood, saw that four-barrel carb staring at me and put the hood right down again."

But pressed by his employer, he disassembled, cleaned and reassembled the gadget and the auto ran well. "The boss told me I had eyes in my fingers and knew how to take things apart and put them back together again," the Car-Doc founder recalled. "He sure trusted me — I found out it was his car."

Among his best customers are doctors and other professional men who don't want their cars put out of commission for long. Lathrope will perform a tuneup or replace a muffler in the office parking lot.

He won't charge extra for night or week end work. Car-Doc's flat $10 service call is absorbed into the bill if the emergency is anything major, such as a tune-up or a carburetor replacement.

Lathrope had to turn down one job Tuesday evening, he confessed yesterday.

"I happened onto a car stalled on the freeway, and offered Car-Doc's services," Lathrope related. "But the driver wanted me to lift out the whole engine and put in a new one, right there on the freeway."

Eyesore Bus Removed From School

A battered yellow school bus, its windows shattered and tires flattened after repeated attacks by vandals, was towed from San Rafael High School yesterday amid complaints by neighbors and school officials that it was an eyesore.

The bus, owned by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, was towed to the school last month for repair by students enrolled in the county's regional occupational program, according to program director Douglas P. Moore.

But repair of the bus, which was missing its drive shaft and needed a major overhaul, was beyond the capability of the students.

"We didn't want the bus anyway," Moore said yesterday. "But somehow we got stuck with it."

The bus, parked in the school parking lot, quickly became the target of vandals, who flattened its tires, smashed at least 14 windows, broke the headlights and ripped wiring from the engine.

After repeated complaints by angry school officials and concerned neighbors, the bus was towed away yesterday for possible repair by a San Rafael car dealer.

Woman Denies Drug Charge

A 20-year-old Texan has denied in Marin Municipal Court that she tried to pass a forged prescription at a Tamalpais Valley drug store.

After the innocent plea by Betty Frances Kingsbury, formerly of Austin, a preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

She was arrested Dec. 27 at the Shoreline Drugstore, 205 Flamingo Road, after the druggist became suspicious of the signature on a prescription and called sheriff's deputies.

Drastic Rezoning Said Needed To Trim Density

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — Drastic rezoning to cut the density allowed in undeveloped areas of Marin and other Bay Area counties will have to begin soon, the Association of Bay Area Government staff warned yesterday.

Current zoning in the region would allow a population of 25 million, more than the present population of the entire state, according to ABAG's regional planning director, Rudolph R. Platzek.

Even this figure represents recent drastic cuts especially in "downzoning" of agricultural areas of Marin, Sonoma and Alameda counties, he said.

At present, Marin shows a zoned population 200 per cent greater than the population allowed by its city and county master plans. Current zoning in the county would allow 800,000 people, while the general plans provide for 400,000 by 1990, the staff report said.

In Sonoma, the disparity is 400 per cent, or a zoned population of 1.6 million compared to a planned population of 400,000. Other figures were 700 per cent in Napa, 200 per cent in San Mateo, 220 per cent in Contra Costa, 260 per cent in Alameda and 230 per cent in Santa Clara.

The staff pointed to a new state law that requires zoning to match general plans by this coming July. The law has no provision to punish jurisdictions which fail to comply with it, but the staff noted that taxpayers' suits could be expected to enforce the new law.

The staff report was given to ABAG's regional planning committee, which asked the staff to come back with "an action program" for state legislation to coordinate land use throughout the region. The staff will report its recommendations at the next committee meeting at 4 p.m. on Feb. 7 in the Claremont Hotel.

The zoning for 25 million people "contrasts markedly" with the general plans of the region, whose population targets total roughly eight million in 1990, Platzek's report said. It also contrasts with the state's projection of 6.6 million in 1990 and ABAG's recently adopted growth planning guideline of 5.5 million by 1980, he added.

Platzek, a resident of San Rafael, said that failure to coordinate zoning with planning contributes to premature and unnecessary development of open space, development in hazardous areas and "feelings on the part of the citizenry that growth is unmanaged and does not preserve human or natural resources, contributing to the current stop-growth movement."

He suggested "vesting some authority at the regional level" to share the costs and benefits of large new developments. This would reduce competition among local governments for industry and development, he said.

Local zoning, Platzek said, should be tied more closely to ABAG's regional plan.

Police Say Purse Shopping Bag

A Fairfax woman, who police said used her purse as a shopping bag, was arrested yesterday in San Anselmo on suspicion of burglarizing a San Anselmo food store.

Charlotte McNaulty, 47, of 30 Acacia Road, was booked into Marin County Jail and released on her own recognizance to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Officers said officials of the Safeway Store at 900 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard saw the woman making repeated trips from the store to her car, where she unloaded items from her purse, according to police. Police said she purchased goods worth about $13, but additional items worth $51 were found in her car, according to police.

Old Dixie School In Register Of Historical Spots

The 113-year-old Dixie Schoolhouse has been entered in the National Register of Historical Places, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R.-Sixth District, announced yesterday.

The action, taken by the Department of Interior, makes the one-room building eligible for matching federal grants for refurbishing and preservation, Mailliard said.

The schoolhouse, which served as a school from the 1860s until 1954, is currently being restored by the Dixie Schoolhouse Foundation, a group that hopes to turn the facility into a community hall and museum.

Foundation members last year financed the relocation of the school from its original site alongside Highway 101, north of San Rafael, to its present location near Miller Creek School in San Rafael.

The interior of the building is being restored to that of a turn-of-the-century schoolhouse, with foundation members furnishing the school with old desks, clocks and educational antiques.

Youths Invited To Sessions On Animal Diseases

Young persons between the ages of 8 and 18 may attend the five final sessions of a nine-part series on animal diseases being conducted by Marin County veterinarians, according to Mary Karinden of the Marin County farm advisor's office.

The next meeting, dealing with animal parasites, will be at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 15 at the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science in San Rafael.

Dominican Educators To Probe New Ideas

New ideas for elementary and high schools will be discussed at a conference for principals and vice principals of such schools operated by the Dominican Sisters of San Rafael tomorrow and Saturday at Dominican Convent.

Among speakers will be Jim Olivero, executive director of Nueva Day School and Learning Center in Hillsborough, which has a contract with its teachers believed to be unique. Each teacher must agree to do research in the field of his interest. The material he develops is tested in the school, and if found worthwhile, is published.

Other featured speakers will be Robert Lamp, director of the educational planning laboratory at University of San Francisco; Charles Lavaroni, director of in-service education at Dominican College, San Rafael; Sister Peter Traviss, assistant director of education for the Mission San Jose Sisters; Mrs. Victoria Katz, assistant director for student activities at De Anza College, Cupertino; Rev. Thomas J. Riley, assistant superintendent of the Archdiocese of San Francisco's education department, and Dorothy Blackmore, consultant in early childhood education for the State Department of Education.

Improvement of students' self-image, creativity, developing performance standards, counseling and guidance programs, and continuous programs to evaluate schools and teachers will be among priority items, according to Sister Francis de Sales, director of education for the Dominican Sisters.

Audubon Society Opens Marsh Wildlife Survey

The Marin Audubon Society has begun a wildlife survey of the marsh and mudflat areas on Larkspur and Corte Madera bayfront lands.

George Ellman, the society's conservation chairman, said the survey will be used in the society's opposition to development proposals for the marshlands, which include the town of Corte Madera's redevelopment plans.

Residents of Marin who visit the area are asked to contribute names of species of birds and wildlife they spot, together with the date and time and location of sighting.

Ellman said the society suspects that many bird watchers and nature lovers already have conducted informal surveys of their own, but a central compilation is needed.

"There has been a tendancy to say it's a dead marsh," he added, "but we know this is far from true."

Photographs and historical records also are sought by the society, which may be contacted at Box 441, Tiburon.

Audubon Society Will See Film On Pygmy Forest

A movie, open to the public, about the Pygmy Forest staircase in Mendocino County will be shown by the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Ross School auditorium.

Field trips open to the public sponsored by the society this month include one to Bolinas Ridge on Jan. 13. Naturalist Clerin Zumwalt will lead a five-mile hike along the ridge, beginning at 9 a.m. at the junction of Ridgecrest Boulevard and Bolinas Ridge Road.

On Jan. 28 a hike from Muddy Hollow to Coast Camp in the Point Reyes National Seashore will be led by Elizabeth Terwilliger. Those wishing to join the hike may meet at 10 a.m. at Muddy Hollow.

PARKING LOT REPAIR JOB — Frank Lathrope, founder of the "Car-Doc" mobile automotive repair service, replaces an ailing auto's muffler in a downtown San Rafael parking lot. Lathrope and his partners will take their well-stocked van anywhere in Marin for emergency auto repairs, days, nights or weekends. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Doctor For Ailing Autos Even Makes House Calls

By JEFF GREER

Frank Lathrope of Fairfax owns a stethoscope, forceps and hemostats just like a medical doctor, but he does his surgery on ailing autos.

Lathrope and two partners launched their "Car-Doc" business in October. Since then, their bright yellow truck has buzzed around Marin County day and night, putting distressed motorists' cars back into running order.

The truck is a miniature service station on wheels, stocked with ignition parts, fan belts, radiator hoses, oil and even gasoline to help motorists who simply have run dry.

The emergencies range from drying out the distributor of a San Anselmo merchant's auto on a stormy night to paying a house call on a weekend to replace brake linings on a housewife's family chariot in Tamalpais Valley.

And the van has made nighttime runs to Marin motels and trailer parks to soothe balky engines for tourists while they slept.

Lathrope and his partners, Michael Tachet and Neil Crowley of Greenbrae, all hold other jobs to support their families while the Car-Doc venture is getting started — but their hours are staggered so one is always available for an emergency run.

Lathrope's wife, Carolyn, takes customer calls and handles the books from the couple's home at 76 Wood Lane.

The truck, equipped with two-way radio, should be accustomed to the snow-rain-sleet routine, Lathrope explained, laughing. It's a rebuilt Post Office vehicle, still retaining its right-hand driver's seat.

"We want to get two more trucks and outfit them completely," Lathrope added.

The Car-Doc's tool chest is a gadget nut's dream. Tucked inside are an oscilloscope for tune-ups, an array of timing lights, compression testers and every description of wrench, plier and other tool found in a normal service station.

Neatly crowded in are Lathrope's stethoscope — useful for locating sinister noises in a running engine — and the forceps, hemostats and other tools he's adapted for special mechanical tasks.

"I have a standing order with all the tool supply places to let me know when anything good comes in," explained the balding, mid-40ish Lathrope. "If a tool can make the job easier or save time, I want it."

Lathrope took a service station gas-pumping job after he got out of the Army in 1946. He soon graduated to mechanical work, not entirely willingly.

"The boss told me to rebuild the carburetor on a Cadillac parked outside the station. I said I didn't know how; he said do it," Lathrope said. "I lifted the hood, saw that four-barrel carb staring at me and put the hood right down again."

But pressed by his employer, he disassembled, cleaned and reassembled the gadget and the auto ran well. "The boss told me I had eyes in my fingers and knew how to take things apart and put them back together again," the Car-Doc founder recalled. "He sure trusted me — I found out it was his car."

Among his best customers are doctors and other professional men who don't want their cars put out of commission for long. Lathrope will perform a tuneup or replace a muffler in the office parking lot.

He won't charge extra for night or week end work. Car-Doc's flat $10 service call is absorbed into the bill if the emergency is anything major, such as a tune-up or a carburetor replacement.

Lathrope had to turn down one job Tuesday evening, he confessed yesterday.

"I happened onto a car stalled on the freeway, and offered Car-Doc's services," Lathrope related. "But the driver wanted me to lift out the whole engine and put in a new one, right there on the freeway."

Eyesore Bus Removed From School

A battered yellow school bus, its windows shattered and tires flattened after repeated attacks by vandals, was towed from San Rafael High School yesterday amid complaints by neighbors and school officials that it was an eyesore.

The bus, owned by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, was towed to the school last month for repair by students enrolled in the county's regional occupational program, according to program director Douglas P. Moore.

But repair of the bus, which was missing its drive shaft and needed a major overhaul, was beyond the capability of the students.

"We didn't want the bus anyway," Moore said yesterday. "But somehow we got stuck with it."

The bus, parked in the school parking lot, quickly became the target of vandals, who flattened its tires, smashed at least 14 windows, broke the headlights and ripped wiring from the engine.

After repeated complaints by angry school officials and concerned neighbors, the bus was towed away yesterday for possible repair by a San Rafael car dealer.

Woman Denies Drug Charge

A 20-year-old Texan has denied in Marin Municipal Court that she tried to pass a forged prescription at a Tamalpais Valley drug store.

After the innocent plea by Betty Frances Kingsbury, formerly of Austin, a preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

She was arrested Dec. 27 at the Shoreline Drugstore, 205 Flamingo Road, after the druggist became suspicious of the signature on a prescription and called sheriff's deputies.

Drastic Rezoning Said Needed To Trim Density

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — Drastic rezoning to cut the density allowed in undeveloped areas of Marin and other Bay Area counties will have to begin soon, the Association of Bay Area Government staff warned yesterday.

Current zoning in the region would allow a population of 25 million, more than the present population of the entire state, according to ABAG's regional planning director, Rudolph R. Platzek.

Even this figure represents recent drastic cuts especially in "downzoning" of agricultural areas of Marin, Sonoma and Alameda counties, he said.

At present, Marin shows a zoned population 200 per cent greater than the population allowed by its city and county master plans. Current zoning in the county would allow 800,000 people, while the general plans provide for 400,000 by 1990, the staff report said.

In Sonoma, the disparity is 400 per cent, or a zoned population of 1.6 million compared to a planned population of 400,000. Other figures were 700 per cent in Napa, 200 per cent in San Mateo, 220 per cent in Contra Costa, 260 per cent in Alameda and 230 per cent in Santa Clara.

The staff pointed to a new state law that requires zoning to match general plans by this coming July. The law has no provision to punish jurisdictions which fail to comply with it, but the staff noted that taxpayers' suits could be expected to enforce the new law.

The staff report was given to ABAG's regional planning committee, which asked the staff to come back with "an action program" for state legislation to coordinate land use throughout the region. The staff will report its recommendations at the next committee meeting at 4 p.m. on Feb. 7 in the Claremont Hotel.

The zoning for 25 million people "contrasts markedly" with the general plans of the region, whose population targets total roughly eight million in 1990, Platzek's report said. It also contrasts with the state's projection of 6.6 million in 1990 and ABAG's recently adopted growth planning guideline of 5.5 million by 1980, he added.

Platzek, a resident of San Rafael, said that failure to coordinate zoning with planning contributes to premature and unnecessary development of open space, development in hazardous areas and "feelings on the part of the citizenry that growth is unmanaged and does not preserve human or natural resources, contributing to the current stop-growth movement."

He suggested "vesting some authority at the regional level" to share the costs and benefits of large new developments. This would reduce competition among local governments for industry and development, he said.

Local zoning, Platzek said, should be tied more closely to ABAG's regional plan.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Famous people! But what made them great! Try to guess whether each statement about them is true or false.

1. FLOYD PATTERSON, is that "good guy" who became a remarkable American prize fighter. He is 38 today. In the history of the heavyweight ring, he is the only champion who ever lost his title to a contender and then came back to regain it with a crushing knockout of his opponent. Is that true or false?

2. JANE WYMAN, Hollywood film star, reaches 59 today. This winner of an Academy Award for best actress in 1948 got it for playing a deaf mute in the picture "Johnny Belinda." But she gave up her movie career 20 years later after her husband Ronald Reagan was elected Governor of California. True or false?

3. DON SHULA, head coach of the Miami "Dolphins," is 43 today. He charted his hard-hitting team to an American Football Conference title last year, defeating the Kansas City Chiefs in pro football's longest game (82 minutes, 40 seconds). But his "Dolphins" went down to defeat before the Dallas "Cowboys" in the Super Bowl, 24 to 3. True? False?

4. ISAAC NEWTON (1642-1727) would be elated to learn that Stanford University has reintroduced a non-credit course in "How to Enjoy Fishing" because he was the one in the 17th century who helped make this activity a fine art by authoring "The Compleat Angler, or the Contemplative Man's Recreation." Reallly — is that true or false?

ANSWERS: 1 - True (a real champion); 2 - False (Jane is divorced from Reagan); 3 - True (a tough loss); 4- False (This describes Izaak Walton, not Isaac Newton).

TRUMP ACTION

West opened the queen of spades and continued the suit. South ruffed and had to tackle the trumps.

The temptation was very strong to lead the king of hearts out of sheer habit. This would have been fatal. West would win with the singleton ace, and East would later get two additional trump tricks. The three trumps and one spade would defeat the contract.

LOW LEAD BETTER

South thought about the trumps for an additional moment or two. If the hearts were divided 3-2, he would have to lose two trump tricks no matter how he played the suit. He could afford to lead a low trump the first time, and he could lead the king of trumps the next time. This would give the enemy only the same two trump tricks that were bound to be theirs.

The advantage of leading a low trump the first time was that one of the opponents might have the singleton ace. South therefore led a low trump and saved his vulnerable game contract.

CONTRACT SAFE

West had to win with the ace of hearts. Now South could regain the lead and draw two rounds of trumps with the king and queen. He lost only two trump tricks in all, and the contract was therefore safe.

Princess Anne Said Serious About Soldier

LONDON (UPI) — The way gossip columnists tell it, Princess Anne is serious about Lt. Mark Phillips, a 24-year-old soldier who shares her love for horses.

The latest round of talk about Anne, 22, the only daughter of Queen Elizabeth II, began after newspapers learned Phillips spent New Year weekend as the guest of the Queen and the royal family.

Phillips is a lieutenant in the Queen's Dragoon Guards and recently has been Anne's steady beau. Buckingham Palace said Tuesday he was among the guests for the royal family's New Year weekend at Sandringham Castle estate in Norfolk.

Son Of O'Neill In Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The name of C. William O'Neill is again on the roster of the Ohio House of Representatives. The 26-year-old O'Neill was sworn into that office Monday by his father—C. William O'Neill, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The elder O'Neill served in the Ohio House from 1939 through 1950 and was once its speaker. He was Attorney General from 1951 through 1956 and governor of Ohio from 1957 through 1960.

"Obviously, though I am a new representative, the name will have some advantages," the younger O'Neill said. "But I also have a lot to live up to."

Development On Ranches Is Opposed

The Lucas Valley Homeowners Association announced it will oppose plans to place 745 dwellings on the sprawling Alfred Luis and Edward J. Grady ranches in Upper Lucas Valley.

An association spokesman, Martin A. Schainbaum, said the plans, scheduled for review by the county planning commission on Monday, show "too many houses and too many people."

Another association member, Ron Marinoff, told the Independent-Journal the group does not oppose development of the land, but rather the kind of development.

He said the development plans submitted to the county show too many apartment and townhouse units.

Early last year, the association suggested rezoning the picturesque 2,732 acres to a low-density designation but later agreed to work with property owners on development plans acceptable to both.

Schainbaum said representatives of the Luiz and Grady families met several times with association members and appeared to be near a compromise plan at one point.

However, he continued, negotiations broke down and the 745-unit development plan was submitted to the county for consideration.

"Their position of 745 housing units is unacceptable," Schainbaum said. "The association claims that 745 structures, which includes 140 garden apartments, 425 townhouses and 180 single-family residential units, will ruin the unique environment of Lucas Valley by compressing too many units and people into the available reasonably developable land.

Chess Tourney Is Announced

A championship chess tournament for Marin County residents only has been announced by the Ross Valley Chess Club.

Club president Jerry Frazier said 40 moves must be complete in the first 90 minutes of play, and the entry fee will include a year's membership in the club.

Players may register any Tuesday at the club's meetings at 7 p.m. at the Pepperwood coffee shop in the Redhill Shopping Center, San Anselmo, or mail entries to Frazier at 37 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo.

The tournament schedule will be played Jan. 16, 23 and 30, and Feb. 6 and 13, from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. All entries must be in by Jan. 15, said Frazier, and cash prizes will be awarded.

Development On Ranches Is Opposed

The Lucas Valley Homeowners Association announced it will oppose plans to place 745 dwellings on the sprawling Alfred Luis and Edward J. Grady ranches in Upper Lucas Valley.

An association spokesman, Martin A. Schainbaum, said the plans, scheduled for review by the county planning commission on Monday, show "too many houses and too many people."

Another association member, Ron Marinoff, told the Independent-Journal the group does not oppose development of the land, but rather the kind of development.

He said the development plans submitted to the county show too many apartment and townhouse units.

Early last year, the association suggested rezoning the picturesque 2,732 acres to a low-density designation but later agreed to work with property owners on development plans acceptable to both.

Schainbaum said representatives of the Luiz and Grady families met several times with association members and appeared to be near a compromise plan at one point.

However, he continued, negotiations broke down and the 745-unit development plan was submitted to the county for consideration.

"Their position of 745 housing units is unacceptable," Schainbaum said. "The association claims that 745 structures, which includes 140 garden apartments, 425 townhouses and 180 single-family residential units, will ruin the unique environment of Lucas Valley by compressing too many units and people into the available reasonably developable land.

Chess Tourney Is Announced

A championship chess tournament for Marin County residents only has been announced by the Ross Valley Chess Club.

Club president Jerry Frazier said 40 moves must be complete in the first 90 minutes of play, and the entry fee will include a year's membership in the club.

Players may register any Tuesday at the club's meetings at 7 p.m. at the Pepperwood coffee shop in the Redhill Shopping Center, San Anselmo, or mail entries to Frazier at 37 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo.

The tournament schedule will be played Jan. 16, 23 and 30, and Feb. 6 and 13, from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. All entries must be in by Jan. 15, said Frazier, and cash prizes will be awarded.

Son Of O'Neill In Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The name of C. William O'Neill is again on the roster of the Ohio House of Representatives. The 26-year-old O'Neill was sworn into that office Monday by his father—C. William O'Neill, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The elder O'Neill served in the Ohio House from 1939 through 1950 and was once its speaker. He was Attorney General from 1951 through 1956 and governor of Ohio from 1957 through 1960.

"Obviously, though I am a new representative, the name will have some advantages," the younger O'Neill said. "But I also have a lot to live up to."

What's Next In Space For U.S.?

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The United States ended 1972 "on the verge of understanding the evolution of another planet," in the words of Apollo 17 crewman Dr. Harrison H. (Jack) Schmitt, the first scientist to walk the surface of the moon.

The Apollo 17 venture to the moon—the last moon exploration on the nation's current space calendar—provided a treasure trove whose value to science is already under study and will be for a long time to come. No one yet knows all that mankind may have learned from that fantastically successful expedition.

Meantime, what's next in space?

It may be, as some have said, that American men will not again walk the moon this century. But the nation's science is not through with the moon. So eminent an authority as Dr. Wernher von Braun has said Americans will be back on the moon within 20 years. By 1990, he forecasts, people will be living weeks at a time on the moon, traveling it in special vehicles, experimenting with "lunar gardens," perhaps becoming self-sustaining there.

Until that day, American space activity and exploration will be at lower levels, perhaps no more than a few hundred miles away from Earth for the next decade or more. There will be, experts are convinced, manned Earth-orbiting space stations, possibly with American and Soviet scientists working together. And as more is learned, there is an expectation the United States may attempt a manned expedition to Mars, either late in this century or early in the next.

None of these ambitious aspirations will be much forwarded in 1973, or for some years after. During 1973 there will be a concentration on Earth orbit in the Skylab program. Then, due to budget cutbacks, will come an anticipated lag in U.S. space activity of at least four years, possibly longer.

For the time being the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is concentrating what resources it has on the development of a combination airplane and spaceship called the Space Shuttle. It is designed to lower the cost of operating in space and make possible almost routine orbital flight by scientists and engineers who will have little or no need for astronaut training.

The shuttle is scheduled to make its first test flights into Earth orbit in 1978. The project, however, is vulnerable to funding cutbacks and NASA officials fear that any significant delays forced by national monetary problems could kill the program.

"Whether it will be stretched out in a major way, or—even worse to contemplate—whether it will be stretched out so far you couldn't do it, is hard to say," according to NASA Administrator James C. Fletcher. "I'll certainly try hard not to let that happen and I don't see it happening in the near future."

In any event, the United States is now committed to manned Earth orbital flight for at least 10 years. The equipment to land on the moon no longer is there after Apollo 17. It would take years to design and build improved lunar landing apparatus and Earth orbit to moon orbit shuttle ships, all of which would have to be carried into space by the space shuttle.

"We're not going to give up on what happens in the solar system, but we're going to try and get that information with the unmanned flights," Fletcher says. NASA is planning a series of automated probes to explore Venus, Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn this decade.

Manned flight is scheduled to return to Earth orbit in the spring with the Skylab project. Skylab is a large orbiting laboratory now undergoing final testing at Cape Kennedy. It will be America's first space station. It is designed to see how well man can live and work in weightless space for long periods.

Three three-man crews are scheduled to spend a total of five months in the 190,000-pound assembly over an eight-month period. They will live in a two-level cabin with as much room as a small house and the comfort of a naval ship.

Apollo veteran Charles Conrad will command the first Skylab mission. He, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz are scheduled to be launched May 1, 1973—a day after the Skylab is launched unmanned into a 270-mile high orbit. They will remain aboard the station for 28 days and then return to an Atlantic Ocean splashdown in the Apollo command ship that carried them into orbit.

Alan L. Bean, another moon pilot, will command the second Skylab mission with Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma. They are scheduled for launch July 30 and plan to remain aboard Skylab for eight weeks. The third crew, Gerald P. Carr, Dr. Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue, is scheduled for launch Oct. 31 on the final eight-week mission.

The joint Soviet-American spaceflight set for 1975 will follow Skylab. In that unique project, three Americans in an Apollo command ship will rendezvous and link up with two Russians in a Soyuz spacecraft.

A special airlock module being built in the United States will serve as a common link between the two ships and permit spacemen to visit each other's craft. The two ships will stay docked for 48 hours and then the Russian craft will return to Earth while the Apollo stays up for as long as 10 more days.

NASA's Fletcher has said he expedts that Russians will land on the moon before the end of the decade. So far as a manned American flight to Mars is concerned, Fletcher said recently:

"I think we'll get there, probably by the end of this century. We may get there earlier if the Russians start to move too fast. That would tend to spur things along. But even without this, I think we'll get there. With luck, maybe we'll do it with the Russians."

No Increase In School Funds Seen

Trustees of the Reed School District have learned the district's income will not increase substantially from the present level as the result of a new state tax shift bill recently signed into law.

Charles Condrotte, district business manager, told the board Tuesday that it will no longer be possible to depend on money from increases in assessed valuation to finance new programs, since assessed valuation will have no bearing on income once the measure goes into effect.

"This means that any time the board wants to initiate a new program, it will have to cut out something else," Condrotte said.

Under the law, the state will set the revenue for each district, according to the business manager. Currently, revenue is determined by the amount of aid the state provides for each student enrolled and by assessed valuation in that district.

Reed's 1972-73 budget is $2.5 million, and the district can expect a small boost, to approximately $2.6 million once the law becomes effective, he said.

But, after that, Condrotte said the revenue apportioned to Reed by the state will only be increased to meet rises in the cost of living or increased enrollment.

PREP CAGE

Terra Linda Tops Rancho

Terra Linda High School sank its first five shots last night and continued its outside bombardment to take a 57-43 non-league basketball victory over Rancho Cotate in Rohnert Park.

In other contests, as Marin County Athletic League teams played their final games before opening of league play tomorrow, Drake drubbed Hogan of Vallejo, 79-61; San Marin fell to Sonoma, 71-65; and Marin Catholic topped Analy of Sebastopol, 67-42.

In the only other scheduled game, forward Neil Hennessy's two layups in the final 45 seconds enabled Redwood to edge host City College of San Francisco's junior varsity, 59-58.

The win upped Terra Linda's final pre-league mark to 6-8. The Cougars finished their pre-league season with a 6-5 record, with all the losses coming against Marin schools.

'VERY HAPPY'

"I was very happy with the things I saw," Trojan coach Bob Corley commented. "Everyone was hustling, the kids were hitting their shots and clearing the boards."

The Trojans connected on 40 per cent of their field goal attempts, but their percentage ent down in the last few minutes when Corley cleared his bench. Most of Terra Linda's shot attempts were from outside 15 feet, with Nick Mattos doing much of the long distance damage.

Getting the points inside for the Trojans was Mark Lowey, who was the game's leading scorer with 19 points. Lowey also picked off 11 rebounds to pace Terra Linda behind Scott Logan's 13 caroms.

COUGARS FLAT

The Cougars looked flat most of the game except for an early second-half surge which cut the margin down from 18 to 12 points. "We haven't played for two weeks, and that really hurt us," Rancho Cotate coach Mike Francis said. "We just weren't ready to play, and it showed."

Leading the Cougar effort was Marshall Brant, who scored 13 points, with most of them coming on muscle plays underneath the basket. John Sorenson chipped in with eight points for the losers.

Drake (11-3) concluded its most successful cage pre-season in years, pounding Hogan. Three Pirates scored in double figures, as Eddie Joe Chavez had 20 points, John Channell 14, and Don Asay 10.

San Marin (6-5) came back from a 15 point third quarter deficit to cut the margin to two late in the fourth quarter. However, the Dragons sank some clutch freethrows to win.

MUSTANGS

The Mustangs dominated the boards, outrebounding the hosts, 48-28, but shot only 38 per cent from the field. Sonoma shot 59 per cent. Hoza Wright topped San Marin scorers with 20 while John had 17, and Fred Doar, 15. Skip Starnes contributed seven, and a game leading 12 rebounds.

Marin Catholic (8-7) had a well balanced attack as nine players scored in the one-sided victory over visiting Analy. The Wildcats shot a blistering 59.5 per cent by converting 22 of 37 field goal attempts, while holding Analy to 37.2 per cent on 16 of 43. "We played the type of game we were trying for. We slowed down the tempo the way we wanted to. We're as ready for the league (Marin County Athletic League) as we'll ever be," "Wildcats coach Dave Gonsalves said today.

Super Bowl Television Ban Is Lifted; Game Sold Out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National Football League, assured of a sellout crowd for Super Bowl VII on Jan. 14, has lifted local television blackout of the National Football League championship playoff for the first time.

Final assurance came Wednesday when the participating clubs, Miami and Washington, reported sale of their allocations of 12,000 tickets each. The game will be televised nationally by NBC.

"Heck," said a spokesman for Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, "we've had 24,000 inquiries for tickets since last March when we learned the game would be played here. In fact, we've had that many in the past week."

Commissionr Pete Rozelle of the NFL announced last October that the blackout that has existed for each of the first six games would be lifted if the game was sold out 10 days in advance.

The NFL announced that all 90,182 tickets — each costing $15 for a total worth of $1.35 million — were allocated. The deadline was 12:30 p.m. PST today.

The tickets sold represent seats with unobstructed views in the mammoth 93,791-seat stadium constructed for the 1932 Olympic Games. The game will be sold out for the sixth consecutive year. Only 63,036 attended the first Super Bowl which was played in Los Angeles Coliseum.

"We had only 10 days to prepare for that first game," the Coliseum spokesman said. "That's how much time we had after the site was announced. We didn't get the tickets until five days before the game."

After announcing conditions by which the blackout would be lifted for the Super Bowl, Rozelle rejected a request from President Nixon to allow local television of earlier playoffs in Washington if those games sold out 48 hours in advance.

Nixon would be able to watch Super Bowl VII from his Western White House in San Clemente now that the blackout has been lifted. The 75-mile blackout radius included San Clemente.

There was no indication the President will be in San Clemente on Super Bowl Sunday.

USF's Junior Varsity Handles Tar Cagers

Marin's Defense Falters

By LEW CODDINGTON

The University of San Francisco did not reach the nation's top 20 by recruiting bad basketball players, a fact which became apparent last night when the Dons' junior varsity soundly defeated College of Marin, 70-62, in Kentfield.

Even with their two best players gone to join the nationally-ranked varsity in Seattle, the visitors controlled the game throughout, building a 60-44 lead and never really allowing Marin to threaten. About 300 fans watched in silence.

"I've never seen a team so flat," said coach John Panagakis of his Tars, who lost for only the second time in 14 tries this season.

The game marked a homecoming of sorts for 6-foot-5 USF freshman Jim Thorne, who once played for Redwood High School in Larkspur. Thorne tossed in 12 points, 10 in the first half as the Dons pulled out to a 37-28 lead at intermission.

The game's star, however, was USF's Larry Deal, who came off the bench to score 23 points. Center Roger LaLanne added 15 and guard Chris Lawrence 12.

The Tars lapsed in an area where they usually are strong — defense — allowing LaLanne and Deal to make a number of easy inside bank shots. For variety, Deal, Lawrence and Thorne threw in jump shots from outside.

USF (8-2) shot 45 per cent from the floor for the game, making 29 shots in 65 attempts despite some early cold shooting. By contrast, Marin hit 38 per cent (28 of 73).

Guard Joe DeMaestri scored 20 points to lead the Tars. Dana La Ferriere added 14 and Wil Garner and Joe Smith 10 each.

"I hate to think what the score would have been if they (USF) had had their best players," speculated Panagakis. Stars Howard Smith and Richard Johnson stepped up to the varsity before the game.

Marin seized an early 11-6 lead, but the Dons went ahead for good midway through the first half on a jump shot by Thorne for 23-21. The lead grew to 41-30 early in the second half, and Marin couldn't get untracked long enough to score more than four straight points until USF had a 64-50 lead. A brief flurry cut the score to 64-56, but the Dons clinched the victory with a series of free throws over the final two minutes.

TEAM MARK FALLS

A Happy Finley Sees Hot Seals

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — As owner Charles O. Finley watched happily, the California Golden Seals broke their team scoring record by storming past Vancouver 11-3 Wednesday night, but all was not rosy with the outspoken Seals owner.

Rookie winger Pete Laframboise led the stampede with a four-goal performance while Ivan Boldirev and Craig Patrick added two apiece. Boldirev is coming back after an injury and could help turn things around for the Seals, who have won only seven times this season.

It was Finley's first appearance here for a hockey game this season. Only 2,702 fans joined him to see the Seals roll up their biggest score since coming west six years ago.

It was the first time in four tries that the Seals had defeated the Canucks, who had won each of the three previous meetings by one goal.

It was 3-1 after one stanza and 5-3 after two before the Seals exploded for a half-dozen tallies in the final period.

Vancouver goalie Bruce Bullock was bombarded with 44 shots after facing 53 against Boston Jan. 1. the Canucks dropped that one 8-2.

The 22-year-old Laframboise, a 190-pounder from Ottawa, who played a few moments at the end of last seash, now has 10 goals for California.

The Seals call on Montreal Saturday and Toronto Sunday.

Meanwhile, Finley blames deception regarding players' salaries by former general manager and coach Garry Young for several of his players going to the World Hockey League.

Young was not immediately available for comment.

Finley called a news conference after the Seals 11-3 romp over Vancouver Wednesday night to accuse Young of hiring "several" players at thousands of dollars more than he had told. Finley.

As an example, Finley said Young told him he signed defenseman Dick Redmond for $30,000 but said he later found out that Redmond had been signed for $80,000 the first year and $100,000 the second year.

Redmond was recently traded to the Chicago Black Hawks for Darryl Maggs. Finley did not mention any other player by name but said "several" were involved. Eleven former Seals are now playing in the WHL.

Young resigned as coach of the Seals on Nov. 7, giving ill health as the reason. He became coach after undergoing major surgery last August.

Terra Linda Wins

Terra Linda High School's undefeated Junior Varsity basketball team continued its winning ways, thrashing Rancho Cotate, 60-36, in a non-league contest in Rohnert Park yesterday. Jeff Creamer scored 12 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, while Doug Carlisle had 10 points and eight steals to lead the Trojans.

WITH CAMERA

Ohio State's Hayes Has More Problems

Otherwise, Hayes didn't say a word. He declined to make any comment on the incident with Los Angeles Times photographer Art Rogers, who contends Hayes pushed a camera in his face.

William F. Thomas, editor of the Times, responded, "I don't know what Dr. Harold Enarson is really trying to say, but it would appear that he wants our photographer to apologize for being deliberately assaulted.

"I, too, might look more sympathetically upon a hasty action in the 'rush and crush' before a game if the man involved did not have a history of violent tantrums vented upon anyone who displeases him.

"It's time he is told he must behave as an adult, and that's what the police action is aimed at doing.

"As for Enarson's remarks about badgering, we're at a loss to understand them. Times reporters, as always before a big game, tried to interview players.

Hayes insisted he did not hit Rogers. He said he "shoved the camera sideways, not in his face. It did not go in his fac."

Packers' Devine Is Coach Of Year

The Conference Selection Had A Slow Start

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dan Devine, who lived in the shadow of a legend while he brought the Pack back to the playoffs, Thursday was named the United Press International National Football Conference 1972 Coach of the Year.

Devine, who built the Green Bay Packers back into a playoff team in just two seasons while he was being measured by the record left behind by the late Vince Lombardi, edged George Allen of the Washington Redskins in the balloting of 39 sportswriters across the nation—three in each of the conference's 13 cities.

Devine received 22 votes to 17 for Allen, who won the honor last year and also was named coach of the year in 1967 when he was with the Los Angeles Rams. None of the other 11 coaches in the conference received a vote. Allen was attempting to become the first coach to win the award three times since it was inaugurated in 1955.

Devine left a secure job as head coach of the Missouri Tigers in 1971 to tackle the difficult job of satisfying the Packers fans, who had been spoiled during the success of the Lombardi era when the club won five NFL titles and the first two Super Bowls.

"I tried to turn the Lombardi legend into an asset rather than a liability but it was awfully, awfully tough, almost overwhelmingly," he admits.

He didn't exactly get off to a sparkling debut a year ago when he suffered a broken leg in the Packers' opening game against the New York Giants when he was bowled over on a play at the sidelines.

DAN DEVINE
Coach honored

He spent most of that year on crutches watching as the Packers struggled through a 4-8 -2 season. Most observers figured Devine would be fortunate to get the back back to the .500 mark this year and almost no one picked them to win the NFC Central Division crown. The Minnesota Vikings, with the addition of Fran Tarkenton, were supposed to be the favorites with Detroit the top contender.

But Devine shaped his club with shrewd deals and good drafting and led it to a 10-4 mark for the Central Division crown and a playoff spot. The Packers were beaten 16-3 by Allen's Redskins in the playoffs but then even Lombardi lost his first playoff game in his second year with Green Bay and that loss didn't diminish the Packers' fine season.

Roberts Is Retained By New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans Saints head coach J.D. Roberts was secure in his job today for at least another year after weeks of wavering by team owner John Mecom Jr.

Mecom announced late Wednesday he had decided to keep Roberts as head coach next year despite the Saints' dismal 2-11-1 season record in 1972.

"The decision has been the product of considerable thought and research," said Mecom, who said he had spoken to dozens of other professional and college coaches, owners and players.

"I learned that some building projects had been set back two or three years when the head coach was changed," said the young Houston oil millionaire who once admitted the Saints were "just a hobby" with him.

"I firmly believe that the progress being made in our rebuilding program under J.D. Roberts had been satisfactory," he added.

Roberts was in Hawaii and not available for comment.

Centaurs Whip Headstart Five

Woody Woodward scored 30 points to lead the Centaurs' 66-44 thrashing of Headstart last night in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league play.

In other games, the Sharks decisioned the Organics, 45-31, while Ritter defeated Mazza Fuller Paints, 50-45.

Warriors' Lee Status In Doubt For Contest

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors may be without Clyde Lee again tonight when Portland comes to call.

Lee reinjured his arch in Tuesday's 112-106 win over Los Angeles that cut the Warriors margin behind the Lakers to five games.

"I won't know until just before the game whether or not Lee will be able to go," said coach Al Attles. "Clyde is very important to us because he gives us a lot of board strength. It doesn't matter how many good shooters you have if you lose the boards."

Lee was injured during late November and early December and the Warriors play slumped noticeably.

Lee's absence will be especially missed against Portland, which is pretty much a one-man team. That one man is forward Sidney Wicks and he is the guy Lee normally guards.

If Lee can't go, then presumably Cazzie Russell will start in his place with Rick Barry trying to guard Wicks.

"I don't like to use Rick on Sidney," said Attles. "It's not good policy to tire your hot scorer."

Fighter Mazon Decisions Kelly

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Eddie Mazon, 154 ½, San Diego, scored a split decision over Walter Kelly, 154, Las Vegas, in the featured 10-round boxing match at the Silver Slipper Arena Wednesday night.

There were no knockdowns but Kelly suffered a cut nose in the seventh round. The judges favored Mazon's performance 48-42 and 46-45. The dissenting judge called it for Kelly, 46-45.

PREP CAGE

Terra Linda Tops Rancho

Terra Linda High School sank its first five shots last night and continued its outside bombardment to take a 57-43 non-league basketball victory over Rancho Cotate in Rohnert Park.

In other contests, as Marin County Athletic League teams played their final games before opening of league play tomorrow, Drake drubbed Hogan of Vallejo, 79-61; San Marin fell to Sonoma, 71-65; and Marin Catholic topped Analy of Sebastopol, 67-42.

In the only other scheduled game, forward Neil Hennessy's two layups in the final 45 seconds enabled Redwood to edge host City College of San Francisco's junior varsity, 59-58.

The win upped Terra Linda's final pre-league mark to 6-8. The Cougars finished their pre-league season with a 6-5 record, with all the losses coming against Marin schools.

'VERY HAPPY'

"I was very happy with the things I saw," Trojan coach Bob Corley commented. "Everyone was hustling, the kids were hitting their shots and clearing the boards."

The Trojans connected on 40 per cent of their field goal attempts, but their percentage ent down in the last few minutes when Corley cleared his bench. Most of Terra Linda's shot attempts were from outside 15 feet, with Nick Mattos doing much of the long distance damage.

Getting the points inside for the Trojans was Mark Lowey, who was the game's leading scorer with 19 points. Lowey also picked off 11 rebounds to pace Terra Linda behind Scott Logan's 13 caroms.

COUGARS FLAT

The Cougars looked flat most of the game except for an early second-half surge which cut the margin down from 18 to 12 points. "We haven't played for two weeks, and that really hurt us," Rancho Cotate coach Mike Francis said. "We just weren't ready to play, and it showed."

Leading the Cougar effort was Marshall Brant, who scored 13 points, with most of them coming on muscle plays underneath the basket. John Sorenson chipped in with eight points for the losers.

Drake (11-3) concluded its most successful cage pre-season in years, pounding Hogan. Three Pirates scored in double figures, as Eddie Joe Chavez had 20 points, John Channell 14, and Don Asay 10.

San Marin (6-5) came back from a 15 point third quarter deficit to cut the margin to two late in the fourth quarter. However, the Dragons sank some clutch freethrows to win.

MUSTANGS

The Mustangs dominated the boards, outrebounding the hosts, 48-28, but shot only 38 per cent from the field. Sonoma shot 59 per cent. Hoza Wright topped San Marin scorers with 20 while John had 17, and Fred Doar, 15. Skip Starnes contributed seven, and a game leading 12 rebounds.

Marin Catholic (8-7) had a well balanced attack as nine players scored in the one-sided victory over visiting Analy. The Wildcats shot a blistering 59.5 per cent by converting 22 of 37 field goal attempts, while holding Analy to 37.2 per cent on 16 of 43. "We played the type of game we were trying for. We slowed down the tempo the way we wanted to. We're as ready for the league (Marin County Athletic League) as we'll ever be," "Wildcats coach Dave Gonsalves said today.

Super Bowl Television Ban Is Lifted; Game Sold Out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National Football League, assured of a sellout crowd for Super Bowl VII on Jan. 14, has lifted local television blackout of the National Football League championship playoff for the first time.

Final assurance came Wednesday when the participating clubs, Miami and Washington, reported sale of their allocations of 12,000 tickets each. The game will be televised nationally by NBC.

"Heck," said a spokesman for Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, "we've had 24,000 inquiries for tickets since last March when we learned the game would be played here. In fact, we've had that many in the past week."

Commissionr Pete Rozelle of the NFL announced last October that the blackout that has existed for each of the first six games would be lifted if the game was sold out 10 days in advance.

The NFL announced that all 90,182 tickets — each costing $15 for a total worth of $1.35 million — were allocated. The deadline was 12:30 p.m. PST today.

The tickets sold represent seats with unobstructed views in the mammoth 93,791-seat stadium constructed for the 1932 Olympic Games. The game will be sold out for the sixth consecutive year. Only 63,036 attended the first Super Bowl which was played in Los Angeles Coliseum.

"We had only 10 days to prepare for that first game," the Coliseum spokesman said. "That's how much time we had after the site was announced. We didn't get the tickets until five days before the game."

After announcing conditions by which the blackout would be lifted for the Super Bowl, Rozelle rejected a request from President Nixon to allow local television of earlier playoffs in Washington if those games sold out 48 hours in advance.

Nixon would be able to watch Super Bowl VII from his Western White House in San Clemente now that the blackout has been lifted. The 75-mile blackout radius included San Clemente.

There was no indication the President will be in San Clemente on Super Bowl Sunday.

Packers' Devine Is Coach Of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dan Devine, who lived in the shadow of a legend while he brought the Pack back to the playoffs, Thursday was named the United Press International National Football Conference 1972 Coach of the Year.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans Saints head coach J.D. Roberts was secure in his job today for at least another year after weeks of wavering by team owner John Mecom Jr.

Mecom announced late Wednesday he had decided to keep Roberts as head coach next year despite the Saints' dismal 2-11-1 season record in 1972.

"The decision has been the product of considerable thought and research," said Mecom, who said he had spoken to dozens of other professional and college coaches, owners and players.

USF's Junior Varsity Handles Tar Cagers

Marin's Defense Falters

By LEW CODDINGTON

The University of San Francisco did not reach the nation's top 20 by recruiting bad basketball players, a fact which became apparent last night when the Dons' junior varsity soundly defeated College of Marin, 70-62, in Kentfield.

Even with their two best players gone to join the nationally-ranked varsity in Seattle, the visitors controlled the game throughout, building a 60-44 lead and never really allowing Marin to threaten. About 300 fans watched in silence.

"I've never seen a team so flat," said coach John Panagakis of his Tars, who lost for only the second time in 14 tries this season.

The game marked a homecoming of sorts for 6-foot-5 USF freshman Jim Thorne, who once played for Redwood High School in Larkspur. Thorne tossed in 12 points, 10 in the first half as the Dons pulled out to a 37-28 lead at intermission.

The game's star, however, was USF's Larry Deal, who came off the bench to score 23 points. Center Roger LaLanne added 15 and guard Chris Lawrence 12.

The Tars lapsed in an area where they usually are strong — defense — allowing LaLanne and Deal to make a number of easy inside bank shots. For variety, Deal, Lawrence and Thorne threw in jump shots from outside.

USF (8-2) shot 45 per cent from the floor for the game, making 29 shots in 65 attempts despite some early cold shooting. By contrast, Marin hit 38 per cent (28 of 73).

Guard Joe DeMaestri scored 20 points to lead the Tars. Dana La Ferriere added 14 and Wil Garner and Joe Smith 10 each.

"I hate to think what the score would have been if they (USF) had had their best players," speculated Panagakis. Stars Howard Smith and Richard Johnson stepped up to the varsity before the game.

Marin seized an early 11-6 lead, but the Dons went ahead for good midway through the first half on a jump shot by Thorne for 23-21. The lead grew to 41-30 early in the second half, and Marin couldn't get untracked long enough to score more than four straight points until USF had a 64-50 lead. A brief flurry cut the score to 64-56, but the Dons clinched the victory with a series of free throws over the final two minutes.

TEAM MARK FALLS

A Happy Finley Sees Hot Seals

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — As owner Charles O. Finley watched happily, the California Golden Seals broke their team scoring record by storming past Vancouver 11-3 Wednesday night, but all was not rosy with the outspoken Seals owner.

Rookie winger Pete Laframboise led the stampede with a four-goal performance while Ivan Boldirev and Craig Patrick added two apiece. Boldirev is coming back after an injury and could help turn things around for the Seals, who have won only seven times this season.

It was Finley's first appearance here for a hockey game this season. Only 2,702 fans joined him to see the Seals roll up their biggest score since coming west six years ago.

It was the first time in four tries that the Seals had defeated the Canucks, who had won each of the three previous meetings by one goal.

It was 3-1 after one stanza and 5-3 after two before the Seals exploded for a half-dozen tallies in the final period.

Vancouver goalie Bruce Bullock was bombarded with 44 shots after facing 53 against Boston Jan. 1. the Canucks dropped that one 8-2.

The 22-year-old Laframboise, a 190-pounder from Ottawa, who played a few moments at the end of last seash, now has 10 goals for California.

The Seals call on Montreal Saturday and Toronto Sunday.

Meanwhile, Finley blames deception regarding players' salaries by former general manager and coach Garry Young for several of his players going to the World Hockey League.

Young was not immediately available for comment.

Finley called a news conference after the Seals 11-3 romp over Vancouver Wednesday night to accuse Young of hiring "several" players at thousands of dollars more than he had told. Finley.

As an example, Finley said Young told him he signed defenseman Dick Redmond for $30,000 but said he later found out that Redmond had been signed for $80,000 the first year and $100,000 the second year.

Redmond was recently traded to the Chicago Black Hawks for Darryl Maggs. Finley did not mention any other player by name but said "several" were involved. Eleven former Seals are now playing in the WHL.

Young resigned as coach of the Seals on Nov. 7, giving ill health as the reason. He became coach after undergoing major surgery last August.

Drake '5' Rated Loop Favorites

By LEW CODDINGTON

A phalanx of good big men will provide stability and one smaller player will provide much of the fireworks during this year's Marin County Athletic League basketball season, which will open with a schedule of four games tomorrow night.

Defending champion Tamalpais High School will visit Novato, Redwood will journey to San Rafael, San Marin will drop in on Marin Catholic and Terra Linda will trek to Drake, all games beginning at 8 o'clock. Junior varsity games will precede the varsity contests at 6:45.

Drake must be rated the preseason favorite on the basis of a 11-3 won-lost record during nonleague play. The Pirates from San Anselmo have averaged 69 points a game and given up 57, and their scoring and average margin of victory are the best in Marin.

Drake has extraordinary depth, using up to 10 players effectively during the pre-season campaign. The Pirates have a well-coordinated fast break and shoot well, but they are weak in the one area where many other teams are strong — height.

Drake has only four varsity players over six feet tall, and none above 6-foot-4. The Pirates will encounter only one shorter team all year, and all the likely contenders will have a height advantage on them.

The MCAL also appears to be more balanced than in the past. The worst record of any team during non-league play was 5-8 by Tamalpais. Many coaches feel a team will be able to win the title with three defeats.

Perhaps the best player in Marin is not the tallest, however. Hoza Wright, a 6-2 senior guard from San Marin, finished second in the league in scoring last season with a 17.6 average.

Wright's skills notwithstanding, the championship probably will be won or lost under the bucket this year. Virtually every team has a player 6-4, 6-5 or taller who is also mobile.

DRAKE (11-3) — Quite a bit depends on the ability of 6-4 pivot man John Channell to make his taller opponents behave. Additional muscle underneath will be provided by 6-1 forward Greg Shw, but otherwise, the Pirates must rely on speed and sleight-of-hand.

REDWOOD (7-6) — Coach Dick Hart has pronounced his Giants "ready;; to attempt to regain the title they held for three straight years prior to 1972. Leaping 6-6 junior center Darrell Elder will be hard to contain underneath, and 6-2 wing man Mike Connor will provide stability and floor leadership.

NOVATO (5-6) — The Hornets return four starters and the top reserve off last year's team, so they are experienced and know each other well. Junior center Willie Barnes is 6-5 and a fine leaper who can also shoot from outside. Novato has had problems with its shooting this year, and must improve to win.

SAN RAFAEL (7-6) — The Bulldogs have the tallest team in the league, but also the most inexperienced, having lost all five starters and the coach from last year. Byron Stewart is the 6-7 center and he can be joined on the front line by 6-7 Pete Neuwald, 6-5 Guy Perry and/or 6-3 Dan Zitek.

SAN MARIN (6-5) — The Mustangs won only seven games of 24 all last season, so their improvement is obvious. Wright's outside potential hopefully will keep defenses from sagging on 6-5 John Tait and 6-5 Price (Skip) Starnes.

TAMALPAIS (5-8) — Bernie Schneider may coach the team, but the doctor picks the starting lineup. Versatile 6-4 forward Jared McFerrin is among the league's best when not bothered by mononucleosis, and 6-4 center Mike Dinehart is similarly valuable when not bothered by bad knees. In their absence, 6-4 Hollis Owens and 6-2 Kevin Murphy must provide inside muscle.

MARIN CATHOLIC (8-6) — With 6-4 Tom Cronin their tallest man, the Wildcats resort to a deliberate game, working hard for what coach Dave Gonsalves calls "the cheap shot." Forward Mike Mahoney may be the best sophomore in the league.

TERRA LINDA (6-8) — The Trojans have an outstanding forward, 6-4 Mark Lowey, and commit additional height with 6-6 center Brian Morey. Only Lowey was a full-time starter last year, however, so they must overcome inexperience plus what coach Bob Corley calls some problems on defense.

Sonoma Five Hosts Pair Of Loop Foes

The Sonoma State College Cossacks come home this weekend in search of their first Far Western Conference basketball victory in three years and a starting center when they face Chico State College and University of California, Davis tomorrow and Saturday nights at 8 o'clock.

The Cossacks (4-4) have just completed a one-month road trip last weekend with one win and two losses in the Rogue Valley Invitational in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

"Both games should be tough this weekend," Joel Spear, Sonoma State sports information director, commented. "As a matter of fact, all our games in the Far Western Conference are going to be tough."

They will be made tougher still by the disclosure last night that the Cossacks' starting center, 6-foot-6 Ron Johnson, has been declared ineligible for the season, due to a grade technicality at Pasadena City College, which he attended last year.

Johnson has been hitting 56 per cent of his shots from the floor and better than 75 per cent from the free throw line while averaging 15 points per game. "This is really going to hurt us," Spear lamented.

With either George Schandelmier or Bill Belander in the pivot, the Cossacks host a 5-4 Chico Wildcat aggregation tomorrow night. Led by 6-7 center Mark Harski, the Wildcats are a running team with five starters averaging in double figures.

On the bench, Chico also has 6-7 Arlandes Lee, who made All-Tournament at the Wildcats' Invitational.

Saturday night, the Cossacks face the deceiving Davis Aggies. The Aggies pre-league record was 1-7, but they opened up with five games on the road against the like of the University of Missouri, Southern Illinois University and the University of the Pacific.

Davis is led by 6-foot guard Gary Fox, who's averaging about 12 points per game, 6-7 sophomore center Dan Dowling from San Bruno and 6-5 Manny Cranford.

Terra Linda Is Grappling Pick

By LEW CODDINGTON

For the second year in a row, Terra Linda High School apparently has the team to beat in Marin County Athletic League wrestling.

Trojan coach Bob Hetherington is understandably reluctant to concede the point, however, since last year when he had the team to beat, somebody beat him.

In fact, MCAL wrestling the past two years has been the exclusive domain of the two schools in the San Rafael City Schools. San Rafael upset Terra Linda in the key, season-ending match of unbeaten teams last season, 31-28, but Trojan wrestlers turned in better performances in the MCAL meet. The year before, Terra Linda won the dual-meet schedule and San Rafael shone brighter in the league meet.

This year, Terra Linda will have two league champions returning — Mark Egide, who won at 106 and has stepped up to 112, and Mike Weinstein, up to 120 after winning at 115.

In addition, the deep Trojans have Reggie Grant (135), Tim Bennett and Steve Runchy (both 154), Bob Spain (175), Ron Losk (191) and Jon Loberg (unlimited) as standouts.

"I hope we'll do well. We hope to contend. We have some very good boys," is all Hetherington would say, however.

The season gets underway with two matches tomorrow, Novato visitng San Rafael and Terra Linda journeying to Drake, both at 6:30 p.m. Tamalpais and Redwood switched their match to Jan. 23. San Marin draws a bye and Marin Catholic does not have a team.

There will be one and a half new coaches in the league this year. Chris Alvarado, a student teacher in English at San Rafael, takes over the defending champions from Larry Lack, who is assisting him.

At San Marin, Bob Martin has taken over for Bill Graves. Martin is only half new, having guided the grapplers four years ago.

For the first time since MCAL wrestling started, five-time champion Novato does not expect to have a strong team. "We only have 20 or 25 kids out, and most of them are beginners," said Hornet coach Ralph Cutler. Kurt Belter (112) was the 98-pound champion a year ago, and Al Christman (138) is experienced, but beyond that Novato is thin and young.

San Marin also suffers from inexperience. Martin expects his top performers to be Dave Jensvold (112), Tim Lessley (165), Brian Saling (175), Steve Fowler (191) and Hal Wood (unlimited). Five of the 13 varsity starters will be sophomores, however.

Redwood "will have a good club this year," according to coach Wes Price. His top grapplers figure to be Doug Frager (154), Peder Pederson (145), Don Littman (112) and either Said Farah or Transfer Jamie King at 95.

Tamalpais returns league champion Craig Marshall (177) and topnotcher Alvin Price (145), and expects to improve on last year's performance, even though the team prematurely lost both star Fords from last year. Three-time league champion Greg (103) took extra courses and graduated early, while Jerry (127) suffered a broken neck during football season, from which he is recovering without complication, coach Dennis Untermann reports.

San Rafael returns 154-pounder Mike Milbauer, who won the league at 141 last year. Lack expects the Bulldogs to finish third or fourth.

Drake's second-year team more than doubled its turnout, from 13 to 29, and coach Imants Abers expects improvement on the mat. The Pirates return their most valuable wrestler from last year, Marvin (Corky) Ingraham at 177.

The season gets underway with two matches tomorrow, Novato visitng San Rafael and Terra Linda journeying to Drake, both at 6:30 p.m. Tamalpais and Redwood switched their match to Jan. 23. San Marin draws a bye and Marin Catholic does not have a team.

There will be one and a half new coaches in the league this year. Chris Alvarado, a student teacher in English at San Rafael, takes over the defending champions from Larry Lack, who is assisting him.

At San Marin, Bob Martin has taken over for Bill Graves. Martin is only half new, having guided the grapplers four years ago.

For the first time since MCAL wrestling started, five-time champion Novato does not expect to have a strong team. "We only have 20 or 25 kids out, and most of them are beginners," said Hornet coach Ralph Cutler. Kurt Belter (112) was the 98-pound champion a year ago, and Al Christman (138) is experienced, but beyond that Novato is thin and young.

San Marin also suffers from inexperience. Martin expects his top performers to be Dave Jensvold (112), Tim Lessley (165), Brian Saling (175), Steve Fowler (191) and Hal Wood (unlimited). Five of the 13 varsity starters will be sophomores, however.

Redwood "will have a good club this year," according to coach Wes Price. His top grapplers figure to be Doug Frager (154), Peder Pederson (145), Don Littman (112) and either Said Farah or Transfer Jamie King at 95.

Tamalpais returns league champion Craig Marshall (177) and topnotcher Alvin Price (145), and expects to improve on last year's performance, even though the team prematurely lost both star Fords from last year. Three-time league champion Greg (103) took extra courses and graduated early, while Jerry (127) suffered a broken neck during football season, from which he is recovering without complication, coach Dennis Untermann reports.

San Rafael returns 154-pounder Mike Milbauer, who won the league at 141 last year. Lack expects the Bulldogs to finish third or fourth.

Drake's second-year team more than doubled its turnout, from 13 to 29, and coach Imants Abers expects improvement on the mat. The Pirates return their most valuable wrestler from last year, Marvin (Corky) Ingraham at 177.

Slide And Rose: A Good Combo

By CHARLIE COANE

Slide Mountain and Mount Rose have been back-to-back for many years. In fact, you could get off at the top of one area and ski down into the other. Unfortunately, in past years that move would not be wise, as there was no working relationship between areas. Each area was separate and that was that. Skiers often wondered why they didn't combine forces.

Well, with a few management changes here and there, and in trying to keep pace with the growing interest in skiing, Mount Rose and Slide combined forces two years ago. They still operate under separate management, but for skiers it's one big area now. A combo ticket can be purchased at either place.

Standing alone, neither Slide nor Rose was considered a large resort, yet both had some fine runs. But together, with nine chair lifts to choose from the combo area has become quite formidable.

The main advantage of Slide and Mount Rose is the elevation: 8,200 feet at the lodge is the highest around, and they peak at 9,700 feet — not the highest, but close to it. Generally speaking, this elevation should give the areas better snow conditions — the higher, the drier, etc. This can be especially true during the Spring.

Another item that many skiers pick up on is the location of the sun relative to Slide and Rose. Being back-to-back, the areas face different directions. Without going into the routine on rotation of earth and its effect on the sun, let it suffice to say that Slide gets the most sun in the mornings and Mount Rose catches the rays in the afternoons. This can certainly be used to an advantage in trying to find the best skiing conditions.

This year, both areas have night skiing. Yes, with lights. Slide lights up the poma slope and about half of the Overland Chairlift, Tuesday through Sunday until 10 p.m. Mount Rose began skiing under the stars midway through last season and continues the effort this season each Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 7 - 10 p.m.

Slide also added snow-making equipment to the lower bowl this season. "This, along with removal of all large rocks and planting of grass last summer," reports new manager Cliff Wordal, "will help general snow conditions and improve in late Spring."

Boating Safety Courses

It is said that "some of the best things in life are free." One such example is the free boating safety lecture course presented by the Marin County chapter of the United States Power Squadron.

This 13-week lecture course has three Marin County locations and starts Tuesday, Jan. 30, in the San Rafael High School cafeteria. Redwood High hosts the same program in Rooms 200-203 Wednesday, Jan. 31, and Novato High begins in its lecture series on Thursday, Feb. 1 in its auditorium. The classes run from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Signups will be taken at the three locales during the first session.

In explaining the importance of the course, San Rafael High boating safety program chairman Allen F. Livers Sr. pointed out: "Boaters must know the ground rules of Mother Nature to prevent needless boating fatalities. We're trying to spread the fundamentals (of power and sail boating safety) into as many hands as possible.

"We wouldn't want people to go out in weather that is too rough for the boat. We also want them to know the rules of the road" when boating.

Class topics include: handling under normal conditions; handling under adverse conditions; seamanship and common emergencies; rules of the road; aids to navigation; compass and chart familiarization; running lights and equipment; boat trailering; river boating; and mariner's compass and piloting.

Pirates Pay Respect To 'Friend' Clemente

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The fluorescent marquis atop Mount Washington shone hazy red through a steady winter drizzle, gracing an abandoned Three Rivers Stadium far below with the words, "Adios Amigo Roberto."

Pittsburgh Pirates Public Relations Director Bill Guilfoyle stepped out into the chill, the last man out of the lonely clubhouse, on his way home to pack up for today's quick, somber flight to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"Well, so long," Guilfoyle said, glancing up at the glowing red letters. "Come on back when we have something more pleasant to talk about."

Twenty-seven Pirates and their saddened entourage took off for San Juan today, bearing their final respects to the family of the late Roberto Cemente and a personal commitment from the President of the United States for the establishment of the national Roberto Clemente Memorial Fund.

President Nixon summed Pirate President John Galbreath and pitchers Steve Blass and Dave Giusti to the White House Wednesday and inaugurated the fund with a $1,000 contribution to earthquake devastated Nicaragua in the Pirate hero's name.

"The entire Pirate club was so stunned by Roberto's death that we really kept asking outselves what could we do— what should we do?" Galbreath said from an easy chair at the clubhouse, just four hours after leaving the President' oval office in Washington.

Clemente died New Year's Eve off the eastern shore of Puerto Rico amid the wreckage of a cargo plane bearing supplies to the shattered city of Managua—a project the superstar coordinated for his native Puerto Rican government.

Two Marin Champs In Oakland Car Show

Two San Rafael competitors hold sweepstakes titles going into the 25th National Roadster Show Feb. 16-25 at the Oakland Coliseum, producer Al Slonaker said today.

We're trying to spread the fundamentals (of power and sail boating safety) into as many hands as possible.

"We wouldn't want people to go out in weather that is too rough for the boat. We also want them to know the rules of the road" when boating.

Class topics include: handling under normal conditions; handling under adverse conditions; seamanship and common emergencies; rules of the road; aids to navigation; compass and chart familiarization; running lights and equipment; boat trailering; river boating; and mariner's compass and piloting.

Pirates Pay Respect To 'Friend' Clemente

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The fluorescent marquis atop Mount Washington shone hazy red through a steady winter drizzle, gracing an abandoned Three Rivers Stadium far below with the words, "Adios Amigo Roberto."

Pittsburgh Pirates Public Relations Director Bill Guilfoyle stepped out into the chill, the last man out of the lonely clubhouse, on his way home to pack up for today's quick, somber flight to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"Well, so long," Guilfoyle said, glancing up at the glowing red letters. "Come on back when we have something more pleasant to talk about."

Twenty-seven Pirates and their saddened entourage took off for San Juan today, bearing their final respects to the family of the late Roberto Cemente and a personal commitment from the President of the United States for the establishment of the national Roberto Clemente Memorial Fund.

President Nixon summed Pirate President John Galbreath and pitchers Steve Blass and Dave Giusti to the White House Wednesday and inaugurated the fund with a $1,000 contribution to earthquake devastated Nicaragua in the Pirate hero's name.

"The entire Pirate club was so stunned by Roberto's death that we really kept asking outselves what could we do— what should we do?" Galbreath said from an easy chair at the clubhouse, just four hours after leaving the President' oval office in Washington.

Clemente died New Year's Eve off the eastern shore of Puerto Rico amid the wreckage of a cargo plane bearing supplies to the shattered city of Managua—a project the superstar coordinated for his native Puerto Rican government.

Two Marin Champs In Oakland Car Show

Two San Rafael competitors hold sweepstakes titles going into the 25th National Roadster Show Feb. 16-25 at the Oakland Coliseum, producer Al Slonaker said today.

Olympics Site Decision Due

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — The United States Olympic Committee was to make known today its choice for the 1976 Winter Games as the nation's alternate to Denver.

Lake Placid, N.Y., Salt Lake City and two Lake Tahoe resort areas have made formal bids for the Games which Denver rejected in a November referendum for reasons of economy and ecology.

The USOC selection will be recommended to the International Olympic Committee whose executive committee will make the final decision in Lausanne, Switzerland next month. Several cities outside the United States also have bid to replace Denver as the site of the Winter Games.

In another Olympic development, the American Broadcasting Co. announced Wednesday it had bought the U.S. television rights to the 1976 Summer Games at Montreal for an unprecedented $25 million.

Football

STANFORD — Bob Jones, offensive coordinator of Stanford University's football staff, resigned Wednesday in order to make himself available for a head coaching position.

In announcing Jones' resignation, Stanford athletic director Joe Ruetz said that the vacancy will probably be filled by someone presently on the Stanford staff.

NEW YORK — Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins, who ran around and over waves of tacklers, and Mean Joe Greene, who made waves of tackles, were named today The Associated Press Players of the Year in the National Football League.

TAMPA, Fla. — Dennis Fryzel, 31, Wednesday was named to succeed Earle Bruce as the fourth football coach at the University of Tampa in four seasons. Bruce has become head coach at Iowa State of the Big-Eight Conference.

A native of Cleveland, Fryzel played his college ball at Denison University where he was a defensive standout. He came to Tampa last spring as defensive coordinator when Bruce came here from Ohio State.

Golf

NEW YORK — The Professional Golfers Association announced the establishment of the World Open Golf Championship, worth a record $500,000 with $100,000 going to the winner.

Tennis

BOSTON — Australians John Newcombe and Margaret Court won the men's and women's singles titles Wednesday in the Australian Open to take an early lead in the $400,000 1973 Commercial Union Grand Prix of Tennis.

Newcombe, a three-time Wimbledon champion, defeated Onny Parun of New Zealand, 6-3, 6-7, 7-5, 6-1, and Mrs. Court picked up her 11th Australian title by knocking off fellow Australian Evonne Goolagong 6-4, 7-5.

Most Yardage

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —The record for most yards total offense in a single game for Michigan State football is the 698 yards picked up by the Spartans in their 1971 game at Purdue.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Home On The Range

By LEE TREVINO

I'm partial to driving ranges as a place to practice. Practicing can be a bore. But on a range we used to play various games to keep it interesting. So can you and your friends.

We'd shoot at yardage markers for a quarter. The closest to the sign won two bits apiece. Or we'd try to hit a ball between the two posts on a yard marker for a dollar.

Not everyone has a dollar. Neither did we. But we were learning how to hit low, straight shots. We tried everything with a ball except kicking it.

Most people try to hit practice balls in the air, pretty-like. Or they try to hit 'em close to the caddy so he won't have to walk too far. That's no good.

They don't care how you spray 'em on a driving range. Hit 'em high, low, low hook, high fade, low fade, high hook, low straight, the whole smear. That's PRACTICING.

The pretty shot isn't the one that climbs gracefully into the air, then falls by the caddy. It's the one that hooks, fades, goes straight — low or high — when you want it to.

Golf Veteran Snead Plays Like A Youth

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Veteran Sam Snead, at 60 still playing like a youngster, picked up $500 Wednesday for the best individual score, a 68, in the pro-amateur prelude to the $135,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open.

Snead was three-under-par at the Riviera Country Club where par is 35-36--71.

Lenny Thompson, South Carolina pro, also had a 68 but his was on the easier Bel-Air Country Club course and was only two-under-par. Bel-Air par is 35-35--70. Thompson also won $500.

Dolphins' Quarterback Pick: Griese

MIAMI (UPI) — Washington Redskins Coach George Allen doesn't have to wonder any more. Bob Griese will start at quarterback for the Miami Dolphins in Super Bowl VII.

Unlike Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who waited until late in the game week to announce whether Roger Staubach or Craig Morton would start against Washington last Sunday, Shula announced his decision 10 days in advance.

"I don't believe in going to the wire with an announcement of this type," said Shula of his choice of Griese over the 38-year-old Earl Morrall. "You don't play games with people the stature of a Morrall or a Griese," Shula said.

Morrall, picked up on waivers from Baltimore last off-season, stepped in for Griese Oct. 15 when the younger quarterback broke and dislocated his ankle.

Morrall led Miami to 11 of its 16 victories this year until yielding to Griese in the second half of Miami's AFC championship win over Pittsburgh Sunday.

"I have tremendous personal feeling for Earl," said Shula. "Nothing but respect and admiration for him as a man. But I also have to sit down and evaluate the situation, and then do what is in the best interests of winning this ball game.

"I feel Bob now is healthy, as he demonstrated in the second half against Pittsburgh," Shula said.

PREP NOTEBOOK

Veteran Wrestling Coach Disappointed By Turnout

By LEW CODDINGTON

The disappointment in Ralph Cutler's voice was keen. If you can transmit a frown through telephone wires, he was doing it.

"The number of kids who have been coming out has been decreasing every year," Novato High's wrestling coach was saying. "We used to have 50 or 60 left at the end of the season. Now we have 20 or 25 out at the start."

Cutler's problem is not unique in the Marin County Athletic League, although it is more disappointing since he brought the sport to Marin high schools and once coached five consecutive MCAL champions.

Redwood and Terra Linda reported improved turnouts over last year, but the number of students did not match the totals of previous years. Drake's second-year program also reported a jump and Tamalpais remained about the same, but the problem is more severe in the Novato schools than elsewhere.

"The junior high setup here is not conducive to this kind of team sport," Cutler said. There is no junior high wrestling in Novato, and both San Marin and Novato high schools begin in the 10th grade, so sophomores who come out for wrestling may find themselves a couple of years behind their counterparts from other schools.

RALPH CUTLER
Novato coach

Of course, this is true of football and basketball players and everybody else in Novato, but there are other outlets for those sports. Every playground has a hoop and a backboard, but wrestling mats are few and far between.

Wrestling has other problems, too. It is not a "glamor" sport, and is plagued with low crowds, unenthusiastic student body response, and the lack of a college or professional future.

The shifting of water polo from winter to fall, leaving only basketball and wrestling for the winter, has done nothing to help the mat sport. Water polo players are unlikely to go out for wrestling, preferring instead to practice swimming, Cutler said.

San Marin High's grapplers must share facilities in the student center with girls gymnastics and the drama department, coach Bob Martin reported. Sharing facilities, in fact, is a way of life at San Marin, which also lacks a swimming pool and uses Novato's.

TRUCKIN' — It's been that kind of season for Tamalpais High's basketball team. On the way to Napa last Friday for a game, the bus broke down. The junior varsity team found a way to the game and was sent ahead, but the varsity straggled in late, and the varsity contest didn't end until 10:30 p.m.

Center Mike Dinehart, playing his first game after coming back from a knee ailment, scored the winning basket in that contest. Tam's other injured star, Jared McFerrin, sank the winner earlier last month against Lowell of San Francisco — in only his second game after coming back. They may not play much, but they're effective when they do.

Olympics Site Decision Due

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — The United States Olympic Committee was to make known today its choice for the 1976 Winter Games as the nation's alternate to Denver.

Lake Placid, N.Y., Salt Lake City and two Lake Tahoe resort areas have made formal bids for the Games which Denver rejected in a November referendum for reasons of economy and ecology.

The USOC selection will be recommended to the International Olympic Committee whose executive committee will make the final decision in Lausanne, Switzerland next month. Several cities outside the United States also have bid to replace Denver as the site of the Winter Games.

In another Olympic development, the American Broadcasting Co. announced Wednesday it had bought the U.S. television rights to the 1976 Summer Games at Montreal for an unprecedented $25 million.

Football

STANFORD — Bob Jones, offensive coordinator of Stanford University's football staff, resigned Wednesday in order to make himself available for a head coaching position.

In announcing Jones' resignation, Stanford athletic director Joe Ruetz said that the vacancy will probably be filled by someone presently on the Stanford staff.

NEW YORK — Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins, who ran around and over waves of tacklers, and Mean Joe Greene, who made waves of tackles, were named today The Associated Press Players of the Year in the National Football League.

TAMPA, Fla. — Dennis Fryzel, 31, Wednesday was named to succeed Earle Bruce as the fourth football coach at the University of Tampa in four seasons. Bruce has become head coach at Iowa State of the Big-Eight Conference.

A native of Cleveland, Fryzel played his college ball at Denison University where he was a defensive standout. He came to Tampa last spring as defensive coordinator when Bruce came here from Ohio State.

Golf

NEW YORK — The Professional Golfers Association announced the establishment of the World Open Golf Championship, worth a record $500,000 with $100,000 going to the winner.

Tennis

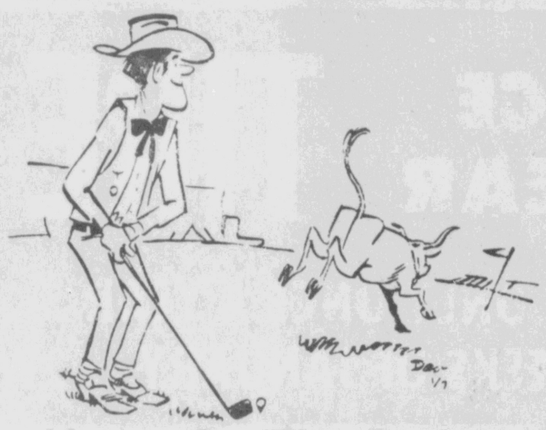
BOSTON — Australians John Newcombe and Margaret Court won the men's and women's singles titles Wednesday in the Australian Open to take an early lead in the $400,000 1973 Commercial Union Grand Prix of Tennis.

Newcombe, a three-time Wimbledon champion, defeated Onny Parun of New Zealand, 6-3, 6-7, 7-5, 6-1, and Mrs. Court picked up her 11th Australian title by knocking off fellow Australian Evonne Goolagong 6-4, 7-5.

Most Yardage

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —The record for most yards total offense in a single game for Michigan State football is the 698 yards picked up by the Spartans in their 1971 game at Purdue.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF



Home On The Range

By LEE TREVINO

I'm partial to driving ranges as a place to practice. Practicing can be a bore. But on a range we used to play various games to keep it interesting. So can you and your friends.

We'd shoot at yardage markers for a quarter. The closest to the sign won two bits apiece. Or we'd try to hit a ball between the two posts on a yard marker for a dollar.

Not everyone has a dollar. Neither did we. But we were learning how to hit low, straight shots. We tried everything with a ball except kicking it.

Most people try to hit practice balls in the air, pretty-like. Or they try to hit 'em close to the caddy so he won't have to walk too far. That's no good.

They don't care how you spray 'em on a driving range. Hit 'em high, low, low hook, high fade, low fade, high hook, low straight, the whole smear. That's PRACTICING.

The pretty shot isn't the one that climbs gracefully into the air, then falls by the caddy. It's the one that hooks, fades, goes straight — low or high — when you want it to.

Golf Veteran Snead Plays Like A Youth

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Veteran Sam Snead, at 60 still playing like a youngster, picked up $500 Wednesday for the best individual score, a 68, in the pro-amateur prelude to the $135,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open.

Snead was three-under-par at the Riviera Country Club where par is 35-36--71.

Lenny Thompson, South Carolina pro, also had a 68 but his was on the easier Bel-Air Country Club course and was only two-under-par. Bel-Air par is 35-35--70. Thompson also won $500.

Dolphins' Quarterback Pick: Griese

MIAMI (UPI) — Washington Redskins Coach George Allen doesn't have to wonder any more. Bob Griese will start at quarterback for the Miami Dolphins in Super Bowl VII.

Unlike Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who waited until late in the game week to announce whether Roger Staubach or Craig Morton would start against Washington last Sunday, Shula announced his decision 10 days in advance.

"I don't believe in going to the wire with an announcement of this type," said Shula of his choice of Griese over the 38-year-old Earl Morrall. "You don't play games with people the stature of a Morrall or a Griese," Shula said.

Morrall, picked up on waivers from Baltimore last off-season, stepped in for Griese Oct. 15 when the younger quarterback broke and dislocated his ankle.

Morrall led Miami to 11 of its 16 victories this year until yielding to Griese in the second half of Miami's AFC championship win over Pittsburgh Sunday.

"I have tremendous personal feeling for Earl," said Shula. "Nothing but respect and admiration for him as a man. But I also have to sit down and evaluate the situation, and then do what is in the best interests of winning this ball game.

"I feel Bob now is healthy, as he demonstrated in the second half against Pittsburgh," Shula said.

Veteran Wrestling Coach Disappointed By Turnout

By LEW CODDINGTON

The disappointment in Ralph Cutler's voice was keen. If you can transmit a frown through telephone wires, he was doing it.

"The number of kids who have been coming out has been decreasing every year," Novato High's wrestling coach was saying. "We used to have 50 or 60 left at the end of the season. Now we have 20 or 25 out at the start."

Cutler's problem is not unique in the Marin County Athletic League, although it is more disappointing since he brought the sport to Marin high schools and once coached five consecutive MCAL champions.

Redwood and Terra Linda reported improved turnouts over last year, but the number of students did not match the totals of previous years. Drake's second-year program also reported a jump and Tamalpais remained about the same, but the problem is more severe in the Novato schools than elsewhere.

"The junior high setup here is not conducive to this kind of team sport," Cutler said. There is no junior high wrestling in Novato, and both San Marin and Novato high schools begin in the 10th grade, so sophomores who come out for wrestling may find themselves a couple of years behind their counterparts from other schools.

RALPH CUTLER
Novato coach

Of course, this is true of football and basketball players and everybody else in Novato, but there are other outlets for those sports. Every playground has a hoop and a backboard, but wrestling mats are few and far between.

Wrestling has other problems, too. It is not a "glamor" sport, and is plagued with low crowds, unenthusiastic student body response, and the lack of a college or professional future.

The shifting of water polo from winter to fall, leaving only basketball and wrestling for the winter, has done nothing to help the mat sport. Water polo players are unlikely to go out for wrestling, preferring instead to practice swimming, Cutler said.

San Marin High's grapplers must share facilities in the student center with girls gymnastics and the drama department, coach Bob Martin reported. Sharing facilities, in fact, is a way of life at San Marin, which also lacks a swimming pool and uses Novato's.

TRUCKIN' — It's been that kind of season for Tamalpais High's basketball team. On the way to Napa last Friday for a game, the bus broke down. The junior varsity team found a way to the game and was sent ahead, but the varsity straggled in late, and the varsity contest didn't end until 10:30 p.m.

Center Mike Dinehart, playing his first game after coming back from a knee ailment, scored the winning basket in that contest. Tam's other injured star, Jared McFerrin, sank the winner earlier last month against Lowell of San Francisco — in only his second game after coming back. They may not play much, but they're effective when they do.

Chain Store Stock Will Make Recovery

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased 200 shares of Dillard Department Stores on the AMEX as a growth stock. Other retail issues have been going up but the market seems to be ignoring this stock even though its growth has been rapid. I now have a six-point loss and would appreciate your comments. — A.S.

A. Dillard's five-year average growth rate, at 10 per cent annually, is better than nine of the 12 leading retail department store chains. Market evaluation of the shares, however, as measured by the price earnings multiple, is one of the lowest in the industry at only 12x. This may reflect the company's comparatively narrow margin of profit. For the fiscal nine months through October, Dillard was able to take only 1.8 per cent of sales down to earnings. In 1971, department store chains averaged a 3.2 per cent profit margin, whereas Dillard achieved a modest 2.2 per cent.

The company operates a chain of 24 stores located throughout the Southwest. In recent years the company has replaced older, small retail units with large full service stores. In 1972, four outlets were opened and three phased out. Three suburban stores will be opened this year. While opening costs have cut into near term profits, over the long range, the more efficient larger units should allow a higher percentage takedown from sales. Hold for recovery.

Q. At what age are paid-up annunity and mutual fund withdrawals advisable? I'll receive minimum Social Security benefits and no pension. — R.D.

A. Whenever you stop work you'll need your annuity payments to supplement Social Security income. Postpone withdrawals from your mutual fund as long as possible to build your investment to its peak potential. Meantime call in your fund representative to advise you how best to fit withdrawals to your needs. Fund withdrawals are flexible income supplements but will consume principal if set too high. As a general rule of thumb, if withdrawals are limited to 6 per cent to 8 per cent capital inroads are insignificant.

Canvass Of Businesses Starts Soon

The next canvass of the nation's manufacturing and business firms — the Economic Censuses — will get under way this month and will cover calendar 1972.

The censuses, to be conducted by the Bureau of the Census, a part of the United States Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration, will update statistics on America's manufacturing, mining, transportation, retail trade and other business activities.

Due date for the return of the mailed out questionnaires is Feb. 15. The Economic Censuses now are taken at five year intervals and cover the years ending in "2" and "7".

As in the past censuses, all firms canvassed will be asked to provide such information as the number of employees, payrolls and value of sales and or shipments.

The census law protects the privacy of all information reported to the Census Bureau.

Hub Chamber Puts Out Shopping Map

A new brochure-map inviting shoppers and businesses to San Anselmo has just been publishd by the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the city.

William Trewhella, 1972 manager of the chamber, said 10,000 copies were printed during the Christmas season, and another 15,000 will be added for wide public circulation.

The attractive folder reflects the signs of the times in downtown San Anselmo with photographs and a brief text describing the city as "A new experience in shopping ... Quaint little boutiques and specialty shops pleasantly intermingled among the traditional type stores ... With free parking (no meters!)."

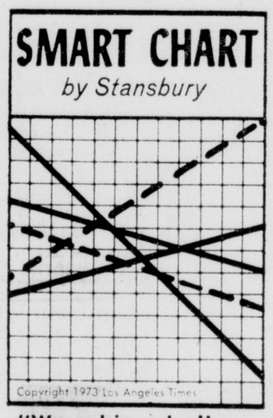
"It's the first time that we produced a brochure on one side with a map on the other," said Trewhella. Kenneth Ball was 1972 president of the San Anselmo Chamber. James F. Reed will succeed him as president this year.



"We achieved all our year-end objectives. Unfortunately they were the wrong objectives."

Leader Dies

TORONTO (UPI) — George A. Drew, former premier of Ontario and leader of the Canadian Progressive Conservative party, died today in a Toronto hospital. He was 78.

Market Starts Sluggish After Three Good Days

Analysts said the market was somewhat overbought, having moved sharply higher in the last three days. The Dow has climbed about 36 points since last Friday. However, the economic factors leading to the advance still are present, analysts said.

In the news, a U. S. representative in Paris said the problems preventing a Vietnam peace treaty will exist for sometime, but this year will be the last phase of both the war and the negotiations.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in moderately active trading.

New Shops Are Being Opened In San Anselmo's Lansdale Area

Toneff

Niggeman

The "Whatever" antique and jewelry store at 1509 San Anselmo Avenue has been taken over by Robert B. Taylor, San Geronimo jeweler, and his wife, Peggy Taylor, a seamstress. The Taylors bought it from Mrs. Marian Feehery of Forest Knolls, who owned the shop for about a year and a half. "Whatever" carries antique clothes, handcrafts, and jewelry, many of them made by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. It is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The shop next door, at 1511 San Anselmo Avenue, will be a new silver jewelry store to be operated by John Sabo, who is partner in The Post, a jewelry store at 391 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley. Sabo and his partner, James Shelley of San Anselmo, opened The Post about six months ago.

Sabo said his partner will probably continue with The Post, and he (Sabo) plans to establish the San Anselmo shop on his own.

Sabo is a painter, metal sculptor and jewelrymaker specializing in silver. He has not decided as yet on the name of his new shop. "I'd like to see this area (Lansdale shopping area) fixed up with extensive use of redwood," said Sabo. "I think it can be an attractive shopping area."

Another new shop planned in the same block is a furniture repair and refinishing store called Compleate Refinishing Kit, which will open at 1525 San Anselmo Avenue. Christopher Frederick Mosden of Ross plans to open the Compleate Refinishing Kit in space formerly occupied by Andromeda dress shop, which moved to 425 San Anselmo Avenue in downtown San Anselmo.

ROBERT A. (BOB) TONEFF, tackle for the San Francisco Forty-Niners, is the new Dodge dealer in San Rafael.

Toneff, who took over as general manager of Marin Dodge Inc. at 1075 Francisco Boulevard, announced that his sales manager will be Daryl Richardson of Millbrae.

A resident of Sleepy Hollow, Toneff has been in the automobile business for 15 years, and his new sales manager has had 20 years of experience in the field. The other personnel at Marin Dodge remain the same.

Former dealer Len Hughston quit the agency last November.

FIREMAN'S FUND American Insurance Companies will break ground Monday morning on its new multimillion-dollar computer center at Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101. Following the groundbreaking, chairman Louis W. Niggeman will describe the new facility at a Rotary Club luncheon at The Medallion restaurant in San Rafael.

THE LACQUER CHANNEL Inc. (TLC), the new disc mastering service at the Bridgeway Plaza, 2829 Bridgeway in Sausalito, has added a new service for the community at large.

If you or your church or school wants to have records made for personal use or for sale, The Lacquer Channel will handle all the details.

Just record your choir, band, soloist etc. and take the tape to TLC. Pamela Strickland will help select labels, jackets and special needs, and Trent Strickland will edit the tapes and make the first master disc. You can get as many records as you need, jacketed and ready for sale.

GRAF VAN & Storage has been appointed San Rafael agent for Four Winds Forwarding Inc. of San Diego, an international mover of household goods in containers.

Graf Van & Storage, located at 174 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park, will represent Four Winds Forwarding in the San Rafael and Hamilton Air Force Base areas.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Chain Store Stock Will Make Recovery

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased 200 shares of Dillard Department Stores on the AMEX as a growth stock. Other retail issues have been going up but the market seems to be ignoring this stock even though its growth has been rapid. I now have a six-point loss and would appreciate your comments. — A.S.

A. Dillard's five-year average growth rate, at 10 per cent annually, is better than nine of the 12 leading retail department store chains. Market evaluation of the shares, however, as measured by the price earnings multiple, is one of the lowest in the industry at only 12x. This may reflect the company's comparatively narrow margin of profit. For the fiscal nine months through October, Dillard was able to take only 1.8 per cent of sales down to earnings. In 1971, department store chains averaged a 3.2 per cent profit margin, whereas Dillard achieved a modest 2.2 per cent.

The company operates a chain of 24 stores located throughout the Southwest. In recent years the company has replaced older, small retail units with large full service stores. In 1972, four outlets were opened and three phased out. Three suburban stores will be opened this year. While opening costs have cut into near term profits, over the long range, the more efficient larger units should allow a higher percentage takedown from sales. Hold for recovery.

Q. At what age are paid-up annunity and mutual fund withdrawals advisable? I'll receive minimum Social Security benefits and no pension. — R.D.

A. Whenever you stop work you'll need your annuity payments to supplement Social Security income. Postpone withdrawals from your mutual fund as long as possible to build your investment to its peak potential. Meantime call in your fund representative to advise you how best to fit withdrawals to your needs. Fund withdrawals are flexible income supplements but will consume principal if set too high. As a general rule of thumb, if withdrawals are limited to 6 per cent to 8 per cent capital inroads are insignificant.

TRIUMPH GT-6

Power assisted front disc brakes, wider rear track and tinted glass all-around are the key features of the 1973 GT-6 fastback coupe. The six-cylinder sports car also has interior modifications including improved seats and instrument graphics. Brown Motors Inc. of San Rafael is the Marin dealer.

Canvass Of Businesses Starts Soon

The next canvass of the nation's manufacturing and business firms — the Economic Censuses — will get under way this month and will cover calendar 1972.

The censuses, to be conducted by the Bureau of the Census, a part of the United States Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration, will update statistics on America's manufacturing, mining, transportation, retail trade and other business activities.

Due date for the return of the mailed out questionnaires is Feb. 15. The Economic Censuses now are taken at five year intervals and cover the years ending in "2" and "7".

As in the past censuses, all firms canvassed will be asked to provide such information as the number of employees, payrolls and value of sales and or shipments.

The census law protects the privacy of all information reported to the Census Bureau.

Hub Chamber Puts Out Shopping Map

A new brochure-map inviting shoppers and businesses to San Anselmo has just been publishd by the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the city.

William Trewhella, 1972 manager of the chamber, said 10,000 copies were printed during the Christmas season, and another 15,000 will be added for wide public circulation.

The attractive folder reflects the signs of the times in downtown San Anselmo with photographs and a brief text describing the city as "A new experience in shopping ... Quaint little boutiques and specialty shops pleasantly intermingled among the traditional type stores ... With free parking (no meters!)."

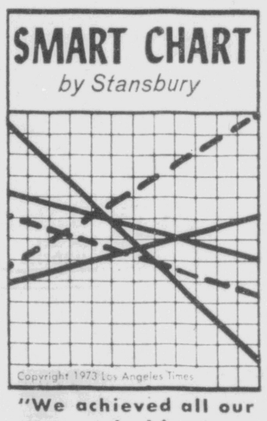
"It's the first time that we produced a brochure on one side with a map on the other," said Trewhella. Kenneth Ball was 1972 president of the San Anselmo Chamber. James F. Reed will succeed him as president this year.



"We achieved all our year-end objectives. Unfortunately they were the wrong objectives."

Leader Dies

TORONTO (UPI) — George A. Drew, former premier of Ontario and leader of the Canadian Progressive Conservative party, died today in a Toronto hospital. He was 78.

Market Starts Sluggish After Three Good Days

Analysts said the market was somewhat overbought, having moved sharply higher in the last three days. The Dow has climbed about 36 points since last Friday. However, the economic factors leading to the advance still are present, analysts said.

In the news, a U. S. representative in Paris said the problems preventing a Vietnam peace treaty will exist for sometime, but this year will be the last phase of both the war and the negotiations.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in moderately active trading.

The Ever-Changing Makeup Of Cells

How can some cells in the human body change their chemical output according to the body's needs? Why are some bacteria able to live on any of several different food sources? How does any cell regulate its own internal chemistry?

A mass of experimental observations on this subject had been puzzling scientists for years. Then, in 1961, two French scientists announced a comprehensive theory to explain the data.

When the two men did their work, this much was already known: the cell's genes, made up of a chemical called DNA, contain the codes for the structures of various proteins, and other machinery exists in the cell to read the codes and produce the proteins. These proteins, which are special ones called enzymes, then initiate the cell's chemical reactions with its environment. The question in 1961 was, how does the cell regulate the quantity of each enzyme it produces?

The two scientists, Francois Jacob and Jacques Monod, put forward the idea that some of the genes had regulatory, rather than productive functions. These genes code for special products that can stimulate or inhibit the machinery for enzyme production. Jacob and Monod indicated that a separate regulatory system like this may exist for each enzyme produced by the cell.

So important were the implications of this theory, and so rapidly was it confirmed by others, that the two scientists were awarded the Nobel Prize a mere four years later.

At The Salk Institute as at other research institutions, this line of work is being pursued now in greater detail. Dr. Suzanne Bourgeois at the Institute is working with Monod and others on studies of the regulation of enayme production in a common bacterium.

Although most of the work on regulatory genes has been restricted to a few bacterial and virus systems, the available evidence on higher organisms indicates that their cells follow the same general pattern. In fact, the model offers an explanation of the apparent differences among the many cells in one organism. By this model, all the cells in one organism have the same complete set of genes and differ from one another only in which genes are inhibited and which are expressed. Attorney Gets Time In Jail

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Former South San Francisco City Attorney Richard P. Lyons, 54, Hillsborough, was sentenced Tuesday to 10 months in the San Mateo County Jail on five counts of embezzlement.

Visiting Superior Court Judge Robert D. Carter also fined the prominent lawyer $5,500 and placed him on probation upon his release from jail.

"You would be on your way to state prison if you had not made restitution," Carter said.

Investigators said Lyons embezzled as much as $68,000 from trust funds he administered.

OFF DUXBURY REEF

Whale Skeleton Dates To The Miocene Epoch

By PAT ANGLE

To most people it would probably have looked just like another big rock lying there on the beach off Duxbury Reef in Bolinas.

But Carl V. Ziegler, a naturalist employed by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department, recognized it for what it was: part of the skeleton of a whale from the Miocene Epoch, a creature that lived between 15 and 30 million years ago.

"I was on patrol when I spotted it and, believe me, I was pretty excited," said Ziegler, who happens to be an amateur paleontologist. He said recent high tides which washed away a small section of the reef near Bolinas Point two weeks ago apparently undearthed the rare fossil from the place it had been entombed for millions of years.

Ziegler encountered it last Friday.

To preserve his find from souvenir hunters, Ziegler quickly covered it with debris. "I was really worried, because there were a lot of people around." Then he had to wait two agonizing days before he could get help to carry the object, which weighs more than 300 pounds, away to a safe place in the college of Marin's marine-biology station in Bolinas.

The fossil was easily dated, he said, by the age of the particular rock in which it was lodged, a miocene-monterey formation. Without a skull, it is impossible to tell the kind of whale or much else about it, but Dr. Chan said the bones will be sent to the University of California's paleontology department for further study.

"It is one of the oldest mammals ever found in Marin," he said. "A very interesting discovery." A portion of the skull of a whale of the same period was found near Bolinas in 1966.

The whale the bones belonged to may have swum all over the county and even the state in his day, the biologist said, since almost all of California was covered by seas during the Miocene period.

He said it was fortunate that the fossil was found by Ziegler, since many significant specimens are carted away by the general public and never turned over to scientific authorities. Chan urged all fossil finders to bring their discoveries in to the college or marine laboratory or some other place where they can be identified.

One of these days he hopes to enlist the aid of students and other interested persons in unearthing the rest of what may be Marin's oldest resident.

New Policy On Death Penalty Appears Headed To Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said today the administration will probably ask Congress to make the death penalty mandatory for airplane hijackings, kidnapings, killing of prison guards and other "cold-blooded, premeditated" serious crimes.

Kleindienst, in his first full-fledged press conference at the Justice Department since he became attorney general, said generally he felt the death penalty was not a deterrent to crime, but he said he felt that capital punishment was justified in certain serious crimes such as skyjackings.

Asked if the administration would submit legislation to Congress to legalize the death penalty in certain cases, Kleindienst replied: "I believe so." He said the legislation would make the death penalty "mandatory in these restricted cases."

The attorney general rejected suggestions that the Justice Department and the FBI had been "politicized" under him and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell. Kleindienst said "no prosecutive decisions have been made on the basis of the politics of the defendant."

He also refused to discuss the Watergate case in which political operatives of President Nixon allegedly bugged the Democratic national headquarters. Kleindienst said an order by U. S. Judge John Sirica prohibited him from commenting on the case.

Kleindienst repeatedly dodged direct answers to a number of questions implying political overtones to Justice Department decisions involving Democrats and Republicans and the 1972 elections.

New Gas Station Ban Is Lifted

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials yesterday lifted a 10-week-old ban on new gasoline stations on the ground that "we have to be practical."

Oil companies, gas station developers and labor unions had protested the ban vehemently, claiming it created undue economic hardships while not reducing smog.

The ban was imposed in late October by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, with no new stations foreseen by district officials until "perhaps the mid-1970s."

Both of Marin's representatives to the nine-county board, Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Sausalito City Councilman Stephen Fraser, voted with the majority in the 13-4 vote to lift the ban.

Directors said, however, equipment will have to be installed to help stop the flow of fuel vapors — contributers to bad air — into the atmosphere.

Fraser's vote was contrary to his own arguments earlier that new stations should be allowed only if they were equipped with systems to recover at least 90 per cent of the fumes emitted in filling car tanks.

Noting that this requirement has been imposed in San Diego, Fraser asked, "Why are we in the Bay Area less willing to adopt a tough standard in defense of the quality of our air than Southern California?"

Director William R. Jelavich, a Mountain View city councilman, also argued for the requirement. Such a system is supposed to be available in 30 days, he said, adding it was "not the end of the world" if new gas stations cannot be built for another month.

Arrigoni and others, however, won postponement of the requirement to next Jan. 1, although saying district officials might find earlier steps necessary. The supervisor said the date "puts industry on notice we may not allow any new stations after then."

The board's motion will require vapor recovery systems on new stations for fumes emitted while filling underground storage tanks. This will take care of only about 30 per cent of the hydrocarbons emitted from gas stations, according to the district staff.

The district's administrator, D. J. Callaghan, assured the board that there was "no engineering data" as to whether a system to recover vapors from car tanks will work.

Arguing that new stations would cut pollution because of more efficient gas pumps, San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said the ban merely was "Williamsburging the old stations."

There was no discussion of requiring existing stations to install the vapor recovery systems.

A district official said that recently unsuccessful applicants to build some 40 new stations would be encouraged to reapply for permits.

The list of denied gas station permits includes one each in San Rafael, Mill Valley and San Anselmo.

In other business, the board rejected a proposal by management consultants that they create an executive secretary responsible only to them and independent of Callaghan. By split votes, the board instead agreed to hire an independent clerk, but with strictly limited clerical responsibilities.

Alioto branded the management consultants' proposal "an attempt by minority elitists to continue their hatchet job" on Callaghan. He decried critics of the district as "boutique whites." They were "an incredible crowd — they never sleep," he said.

The rhetoric also got heavy in a board attack on a legislative committee investigating citizens' complaints against the district. Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort said the investigation by the Legislature, which created the district, was "well beyond their responsibilities."

Alioto branded the committee's action as "a Spanish investigation," and praised board chairman Robert B. St. Clair for spurning a subpoena to testify before the committee. "You're free to fight that way," Alioto said to the San Mateo County supervisor.

The board also received a monthly report of violation notices, including four in Marin and Southern Sonoma. Two were issued against the Big G Supermarket in Corte Madera and one each against Robert Cronback and P. A. Respini, both of Petaluma.

Mercury Plunges Again In Marin

Sub-freezing temperatures gripped Marin today amid an apparently growing outbreak of flu-like illnesses.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said today residents tend to overheat their homes in cold weather, increasing vulnerability t cold viruses and flu.

She said that flu, characterized by high fever, headaches, sore throats and aching muscles, has picked up in Marin this week. She said she did not know whether flu in Marin was of the English type, which state health officials report is cropping up in the Bay Area.

A flu-type illness has been blamed for increasing employee absenteeism in Marin, with officials of United Market in San Rafael reporting that up to 25 per cent of the staff was sick last week. Other supermarkets and banks in San Rafael also report absenteeism due to flu.

Lows today ranged from 22 degrees in Woodacre to 32 in Sausalito and Fairfax. Federal forecasters predicted the cold snap will continue tonight with lows in the 30s and highs tomorrow in the 50s.

Other low temperatures reported for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today were: San Anselmo, 33; Ross, 30; Larkspur, 27; Cotati, 28; Mill Valley, 28; Mount Tamalpais, 30, and Novato, 28.

Major Storm Slams Nation's Breadbasket

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

A major winter storm tore through the Midwest today, transforming interstate highways into writhing lanes of snowbound cars, touching off a flurry of auto accidents and triggering power failures.

Three men were killed and one was injured Wednesday when a pickup truck collided with a trailer truck in freezing rain near Ottawa, Ill.

Rain, sleet and snow fell in much of the northeastern part of the nation late Wednesday. Three persons were killed at Owega, N.Y., when a bus carrying a junior high school swimming team from Vestal, N.Y., skidded on an ice-slicked highway and overturned.

A blizzard bowled through eastern Nebraska, stopping traffic on major highways leading into the metropolitan Omaha and Lincoln areas and causing at least one death.

Winds of up to 52 miles per hour hurled tons of snow through eastern Nebraska, reducing visibility to zero and creating massive traffic jams. At least one storm-related traffic death was reported.

The trip between Omaha and Lincoln, Neb., normally takes 40 minutes, but snow-clogged roads and stalled cars turned the trip into a five-hour ordeal Wednesday. Snow piled up to seven inches at some locations and was whipped into drifts by the strong winds.

Catholic schools in the Omaha area remained closed today as a result of the storm and several suburban Omaha school systems announced that schools would be closed today. Omaha public school students were not scheduled to return to classes from the holiday break until Monday.

The commander of Offut Air Force Base, home of the Strategic Air Command, said the base near Omaha would operate on a limited basis until noon today, with only mission-essential personnel reporting this morning.

A state convention of the Nebraska Association of Community Colleges, expected to draw some 450 persons to Norfolk, Neb., today, was postponed until a later date because of the storm.

The Nebraska State patrol warned motorists to stay off Interstate 80, the state's main east-west highway, between Omaha and York. A four-mile-long traffic jam built up in U.S. 75-73 south of Omaha.

Near-blizzard conditions were reported in Iowa, forcing the municipal airport at Des Moines to shut down.

One of the worst ice storms on record left some 30,000 homes and offices in Kansas City, Mo., without power and sent hundreds of persons to homes of friends or relatives or to churches and schools to keep warm. Power company employes worked through the night in an effort to restore power.

Traffic moved at a crawl, when it moved, as heavy snows clogged roadways in southeastern Minnesota.

Heavy rains soaked the Chicago area, causing some delays at O'Hare International Airport as the rain blocked out part of the airport's approach radar. Several rivers and streams overflowed but flooding was not severe and no additional flooding was expected today.

Salt Lake To Host Winter Olympics

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Olympic Committee today unanimously selected Salt Lake City, Utah, to replace Denver as host for the 1976 winter games.

Call Says Bomb On Jetliner

RAPID CITY, S. D. (UPI) — A Trans World Airlines 747 jumbo jet with 236 persons aboard on a flight from Madrid was ordered to this high-altitude South Dakota city today because a Spanish extortionist demanding $237,000 ransom claimed a pressure bomb set to explode at 3,200 feet was planted on the aircraft.

The plane, en route from Madrid, first was ordered sent to mile-high Denver, then was diverted to Ellsworth Air Force Base at Rapid City, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said.

"My guess is security," the FAA spokesman said. "They can probably control it better there." Rapid City is 3,276 feet above sea level.

The plane was diverted because of a telephone threat to TWA's Madrid office.

The incident was the third enactment of a theme from a 1966 television drama by Rod Serling, "The Doomsday Flight," in which an airliner was sent to Denver because of its 5,280-foot altitude to foil an extortionist and a pressure bomb.

A TWA spokesman said the plane had enough fuel to reach Rapid City. The flight with 218 passengers, a crew of 15 and 3 TWA employes aboard had been scheduled to land at Kennedy Airport in New York at 12:25 p.m. EST but was ordered to land at Rapid City.

In New York, TWA spokesman Angus McClure said the flight was diverted to Rapid City, where it was to land at 3:30 p.m. EST, because "I believe there are some weather problems in Denver."

Asked if landing at the South Dakota air base was not taking a chance in view of the extortionist's claim that the bomb would go off at about that altitude, McClure said, "It's above 3,000 feet." He also said, in answer to a question, "from the beginning we have felt this was a hoax."

Sources close to TWA in Madrid said a bag was placed by a roadside outside the Spanish city. Sources did not say if the bag contained the demanded ransom in pesetas.

"But nobody turned up to pick it up," sources said. TWA would not confirm that the ransom had been provided.

TWO U.S. PLANES LOST IN VIETNAM

Another B52, $15 Million F111 Added To Growing List Of Destroyed Craft

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Command said the 17th B52 bomber of the war was downed today and reported the loss of another $15 million swing-wing F111 jet in last month's raids over the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland.

The command announcements, which did not specify how either aircraft was downed, came as U.S. warplanes took advantage of clearing weather to step up attacks south of North Vietnam's 20th Parallel bombing boundary that runs 65 miles south of Hanoi.

Spokesmen said all six crewmen aboard the stricken B52 bailed out and were rescued from the Tonkin Gulf today after the pilot guided the $8 million plane out over the water. The two F111 crewmen, whose plane crashed "west of Hanoi" Dec. 22, are listed as missing and cause of the downing was not known.

The B52 crew "noticed heavy fumes in the cockpit" just before bailing out, spokesmen said. Air Force and Navy helicopters plucked the men to safety from waters near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams.

Another 15 B52s were downed over North Vietnam during President Nixon's 12-day bombing campaign of the Hanoi-Haiphong area that was suspended Saturday. The first combat loss of the war of the huge jets was last Nov. 22.

Today's announcements brought to 29 the number of U.S. warplanes the command says were downed in the Dec. 18-30 aerial blitz of Hanoi and its chief seaport. At least 84 American airmen are listed as

Senate Demos Ask Viet Funding Cutoff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democrats approved a resolution today calling for an end of funding for the Vietnam War in the new Congress. The vote was 36 to 11.

The measure was pushed through the Democratic caucus by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., at a three-hour meeting as pressure mounted on Capitol Hill for an end to the war and an explanation from the Nixon Administration why the bombing of North Vietnam was resumed.

Kennedy's resolution was similar to one passed Tuesday by the House Democratic caucus by a 2-1 margin. It declares the policy of Democrats in the 93rd Congress "that no further public funds be authorized, appropriated or expended for U.S. military combat operations in or over Indochina and that such operations be terminated immediately subject only to arrangements necessary to insure safe withdrawal of American troops and the return of American prisoners of war."

A less stringent resolution, offered by Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, which would have asked President Nixon to come before Congress to explain his war policies, was defeated 24 to 23.

The administration, meanwhile, continued to ignore Congressional demands for more information, declining to send any representative to Congress for even a closed briefing. A Republican source said the White House did not want to break an agreement with Hanoi not to discuss the negotiations before they resume Monday.

The same source said Nixon plans to address the nation on television as soon as the next round of negotiations is completed.

Both Republicans and Democrats seemed in agreement that the administration must furnish some information about the strikes to key committees. Jackson suggested an address by the President to a joint session of Congress.

So far, President Nixon's only move has been an agreement to send Henry A. Kissinger, the chief Vietnam peace negotiator, to Capitol Hill tomorrow for a get-acquainted chat with freshman House Republicans.

Antihijack Rules In Effect Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first phase of the government's strict new anti-hijacking program goes into effect Friday amid appeals to passengers "to keep your good humor" and a dispute over how the first hijacker of 1973 managed to board an airliner with a gun.

Under emergency procedures issued last month by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, 531 airports around the nation must screen all passengers boarding an airliner, and inspect all carry-on luggage, including handbags carried by women.

By Feb. 5, armed guards must be stationed at each airport boarding gate, and passengers will be physically searched if necessary.

The Air Transport Association (ATA), a trade organization representing the nation's major airlines, urged air travelers to speed up the boarding procedure by:

—Keeping carry-on luggage to a minimum.

—Unzipping luggage "as you near the inspector."

The ATA also urged passengers "to keep your good humor —remembering that the inspectors are doing their duty and doing it for your protection."

The growing number of air travelers arrested at airports—over 6,000 during the last 20 months—has triggered arguments over violations of individual civil rights since many of the arrests involved possession of narcotics.

However, the ATA claims the airlines have reported "very few incidents involving displeasure of passengers over recent increases in security precautions."

The security program is a massive undertaking. The nation's airlines make an average of 15,000 flights a day and carry some 500,000 passengers in a fleet of 2,200 jetliners.

To carry out the program, the government and the airlines have put in place more than 2,000 electronic screening devices, and the guard force is expected to number around 3,000.

But the cost of the program will be borne by the air traveller, not the government or the airlines.

Sale Of New Birth Pill Is Approved

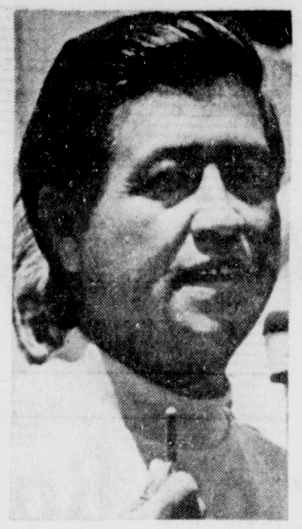
PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — Syntex Laboratories Inc. started marketing a new birth control pill Wednesday which does not contain estrogen.

Russ Wilks, Syntex public relations manager, said the Food and Drug Administration had cleared the new compound for prescription use.

He said the bill contains only one active ingredient, progestin, and that it didn't "interfere with ovulation" and does not interrupt the menstrual cycle.

"It seems to affect the endometrium (the lining of the uterus) so that a fertilized egg cannot be implanted," he said.

In tests over eight years, it was found that among the women who tried the pill there were "about three pregnancies per 100 women," a higher rate than with other pills, he added.



CESAR CHAVEZ
Asks $128 million

Chavez Sues Teamsters And Growers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm workers union filed a $128 million suit Wednesday against the Teamsters Union and California growers and shippers, alleging they had agreed to "sham" contracts that conspired against minorities.

At a news conference in Salinas, where Chavez has been trying to organize lettuce pickers in rivalry with the Teamsters for nearly three years, the labor leader announced a new drive and expanded lettuce boycott.

"We're not going to commit any violence," Chavez said. "The Teamsters have the growers. We've got the workers."

The federal court suit named more than 185 individuals and companies it said had conspired against blacks, Chicanos and Filipinos with contracts signed in July, 1970.

The union, which asked for "not less than $28,440,000" in real damages and $100 million in punitive damages, said the pacts were signed despite the fact "a substantial majority" of the farm workers were represented by Chavez' United Farm Workers, AFL-cIO.

The federal court suit came a week after the California Supreme Court ruled that Chavez and his union could picket growers and shippers even though the Teamsters contract was valid.

Aid To Sick Aviation System Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential commission today claimed the nation's aviation system is "in serious trouble" and recommended a multibillion program to cure it, including direct government aid to airplane manufacturers.

The commission also proposed:

—Sharp decreases in allowable aircraft noise.

—Creation of an undersecretary of transportation for civil aviation.

—Allowing supersonic transports to land in the United States as soon as noise and pollution standards are met.

The two-year study was conducted by the President's Aviation Advisory Commission whose nine members represented the public, government and industry. The commission placed the cost of its recommendations at up to $103 billion over the next 12 years.

According to the study, aircraft noise is "the most explosive problem facing aviation today." Attempts so far by the aviation industry to cut aircraft noise "are insufficient to win public acceptance," the report said. It urged the airlines to set up immediately "steeper takeoff and approach" procedures for aircraft, to speed engine retrofit programs, and to "retire from service" by 1980 any airliners unable to meet federal aircraft noise standards.

The commission recommended that supersonic transports be permitted to use U.S. air space "as soon as it is clear" that they do not cause serious environmental problems, that they do meet noise standards, and do not produce sonic booms over "U.S. land areas."

Potentially the most controversial recommendation by the commission was one urging the government to give financial help to the airplane manufacturers.

"Direct financial participation by the federal government is recommended if the risk to private industry is considered too great for it to support," a statement accompanying the report said.

It also urged the government to appoint an undersecretary for civil aviation to "handle the selection of civil transport aircraft" and to deal with federal aid to manufacturers.

Under the present system, aircraft manufacturers compete for airline business with individually designed airliners. But airline industry observers claim the cost of the super airliners of the future will be too great a risk for the manufacturers, who could face bankruptcy if an airliner is economically unsuccessful.

The commission said it would much prefer to leave the development of large transport aircraft up to the private sector.

An Air Piracy Arrest Is Made

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Frank J. Lucero, 38, a Denver civil engineer, was arrested at San Francisco International Airport Wednesday after allegedly threatening air piracy.

Lucero was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Richard Urdan who ordered a psychiatric examination. The charge was conveying false information concerning air piracy.

The FBI said Lucero boarded a United Air Lines flight for San Francisco under the name of "James Bond" and later told stewardesses he wanted the pilot to "make a 38-degree turn and fly to Montreal and Paris."

Authorities said he was not armed and used no physical coercion when he made the request.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

School Open

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The fall semester resumed at Southern University Wednesday with the Nov. 16 shooting deaths of two students still the main matter on everyone's minds.

Two students, killed in a confrontation with police, died from a shotgun fired moments after a tear gas barrage.

Student leaders said an off-campus news conference on grievances which led to the November demonstration have not been answered.

Resignation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gerard C. Smith said today he has resigned as head of the U. S. team negotiating with the Soviet Union to reduce nuclear arms.

Smith declined to comment on the reasons for his resignation or when he actually stepped down. He reportedly left about Dec. 31.

Jupiter Ice

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Three astronomers say they have detected the presence of water-ice on two of the 12 moons of the planet Jupiter.

"We have conclusively identified absorbtions due to water frost in the infrared reflectivities of Jupiter's Galilean satellites J2 and J3," the astronomers reported in a recent issue of Science magazine.

12 Suspended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve Washington police officers, including the chief of the department's Community Relations Division and the heads of two district vice squads, were relieved of duty Wednesday as the result of a year long probe of gambling payoffs.

Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson, in a brief announcement, said the 12 would face departmental charges later. A federal grand jury reportedly is preparing criminal indictments to be filed against some police officers by the end of the month.

Youth Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's 18 to 20-year-olds had the vote for the first time in a national election last year but less than half of them took advantage of it.

A Census Bureau report said today first-time voters turned out in smaller numbers—on a percentage basis—than any other age group.

The report said only 48 per cent of 11 million persons in the 18-20 group actually voted in the presidential election.

An estimated 71 per cent of persons in the 45-54 age category voted. This was the highest percentage of any age group.

Death Toll

ROME (UPI) — The death toll in four days of flooding and landslides rose Wednesday to 22, but the weather cleared and officials said today they believed the worst storm of the winter so far was over.

The government announced it was sending emergency relief supplies into the south and to Sicily, where rainstorms caused most deaths and damage.

Aid To Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro started the new year Wednesday by announcing the Soviet Union, "a true friend," has agreed to refinance his government's debt.

The arrangement gives Cuba 13 years before making the next payment on what it owes the Russians for aid extended since 1959. Some Western experts figure the amount at $3 billion, not counting arms deliveries.

Payments would extend 10 years into the next century.

Firm Will Stop Misleading Ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Standard Brands Inc., a New York City foods company, has agreed to discontinue advertising claims that use of its Fleischmann's Margarines will prevent or mitigate heart disease, the Federal Trade Commission announced Wednesday.

The FTC said the agreement was offered in settlement of a formal FTC complaint charging deceptive or false advertising was used in marketing of the margarine.

Court Of Future Is Being Tested

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The jurors recline in comfortable high-backed chairs and click on their individual television sets.

Unbothered by commercials, the jurymen watch a trial which has been prerecorded on videotape and edited by a judge and attorneys. If they wish, the jurors can see instant replays of key testimony.

Trial by television is just one of the many futuristic ideas being tested by the McGeorge School of Law in a three-year experiment with a "courtroom of the future."

"Courtroom practices in the United States haven't changed in more than 100 years," said Judge John J. Dutton, director of the school's center for legal advocacy. "If you took Aaron Burr and put him in a Brooks Bros. suit, he'd feel right at home in today's courtrooms."

The school is constructing an elaborate "courtroom in the round" in a special building to be completed by mid-summer. Until then, students and professors are experimenting with some of their ideas in a makeshift model courtroom.

When the new facility is dedicated, it well could be called the Perry Mason courthouse. Raymond Burr, the actor who played Perry Mason in the long-running TV series of courtroom dramas, contributed $150,000 toward construction of the $460,000 building.

The unique courtroom will have an electronic isolation booth where unruly defendants can be prevented from disturbing the proceedings while still seeing and hearing what is going on.

The audio piped into the defendant's small glass enclosure will be translated into his native tongue if he doesn't understand English.

Five video tape cameras will be placed in unobtrusive locations around the circular courtroom to record the trial without disturbing the participants.

Dutton said the television facilities could be used for the entire trial, or certain facets of it.

Evidence will be automatically flashed onto the 23-inch screens beside the judge, jury and witnesses instead of the current cumbersomme task of handing it around the courtroom.

"Judges might be more willing to allow photographs, even filming, of trials under these conditions," said Marvin E. Lewis of San Francisco, president of the American Trial Lawyers Association.

The experimental courtroom will be used primarily by students in mock trials under laboratory-type conditions. But it also may be used for real cases of the Sacramento Superior Court, if judges and attorneys consent.

Dutton said that the equipment, while a big expense initially, might result in large overall savings in courtroom costs because it would speed up the justice system, slashing the time the judge and other courtroom employes would spend on each case.

While avoiding any predictions of the courtroom's success until it has been used for several months, Dutton said he is hopeful the experiment will lead to revolutionary changes in U.S. courtroom practices.

Other novel aspects of the courtroom, which will be the most modern in the nation when completed, include:

—Jurors sitting in a semicircle with desks in front of them to encourage note-taking. The design will permit jurors to sit with their backs to the audience, freeing them from distractions by spectators.

—A security system locking courtroom doors by remote control. Persons entering the court will be scanned by special devices which detect guns.

—Video tape records of the trial to be used for appeals to higher courts.

Judge Gordon Schaber, dean of McGeorge, sees the model courtroom as one answer to professional criticism of law schools' failure to provide students with practical courtroom experience.

"The lawyers complain that since law schools are not providing this type of training, they must do so by default," Schaber said. "They feel that we must do a better job of bridging the gap between law school and the profession.

"The attorneys of today are still practicing legal surgery in the barber shop. While all other professions have adopted the benefits of modern technology, lawyers still practice in an ill-suited and obsolete arena—the courtroom."

Hitchhiker Robbery Reported

A Santa Rosa man said he was robbed of $15 at knifepoint yesterday by two hitchhikers he picked up in San Francisco.

Dan Austin, 24, told Marin sheriff's deputies he gave a ride to a man and a woman shortly before 10 p.m. on Van Ness Avenue and drove them to Marin.

As he approached the Rodeo Avenue exit in Sausalito, the pair pulled knives and ordered him onto the off ramp. They took his wallet, containing the money, and ordered him to walk up a nearby hill, then fled with his auto, deputies said.

The orange 1973 Volkswagen, which has no license plate, only a dealer's sticker, has not yet been recovered.

The male robber was described as white, about 28 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall with short brown hair. The white female was about 26 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall with brown hair.

Harry Kramer, 82, Former Fairfax Councilman, Dies

Harry A. Kramer, longtime resident and former city councilman of Fairfax, died yesterday in his home at the age of 82.

Kramer suffered fractured neck vertebrae and a broken arm in a fall Oct. 30 and was apparently recuperating when complications occurred. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael shortly after 7:30 a.m., according to Bill J. Thomas, county coroner's deputy.

Mrs. Garland's survivors also include a sister, Jean Nelson of San Francisco.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Francisco.

The Novato Professional Firemen's Association will hold its annual Christmas tree burning from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the department's drill tower, Atherton Avenue near Olive Avenue.

There is no charge for disposing of the trees, according to Capt. Raymond Dougherty, fire prevention officer.

Stand On Impact Reports Explained

An Independent-Journal report yesterday inadvertently changed the meaning of a comment made by John O. Nelson, general manager of the North Marin County Water District, at a Novato City Council meeting on environmental impact reports.

Nelson said the duplication of environmental impact reports could be avoided if the City of Novato would prepare them when several agencies are involved.

Armed Robbery Indictments Are Returned

The Marin County Grand Jury returned armed robbery indictments yesterday against the three women and a man who held up two employees of the Co-op market in Corte Madera New Year's Eve day.

The four — John Turner, 27; Candice Kay Yockey and Stephanie Kline, both 26-year-old San Franciscans, and 20-year-old Claudia Vonnetta Grayson of Oakland — were scheduled for arraignment today in Marin Superior Court.

The four, who remain in jail under $50,000 bail each, appeared in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday, at which time the prosecution indicated grand jury indictments may be sought.

terday that attempts by Congress to end the war through legislation might actually prolong the fighting by "raising doubts in the enemy's mind about the U.S. position."

The House foreign affairs subcommittee on Europe tried to call hearings for today on strained U.S. relations with its European allies caused by the bombing, but a spokesman for the committee said the State Department refused to furnish a witness until Jan. 12, and then only behind closed doors.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee asked Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Kissinger to meet them in private Tuesday, but both declined.

Hearing On Burglary To Be Tuesday

A preliminary hearing for a Fairfax man and a Woodacre woman, charged with burglarizing a Fairfax shop, was scheduled yesterday for Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

For Miss Soga, it was her third arrest in as many months. On Oct. 13 she was arrested on suspicion of concealing stolen jewelry and is now awaiting trial in superior court.

Only hours before the Fairfax burglary, she was released from jail after the district attorney's office decided not to charge her with taking $160 from a Lagunitas man when she visited his home Dec. 27.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Girard R. Courteau opposed any reduction of her $10,000 bail. He said even her father wants her kept locked up because of her heroin usage.

Agency Slapped On Pesticide Controls

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post has criticized the state Agriculture Department for falling short of its duty to control and regulate pesticide use in California.

In a 50-page report prepared by his office, Post said Wednesday the department is caught between promoting the interests of the agriculture industry and watching over the largest use of pesticides by any state in the nation.

The report, a joint project with the division of environmental studies at the University of California at Davis, listed 13 "specific problem areas" in regulating the manufacture, sale and use of pesticides.

"The problems we have identified with the department's pesticide program arise only secondarily from lack of legal power," the report said.

"They arise primarily out of difficulties inherent in the department's being charged with both the responsibility for promoting the private interest of the agricultural industry, while at the same time regulating that industry in the public interest," it said.

Among the "problem areas," the report cited a weakness in the department's registration programs for pesticides. It said there were "no meaningful penalties, monetary or otherwise," for sale of the chemicals without proper registration.

The report also said the department had "no criteria for establishing a list of injurious materials."

"It (the department) has primarily reacted to problems and placed materials on the list only after problems have arisen," the report said.

The report said "changes in policy and administration should resolve" some of the problems but that the "inertia characteristic of the past efforts and attitudes of the department still presents a formidable obstacle" in solving the difficulties.

The agriculture department was given sole authority to set pesticide regulations and enforce by a bill enacted last session. In the past, the agriculture department and the Public Health Department have been involved in a jurisdictional dispute over regulation of pesticide use.

No Verdict Reached In GI's Case

A Marin Superior Court Jury has failed to decide whether a 19-year-old soldier is guilty of attempted rape, kidnap and sexual perversion.

Judge Henry J. Broderick dismissed the jury in the case of SP/4 James Allan Mueller after it had tried for almost 11 hours to reach a unanimous decision Friday and Tuesday.

Mueller was arrested Oct. 8 after a 21-year-old San Francisco woman told police she rolled out of Mueller's car and held him at bay with a broken glass bottle until two youths on motorbikes rescued her on a dirt road near the Sausalito rock quarry.

He subsequently was charged with forcing a different girl to copulate orally with him at the same site Sept. 8.

Each of the women testified Mueller gave them rides while they were hitchhiking.

Girl, 18, Ordered To Serve Time In Jail

A teen-age girl, whose case was rejected by juvenile court, has been ordered to jail by a Marin Superior Court judge on charges of burglarizing the San Rafael home of a doctor, then using the physician's credit card.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered Deborah Lynn Bronson, 18, of San Rafael, to spend 90 days in jail and pay $500 restitution as conditions of three years' probation.

She pleaded guilty in November after a plea bargain with Judge E. Warren McGuire, who promised she would receive no more than six months in jail.

Codefendant Richard A. Hickox, 19, of San Rafael, received six months in jail for two burglaries in San Rafael.

Miss Bronson, 17 in July when the crimes were committed, was sent to adult court by juvenile court referee Jack G. Blaine. He ruled she was not a suitable candidate for the private juvenile proceedings.

In juvenile court she faced 15 counts of forgery to obtain more than $500 in merchandise on July 25. Two forgery counts and the burglary charge were filed in adult court and one forgery count was dismissed in the plea bargain.

Hickox and Miss Bronson both were implicated in the burglary July 25 of the home of Dr. Thomas Zavattero on Prospect Drive. Almost $1,200 in personal property was taken, then his credit card and checkbook were used to buy almost $700 in merchandise, according to authorities.

Miss Bronson, who works through the Marin Neighborhood Youth Corps, was described by her probation officer as a troubled girl caught by authorities 12 times for running away from home. Her father is an attorney living in the East Bay.

How To Avoid Bunco Bilking

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Attorney General Evelle J. Younger Wednesday offered tips to Californians on how to avoid being bilked by bunco artists and confidence men.

Younger issued a 24-page booklet entitled "On Guard: A Guide for the Consumer," which also offers advice on buying cars, automobile repairs, retail installment contracts, door-to-door sales, warranties, credit cards, dance and health studio contracts, and swimming pools.

In the foreward, Younger wrote that "in our complex society today, consumers face more difficulties than ever before in making informed consumer decisions.

"The purpose of this booklet is not to serve as a substitute for legal advice but to inform residents of California of consumer law and problems in order to avoid being victimized."

Younger gave four general rules for avoiding being bilked by con men:

Don't discuss your personal finances with strangers.

Call the police and report any such approach.

Science Adviser To Nixon Quits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Edward E. David Jr. has resigned as science adviser to President Nixon, David's aides said today.

David was not available for comment.

Director of the White House Office of Science and Technology since September, 1970, David was said to believe that Nixon had ignored his recommendations.

Communications Class Scheduled

A class in semantics and communications will be given once a week beginning at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Terra Linda High School's adult program.

Robert Wanderer, who gives similar courses throughout the Bay area, will be the teacher.

PENNY ANTE NOT ALWAYS POKER GAME

NORFOLK, Va. — Military personnel, who have to pack up and move every few years, are used to deposits for damage, gas, electricity and water and, not the least, for a telephone.

Now hear this: When Capt. Charles A. L. Swanson moved here from Washington, to be CO of the Naval Air Station, he received a letter from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. saying that he owed two cents on the closing bill. Mrs. Swanson taped two pennies to a card and dispatched them in an 8-cent letter. In another 8-cent letter, the phone company acknowledged receipt of the two cents — and added a caution about sending cash through the mail.

The moral is not that the postal service was 24 cents richer, but a "penny earned was not a penny saved." (Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

College May Join Redevelopment Fuss

The Marin Community College District board last night took another step toward possible legal action against the City of San Rafael in connection with the city's redevelopment plan.

Trustees scheduled a closed session for 7 p.m. next Wednesday to meet with the county counsel to discuss possibility of a law suit against the city.

At issue are future tax revenues resulting from any increased assessed valuation in the redevelopment area which would go to pay for redevelopment and thus be siphoned off from other special districts in the area.

Tuesday Marin County supervisors voted 4-1 to issue what amounted to a one-week ultimatum to San Rafael officials to put the redevelopment plan to a vote or face a legal battle.

The San Rafael School System, which stood to lose the largest amount of money, has reached an agreement with the city under which some revenues will be rebated to the schools.

The college district is demanding the same kind of agreement.

Dr. John A. Grasham, president of the college district, has estimated the district stands to lose as much as $1 million under the redevelopment proposal for the downtown and canal areas.

He has said the college district may fight redevelopment even if the county doesn't.

Marin Community College Board Also:

ETHNIC — Postponed until Jan. 17 action on a proposed ethnic studies department, asking more information on the costs and courses to be included.

PROJECTS — Approved spending $2,926 for an instructional project at College of Marin and $7,000 for a program at Indian Valley Colleges in which staff members will visit other cluster colleges.

TELEVISION — Agreed to look further into the possibility of closed circuit television for College of Marin, which has been offered three cameras at a bargain price. Other expenses might be partially financed by federal grants.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Alonzo Gonzales, formerly a designer-state technician in the drama department, as instructional materials specialist in the audiavisual department at $892 a month.

WELDING — Postponed decision on hiring a welding instructor when a delegation of students asked that Thadius Beattie, currently teaching on a part-time basis, be hired for the fulltime job.

HEATING — Agreed to spend up to $5,000 for an outside consultant who is to investigate why the heating and ventilating system at Harlan and Science Centers doesn't work.

LEASE — Modified a lease with a tenant on the Indian Valley Colleges property so that he may stay in a house on the site but not run horses on the college property.

GIFT — Accepted a gift of about $600 worth of books and magazines from librarian John Eschelbach to the college library.

At Least 16 Countries Will Honor Truman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has announced that dignitaries from at least 16 foreign countries were expected to travel to Washington Friday for memorial services for the late President Harry S Truman.

Israeli President Zalman Shazar and Eliahu Elath, the first Israeli ambassador to the United States, will lead that nation's delegation. South Korea will be represented by Prime Minister Kim Chong Pil and Foreign Minister Kim Young Shik, a State department spokesman said.

Truman extended de facto diplomatic recognition to Israel on May 14, 1948, the day that state was proclaimed in Tel Aviv as the British evacuated Palestine. He also pushed to create the United Nations force which intervened when North Korean troops invaded South Korea on June 25, 1950.

Board Says Incentive Pay Is Out

The Novato Fire Protection District board determined last night it doesn't have funds to grant incentive pay for firemen's college training this fiscal year.

Fire Chief Jack W. Kidder said the district now pays tuition and the cost of books, but firemen had requested a 2.5 per cent pay raise for 30 units of fire science and a 5 per cent raise for 60 units.

The incentive pay isn't in the current budget and there aren't funds to finance it, the chief said.

Directors also agreed that service to unit three of the Marin Valley Mobile Country Club, 196 mobile homes on 35.4 acres south of Hamilton Air Force Base, should be by contract with the owners, terms yet to be set, rather than by setting up a special assessment district, the chief reported.

The board also purchased from Nave Dodge of Novato a four-wheel chassis to be developed into a grass fire unit at a cost of $5,415.

A Few Holdouts In San Quentin Strike

"Things were pretty well back to normal today" at San Quentin prison, a spokesman said, with only about a "dozen hardcore strikers in the East Block" refusing to leave their cells and go to work.

Prison information officer Lee DeBord said that all but the few remaining strikers were given breakfast this morning under a "controlled feeding" schedule in which men were taken to the mess hall in small groups.

The strike began Monday, when about 900 inmates refused to leave their cells for meals or work assignments. About 1,400 of the prison's 1,800 inmates have work details.

Two sets of demands were found by prison officials, the first one demanding the firing of Warden Louis S. Nelson, and a subsequent list asking conjugal visits for all inmates, public telephones, minimum wages and the right to grow long hair.

(DeBord said today that the warden's response to the conjugal visit request was that "we'd have to build a huge motel within the walls." About half of the prison's inmates now are eligible for such visits in buildings outside the walls but inside the prison fences.

The remaining strikers today were called a "multiracial" group by DeBord, who said they had not been identified with any particular movement within the prison.

All of their demands have been ignored by prison officials.

Policy On War Is Criticized

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first New York State woman elected to advise the nation's Roman Catholic Bishops disagrees with the church's position on birth control and wishes Cardinal Terence Cooke would take a stronger stand against the Vietnam War.

The election of Mrs. John Lukens, 42, of Tappan, N.Y., to the Advisory Council of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops was announced Wednesday. She became the first New York laywoman elected to the council and will serve a two-year term.

The Council advises bishops on what the laity in the areas they represent are thinking and gives advice on pastoral concerns.

Strawberry Rec District Stalled On New Member

The Strawberry Recreation District board is still deadlocked and unable to choose a successor to director Carl L. Schaefer from two candidates.

The board, at its meeting Tuesday, split 2-2 over motions to appoint Patricia M. Jeremiah, the loser in a recent board election, or Fred Holmes, another contender for the board seat, according to David E. Roberts, recreation manager.

It was the second time directors had failed to pick a replacement for Schaefer, since a meeting last month ended in a similar deadlock.

Roberts said the board, after meeting in closed session for about a half hour, agreed Tuesday to give the matter more thought and try again at its Jan. 15 meeting.

The motion to nominate Mrs. Jeremiah failed, with directors Thomas Miller and Arthur R. Senter favoring her appointment and Manuel K. Lehua and Jane Brown opposed.

Lehua and Mrs. Brown voted for Holmes's nomination, while the other two directors voted against it.

Planners Slate Officer Election

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will elect new officers for 1973 when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

The commission also will consider an application by W. H. Ellis and L. E. Santucci for a two-lot subdivision at 47 and 69 Foothill Road.

Solution Offered To Cure Cal Expo's Ills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly committee has called for the operation of the financially troubled California Exposition to be turned over to a nonprofit corporation with management expertise.

In a report Wednesday on the management of the exposition and state fair, the Assembly Efficiency and Cost Control Committee accused the present 23-member Exposition Executive Committee of "poor maned that the group be abolished.

"The present executive committee has had four losing years at the gate, both from a monetary and attendance projection standpoint, with no conclusive evidence that the future holds anything different," the 33-page report said.

The committee recommended that a nonprofit firm take over operation of the exposition and that it be headed by a smaller decision-making board than the executive committee.

It said members of the new board should "possess the expertise and creative talents required to manage an exposition."

The Assembly committee also recommended the legislature appropriate funds to finance the first phase of an updated five-year master plan for the exposition. It said the executive committee's master plan was not financially feasible.

If the state administration and legislature do not support a long-range master plan, the committee said, the exposition may be trapped in a "financial quagmire" that could force an indefinite suspension of Cal Expo operations or movement to a more populous area of California.

The exposition, envisioned as a year-round Disneyland-type attraction when it opened in 1968, was operated for 58 days its first year by a nonprofit corporation.

The executive committee replaced the corporation when the exposition ran up a $1.5 million deficit in the initial year. The exposition was returned to a three-week-a-year state fair format in 1969.

The Assembly committee, headed by Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, began its study of Cal Expo's management in November 1971.

Training For Women Studied

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Mexican defense department is considering a proposal to extend mandatory military service to women, a spokesman said today.

To become law, President Luis Echeverria needs to endorse the idea and then gain the approval of congress.

Currently, most Mexican men are required to serve nine months' military duty. Their service usually consists of training sessions one day a week.

Cairo Police Get Tough With University Students

CAIRO (UPI) — Police armed with clubs and tear gas today evicted scores of students involved in a five-day sit-in at Cairo University to demand greater freedom of expression and protest the arrest of 50 of their colleagues.

Students were reported also making public their disenchantment with the continued no-war -no-peace situation in the Middle East.

The campus agitation spread into Cairo streets Wednesday when hundreds of students armed with stones and rocks battled riot police using tear gas and nightsticks.

Police were under orders to use force if necessary to clear the university compound of the striking students.

The eviction followed a government decision late Wednesday to close all universities and colleges until the start of the mid-year holiday Jan. 11.

The order affected seven universities, four of them in Cairo, and dozens of other educational institutes with a total enrollment of nearly 200,000.

The students are demanding more freedom of expression and emocracy as well as protesting the arrest of 50 other students and their disenchantment with the Middle East situation.

Police and students surged back and forth for hours in the clashes, until the students were forced back into the campus. Many of them were allowed lat2er to leave university grounds individually.

By nightfall, the situation in the university area was calm, but nearby streets were strewn nearly ankle deep with rocks and stones.

A preliminary police report said there were some injuries but few of them serious.

The rioting prompted Education Minister Shams Eddin Wakil to summon university presidents to a meeting late Wednesday. The decision to close universities was taken at the meeting.

Saigon Restates Demands

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam negotiator Pham Dang Lam demanded today that North Vietnam withdraw all of its military forces from the South and recognize the South as a fully independent nation — a demand Hanoi has repeatedly rejected.

The restatement at today's weekly semi-public session of the Paris talks of President Nguyen Van Thieu's undiminished conditions for peace was an indication of the further hard bargaining lying ahead for Dr. Henry A. Kissinger when he meets Hanoi's Le Duc Tho on Monday.

Washington administration officials already were warning against undue optimism and Ambassador William J. Porter, the chief U.S. negotiator, said in a somber speech today, "I am not inclined at all to underestimate the problems which exist and which will face us still for some time." He did not endorse the Saigon demands in his statement.

Porter spoke of "this new year of negotiations" and of looking ahead "to what the year may bring"—as if the peace talks could continue through the year. He said, "We would see this year as marking, at last, the concluding phase of this protracted conflict" and of the negotiations.

The widely publicized Majestic Hotel meeting was considered by diplomatic observers as a holding operation pending the new Kissinger-Tho confrontation. After a stop-over in Peking, where he held talks with Premier Chou En-lai, Tho left for Paris today via Moscow.

The meeting of the North and South Vietnamese, the Viet Cong and the U.S. delegation on the Avenue Kleber was one of two East-West meetings being held today. U.S. and Hanoi experts met at suburban Gif-surYvette, south of Paris, for the third day in a row to push work on various protocols to go with an eventual peace treaty.

Today's four-way meeting was the first since Dec. 23 when the Communists walked out in protest against the U.S. bombing campaign against the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

The Communist Vietnamese, in rejecting the Saigon demands, called them a "U.S. maneuver" to split Vietnam into two states forever and demanded that Washington sign without delay the Oct. 20 peace draft accord.

The draft recognizes Vietnam as one nation and makes no mention of North Vietnamese invasion forces in the South, estimated by the U.S. Command at 145,000 and by Saigon at 300,000 men.

North Vietnamese negotiator Nguyen Minh Vy said the United States has failed in its attempt to impose its own peace terms on Hanoi by unleashing the "most ferocious bombing in the history of U.S. aggression against Vietnam from Dec. 18 to Dec. 30."

In an attack on Washington, Viet Cong negotiator Binh Ba Thi said that President Nixon, now ending his first four-year term, "contrary to his promises in his recent term has neither ended the war in Vietnam, nor brought home all U.S. military men. Instead, over the past four years, the U.S. government has constantly intensified and expanded the war." The Viet Cong said Saigon's demands for two Vietnams meant "perpetual partition of Vietnam and setting up South Vietnam as a separate country placed under U.S. neo-colonialist domination."

Viet Cong negotiator Dinh Ba Thi said "these demands constitute a U.S. maneuver to deny the fact that there now exists in South Vietnam two administrations, two armies and three political forces, a reality the United States had to recognize in October 1972."

Thi referred to the Oct. 20 draft peace agreement which largely reflected Hanoi's and the Viet Cong's peace plans.

The Saigon diplomat said: "Likewise, there is no reason for the Hanoi authorities not to accept restoration of the Demilitarized Zone as set by the 1954 Geneva accords or for them not to subscribe to a clause explicitly included in the accords, prohibiting North and South Vietnam from recourse to force against the territory of one another."

He added: "Peace will come tomorrow...provided the Hanoi Communist regime accepts the reality of the existence of two states of Vietnam. If the Hanoi authorities are motivated by a real desire for peace, they must withdraw to North Vietnam all their troops in South Vietnam."

Diplomatic observers said Lam's statement indicated President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has not dropped his opposition to the basic clauses of the Oct. 20 accord worked out between Washington and Hanoi. That draft made no mention of the presence of North Vietnamese troops in the South and recognized Vietnam as a single nation.

Knife-Armed Duo Frees Slayer Suspect At Napa

NAPA (UPI) — Two men armed with knives, one of them dressed in a miniskirt and pantyhose, invaded the Napa State Hospital and freed a patient being held for murder charges, the Napa County Sheriff's office reported today.

An all-points bulletin was issued for the three men.

The patient, who was freed from a security ward while one of the invaders held a 10-inch knife at the throat of a technician, was identified as John Pierce Burnside, 27, who faces charges of murder in connection with a San Francisco robbery-slaying in 1966.

"It was a planned operation. He was ready and waiting to go," said Sheriff's Capt. Ken Marlow.

One of the confederates who freed Burnside was identified as John Taylor Daniel, 32. The other, who was dressed in women's clothing and had on a wig and makeup, was not immediately identified.

Marlow said that at about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday night the female technician was seized by the two and forced to oqn the door of the security ward.

The two invaders, each of whom carried a 10-inch knife, then ordered several other hospital attendants into a side room of the ward and robbed them of their personal belongings. The three men then fled, locking the ward door after them. None of the other patients in the ward was involved in the escape, the sheriff's office said.

Marlow said the woman attendant who was seized in the escape was not injured. Her car keys were taken, but the trio did not use her car in their escape.

The sheriff's officer said the hospital has had "very good security" following a recent court order requiring that criminal patients be kept locked up.

Residency Exceptions Criticized

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco's personnel director wants the board of supervisors to do something about local government employes who do not live in the city as required by law.

Personnel Manager Bernard Orsi said he was tired of having to approve suburban residences for city employes who show evidence from doctors that they should not live in San Francisco for health reasons. He told the Civil Service Commission he would ask the supervisors to conduct hearings on the problem.

The matter arose Tuesday because of four requests from employes to move outside the city, all of which had to be approved by the commission.

About a year ago Orsi tried to crack down on the suburban dwellers by requiring all medical requests to be reviewed and approved by the city's medical examiner, but the plan was dropped after the medical examiner said he could not challenge a private physician's judgment.

Humphrey, McGovern Win Relations Seats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern —rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination last year —both won coveted seats today on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Since there was only one Democratic vacancy on the committee, that of defeated Sen. William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., the Senate Democratic Steering Committee decided to expand the committee by one member, to 17.

That decision, ratified today by the Senate Democratic Caucus, made it unnecessary for Democrats to make a choice between Humphrey and McGovern for the vacancy.

McGovern gave up his seat on the Interior Committee to move over to Foreign Relations. It was reported that Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., would be given a place on Interior, a committee whose work is important to McGovern and Abourezk's home state.

Humphrey gave up his seat on the Government Operations Committee to move over to Foreign Relations. He was a member of Foreign Relations before he left the Senate in 1964 to assume the vice presidency.

Other assignments made by the Democratic caucus included:

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Mike Gravel, DAlaska, and Lloyd M. Bentsen, DTex., to the Senate Finance Committee, which handles tax, trade, pension reform, health insurance, Social Security and welfare legislation. Mondale and Gravel, both liberals, will add a somewhat more liberal tinge to the conservative-dominated Finance Committee.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., to the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Richard Clark, D-Iowa, to the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Conference Delayed

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — An intestinal infection which this week struck astronaut Eugene Cernan, commander of the Apollo 17 moon landing flight, has postponed today's scheduled post-flight news conference until Friday.

Driver Is Held For Drug Probe

A 20-year-old Novato woman, whose auto was involved in an accident, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of driving under the influence of drugs and her passenger was arrested on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs, San Rafael police reported.

Janet Lynn Martinson of 74 Grove Lane, Novato, was held in lieu of $1,200 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Barbara Ann Byrne, also 20, and of the same address, was released on her promise to appear next Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, the Martinson car pulled out from the curb northbound on Irwin Street at Fourth Street, and hit the side of another northbound car driven by James Anthony Crovo of 20 Blossom Drive, San Rafael. The girl's car then hit a parked auto belonging to Alice Miller of 14 Truman Drive, San Rafael, police reported.

No one was injured in the accidents.

Architectural Panel Is Sought

The Larkspur City Council last night decided to see if the city's architectural review committee could be revived after Councilman Robert H. Lee noted that proposed "environmental design review" duties would fall on a young staff planning technician.

"You're going to rely on one man to make the City of Larkspur," complained Lee, after planning director Arthur N. Stout said he intended to delegate initial review of design applications to the junior member of the city's three-man planning department.

The planning commission had recommended abolition of the committee — which has been defunct in recent months — and assumption of architectural review duties by staff, following guidelines to be set down in a new environmental design ordinance.

Lee said he believed it would be a serious mistake, since 80 to 90 per cent of the cities in the Bay Area have architectural supervision committees. He said it was particularly important to have professional supervision when large developments on the San Quentin Peninsula would be coming up for design review applications.

Councilman Alfred J. Malvino said he wouldn't go for a committee made up entirely of architects. Some of the apartment buildings approved by the previous architectural review committee, claimed Malvino, were "atrocious . . . there's got to be other people too, an engineer, and a landscape architect and a lay person."

Councilman Neil R. Brixon confessed he had disliked the architectural review committee, and said poor attendance had killed its existence.

Stout commented that if such a committee were revived, it should be delegated the power to make final decisions, cutting down on the time lag previously required when applications had to go to the planning commission as well.

The council voted to ask the planning commission to reconsider reinstituting the committee.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

TOWN MEETING — Heard from Warren Patton, chairman of the Larkspur Town Meeting, that its members would like to sit on citizens' committees. Councilmen said they were considering forming a citizens' advisory committee for review of the town's general plan and its elements, and would keep members in mind.

GO-KART — Introduced an ordinance rezoning Alfred Pinnila's Go-Kart track on East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to commercial. Finnila intends to sell the 1.85-acre parcel, said his attorney.

ABANDONMENT — Announced its intention to abandon an easement on a section of Myrtle Avenue to create two legal parcels on lots owned by Peter James Wikel, who originally bought them as legal lots in 1945. The easement abandoned is on a 45-degree slope and Asst. City Mgr. Harlan Barry said the city could never construct a road on the sliver of land.

JUNKYARD — Instructed Alfred Finnila to remove 40 old cars from property he owns on East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard which has been rented by a group named Ill Eagle Auto Repair. His attorney said court action had been required to get the tenants off the property after the tenants had ejected a process server. They had vacated the land, leaving 40 junk cars and Finnila is to sell the cars as soon as legally possible.

ABATEMENTS — Instructed city Atty. Joseph Forrest to write letters on zoning and safety violations under a new abatement enforcement ordinance: an illegal rental in a single-family zone at 70 Marina Vista, a minor fence violation at 18 Piedmont Road, and three structures at 73 Madrone Avenue, said by staff to be unoccupied and considered a fire hazard.

PLANNING PROGRAM — Approved spending $12,000 for planning consultants to prepare general plans for the area west of 101, including Greenbrae, Corte Madera Creek and its environs to Magnolia Avenue, for central Larkspur and Mount Tamalpais slopes west of Magnolia, and for a housing and conservation element; appointed councilman Malvino to a committee to select two possible consultants, and both Malvino and Councilman Joan Sestak to a committee to review proposals to be prepared by the competing consultants.

SEWAGE PLANT — Appointed Mayor William G. Fleckles and Malvino as a two-man committee to work with the Ross Valley Sanitary District on its plans for a new treatment plant on the San Quentin Peninsula. The district has announced its intention to condemn 40 acres of prime development land in city territory to provide a buffer zone for the plant, and the city hopes to get the site switched to prison lands.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed William C. Webb of 26 Dartmouth Drive, an engineer, to the Marin County Solid Waste Management Committee.

REVENUE SHARING — Hoping for more public discussion, put off a discussion on how to spend its federal revenue sharing funds to its Feb. 7 meeting. The city got $38,961 for 1972, and expects another $10,000 by June 30.

UNDERGROUNDING — Instructed Forrest to amend the city's ordinances to require undergrounding of utility wires in all new developments. But in case of single-family houses going in the middle of areas not yet undergrounded, it wouldn't be required immediately.

CREDIT CARDS — Authorized use of credit cards for city cars, notably the police cars, so low-lead gas can be purchased at a low cost. Heavy maintenance, caused by use of high octane gas from the city's own pumps, also is hoped to be avoided.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Dan P. Dougherty, who is moving to Kentfield, from the city park and recreation commission.

RAILWAY — Adopted an ordinance putting the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in an interim zone so as to preserve it for eventual public uses, including mass transit, bicycle paths, hiking and equestrian trails.

TEXACO — Emerged from an hour-long closed session with Forrest and announced that the proposed Texaco service station at Magnolia Avenue and Doherty Drive (near the new Alpha Beta Market) could have an ingress driveway from Magnolia, in addition to another driveway. Texaco had threatened legal action over the city's refusal to permit ingress, saying permission previously had been granted. The driveway cuts directly across city-owned landscaping and Texaco must relandscape the area after the driveway is constructed, and maintain it.

COUNTY PLAN — Set a special meeting for Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m. for review of the countywide plan and the scope of the enlarged city-county planning commission that is proposed.

ADJOURNED — Said it next would meet Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

Hashish Arrest Leads To Term In Federal Jail

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A third Marin County resident, Peter B. Erlebron, 29, of Bolinas, has been sent to federal prison for his part in a $40,000 hashish deal.

Erlebron earlier had pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing the drug. Judge Samuel S. Conti in U.S. District Court sent him, like another defendant, Kenneth Michael Stevens, 22, of Mill Valley, to prison for five years.

A woman arrested with them, Barbara Lynn Coffman, 27, of Bolinas, was given a six-month prison term.

A fourth person, Carl Sheldon Wolfe, 29, of Mill Valley, was acquitted by a jury, and a fifth defendant, William Paul Wyler, 24, of Baltimore, Md., jumped bail and is missing.

They were all arrested in a raid on a Bolinas house last February in which federal agents seized 22 pounds of hashish.

Plea Made For Stolen Sermons

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The daughter of a minister is appealing for the return of his sermons which were stolen from her car the day after his death in Southern California.

Miss Marie Zeller told police that 26 sermons and other documents were taken from her car Friday. She said her father, Rev. Harry K. Zeller, died the next day at his home in Claremont.

Miss Zeller, a professional planner, said her father had given the documents to her to edit for publication.

Zeller, 57, was a minister of the Church of the Brethren and administrator of Pilgrim Place, a residential community for retired missionaries.

Savoy Creates A Market Drink

LONDON (UPI) — The Savoy Hotel announced today it has created a Common Market Cocktail to celebrate Britain's entry into the European Economic Community.

Fulbright Attacks Critics Of Sweden

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., contends the administration was "childish" in its reaction to Sweden's criticism of American bombing of North Vietnam.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Tuesday the United States was "jumping on a little country" when it took diplomatic slaps at Sweden after Swedish Prime Minister Olaf Palme bitterly assailed the bombing. "It was an immature and petulant response," Fulbright said. "We always seem to do this to a little country. It's childish."

Larkspur Seeks Humane Society Report On Impounding Dogs

Complaining that loose dogs continue to roam the streets of the city, the Larkspur City Council last night asked the director of the Marin County Humane Society to prepare a report on the number of dogs being impounded each month in the city.

Councilman Alfred Malvino told the director, John Gill, that it appeared dog catchers were concentrating on issuing citations to owners, rather than capturing dogs and impounding them.

Malvino said he hadn't seen a humane society truck in the city since 1971, and Councilman Joan Sestak said she had never seen a dog catcher cruising in the Madrone Woodlands and canyon areas, locations where packs of dogs are said to be running down deer.

Gill said animal control officers had a problem with owners refusing to give their names, and "stealing their dogs back."

Gill said catchers found it difficult to catch loose dogs, and preferred to follow a dog to its home and issue the owner a $15 citation.

Impound fees are $7 for the first offense, he said, and $10 for the second.

He said $15 citations can be issued to owners of dogs repeatedly impounded, with $25 citations given if the dog is unlicensed. Only 40 per cent of dogs caught are actually licensed, he estimated.

While most councilmen grumbled about the loose dogs, Mayor William G. Fleckles grumbled about the budget of the Marin County Humane Society.

He quizzed a surprised director Gill at great length about the county's animal control budget, which in 1970 was $270,750 and this year is $367,460.

Fleckles complained that a category listed simply as "miscellaneous maintenance" was $339,924 in the year ended June 30, 1972, and he had no idea what it included. Gill said it included some salaries, but these also were subsidized by the humane society.

The council asked for a detailed breakdown of the budget, adding that if it appeared taxpayers were paying an undue burden, it would consider raising the impound fees within the city.

Bill Is Aimed At N. Vietnam Travel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another attempt will be made to pass legislation that would prohibit travel by U.S. citizens to North Vietnam or any nation in armed conflict with the United States unless the travel is approved by the President.

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., introduced the bill Wednesday.

Agency To Hawk Wares In Russia

NEW YORK (UPI) — An American advertising agency, Marsteller, Inc., will soon be advertising American products in the Soviet Union.

The agency announced Wednesday it has contracted with the Soviet Union state advertising agency to jointly assist American firms in marketing their products in the USSR.

The agreement is the first made between the Russians and a U.S. advertising agency. It was signed in Moscow after three months of discussions.

Board Hires Workshop Consultant

The Sausalito School District board has agreed to spend $50 to hire a consultant to conduct a half-day workshop in team teaching in the district on Jan. 26.

The board voted Tuesday to employ Paul Heckmann, a team leader at the demonstration school, sponsored by the University of California at Los Angeles.

Heckman will be in Marin on that date to participate in the Marin County Schools office's institute for teachers during the morning. The county schools office will pay for the rest of his services and his transportation.

In other business, trustees agreed to hold a meeting on Jan. 22 to discuss plans for closer cooperation and possible sharing of students and programs with the Mill Valley School District. Sausalito parents will be invited to attend.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the board also voted to postpone the next meeting of the Sausalito-Mill Valley Joint Board Committee, set for Jan. 11, until after the parents' meeting.

Council Fails First Appointment Test

It provided that in such case, the vacancy should be filled by appointment by the remaining council members. However, the unusual provision was that they were given only 20 days to fill it, and if it were unfilled at the end of that time, the board of education should appoint the new councilman.

OVER THE YEARS, councils labored diligently to prevent the board of education from making appointments to the city council. Twenty days was a short period for filling a vacancy; but somehow the council always made the deadline — with one exception.

The only time the choice was left to the board of education was in 1936, when a sharply divided council was unable to agree on a successor to Holland Dutton, who had resigned. The day after the 20-day limit expired, the board appointed Jacob Albert, who subsequently was elected for two more terms.

There were other occasions when the council used up almost all the 20 days before making a selection, but it always made one.

There was, however, considerable feeling that the arrangement was unsatisfactory. And so, when a general charter revision was submitted to the voters in April, 1967, it contained a change giving the council 60 days to fill a vacancy and providing for a special election in case it remained unfilled in that period.

With 60 days instead of 20 to make a choice, it appeared there should be no difficulty.

HOWEVER, in its first test, the new provision failed.

City Councilman Harry A. Barbier died on Oct. 29. Eight candidates — including some of exceptionally high caliber — applied for appointment to fill the vacancy. Yet the council allowed the 60 days to expire without making an appointment. The members, it seems, couldn't agree.

Not only that, but the council agreed to set the "special election" for April 17 — which is the date of the regular municipal election. This was done in spite of the charter provision that "it shall immediately call an election" after expiration of the 60 days. Setting the election so far away perhaps meets the letter of the law, but not its spirit.

We thus have a situation in which, with the important and controversial redevelopment program just getting under way, with decisions to be made on use of bond issue funds for open space purchase, and with next fiscal year's budget to be prepared, the council remains with only four members for five months.

Since the four members were deadlocked on appointment of a new councilman, it would not be surprising to find them deadlocked on other important matters.

THE SAN RAFAEL City Council scarcely demonstrated responsibility in allowing the 60 days to elapse without filling its vacancy.

Perhaps we should go back to the unusual old charter provision. With the fear of appointment by the board of education, past councils were always able to agree —and within 20 days, at that.

Government Health Care For All Appears Next

By EARL G. WATERS

It cannot be predicted with certainty whether it will be Congress or the California Legislature which will act first, but it can be predicted that the next major social program to be enacted will be health care for all citizens.

The costs of medical care have become today something beyond the ability of most citizens to cope with.

We used to talk about "catastrophic" illnesses which wiped out lifetime savings with one disastrous sickness. Today's costs make almost any ailment which requires hospitalization catastrophic.

This is not because of the doctor's fees. True, the medical men no longer have to barter in chickens and hams and canned peaches, but their fees are not excessive.

It is more because of the vast improvements in knowledge of medical treatment and the highly scientific and specialized equipment required. It is also because of the frightening increase in malpractice suits. Doctors are running scared. They take every precaution against oversights which might come back to haunt them in the courtroom. They order excessive tests and treatment. Then, too, there is inflation.

IRONICALLY, the people most hurt by medical costs, as Assemblyman William Campbell, R-La Puente, perceived, are the so-called middle class. These are the steady workers who save, pay their taxes, and buy health insurance.

But it is not enough. When illness strikes they suddenly find the insurance only partially covers expenses.

Those on welfare have no such problem. They are cared for under existing federal and state programs.

Campbell proposed a state program which would pick up medical bills for those in the middle group after their insurance had been exhausted. He never quite got his package put together in an acceptable form.

Governor Reagan has concerned himself with the problem and his staff may propose a program this session.

SEN. GEORGE MOSCONE, D-San Francisco, also is seeking an answer. He has proposed a payroll deduction plan encompassing everyone to finance a medical care program for everyone.

Moscone has pointed out that while 90 per cent of Californians have health insurance, only 37 per cent of the average person's medical costs are covered.

Moscone's plan is broad and also seeks to control costs by eliminating costly duplications of facilities in communities, upgrading the quality of medical care and improving efficiency and organization of care.

He also aims at costs caused by unnecessary medical and surgical treatment, diagnostic tests and hospitalization. He would leave free choice of doctors and freedom for doctors to choose their practice situations.

Other plans are being considered by Congress. If one looks at the history of other social programs such as Social Security and Unemployment and Disability Insurance, it can readily be seen that health care is next. Chances are it will be a joint federal-state program. However, the state may not be able to wait. The pressure is on.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Tribute To A Man Who Did Job Right

Jack was an independent businessman — blacksmith, welder, rigger. If he could help you on a construction job or any job he would. And it would be done right. In the many years I spend in construction in Marin County I called on him lots of times and we got the job done. He was a good man. . .

Can't Wait Negotiations While Lands Obliterated

I am horrified that President Nixon interpreted his election victory as a signal to continue and intensify the slaughter and destruction of the people and land in Indochina.

We can't wait for a succession of bombing negotiations while South and North Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia are obliterated.

I hope the Congress acts swiftly to cut off the funds for this war of dishonor.

He Writes Too Often, But How Can We Resist?

The "volunteer editors" of the world salute Bryce Anderson and the editors and publishers of the I-J for their editorial of Dec. 30 on the writers of "letters to the editor."

We may not agree with the I-J on all counts, may not get all our letters published, but the treatment is fair, perceptive and a real effort is made not to be selective and include everyone.

There is something noble and great about an influential body which shows to all its sense of fair play. I guess that's why we all admire great sports heroes, statesmen and the editors of the I-J.

Low Pay Of Police Surprises Reader

On Dec. 12, 1972, you published a lead article concerning the policemen in San Anselmo and the fact that they had burglarized a store — and this of course, nobody will condone — in fact, a theft of any kind is breaking our laws.

However, I was amazed when I read further in the article that the salaries of the policemen involved were $1,129 and $830 respectively per month . . .

I recently was burglarized twice within a short period of time — and the first time it was an armed burglary during the night while my wife and I were home by three men with lethal weapons — and you know the terror that we went through at that time and this story was published in the Independent-Journal.

Since this burglary, we had another burglary — fortunately, while we were not home.

Of course, because of these two incidences, we met many of our San Rafael policemen — and in common with most other poeple, my only previous contact with our police officers was either seeing one directing traffic or seeing one in a patrol car or receiving a ticket for an infraction of a parking violation. Fortunately, I have had few of these.

I was amazed at the intelligence, courtesy and most excellent manners in general, as well as the helpfullness we received from these police officers when they came in contact with us.

My previous feelings towards a policeman or a cop, as they are often called, was that they were either people that could not get other forms of employment or were sadistic or had a superiority complex — and being a policeman was a good way for their inner feelings to be shown.

However, my feeling now toward our police officers, after talking to many of them, has changed completely. The men that I have met have been, as I mentioned previously, people that I myself and millions of other business people, would gladly have as a part of their organization — and I am sure many would reach executive status.

I do not know what we pay our police officers in San Rafael. However, I am wondering if this is not a good time to take a good look at ourselves — and ask ourselves, if we are paying these officers sufficient money to be targets for millions of sick people, that we have our share of in San Rafael also, as do all other communities — who are roaming our streets, where our officers often without warning or notice are targets for these sick people, who carry lethal weapons and who have killed our officers in the past and who have often maimed them for life and subjected them to tortures while trying to do their job to protect the rest of us from these sick people, whom we are also exposed to . . .

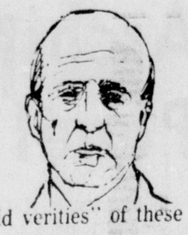
TODAY'S WORLD

"Man, I wish I had your command of the language!"

JOSEPH C. HARSCH



Old Assurances No Longer Possible In Predicting Future

Forecasting world events in the new year is a great deal more difficult and uncertain now than it has been for some time. The year 1972 broke the old molds. The Nixon visit to Peking ended the old "cold war" pattern. No man can be sure right now what the new patterns will be like.

Right now we are not even sure that 1973 will bring President Nixon that "peace with honor" in Vietnam which seemed to be just around the corner. Continued war, right through the year, without even the release of the prisoners, is conceivable. However, Mr. Nixon will certainly make a further strenuous effort to get a satisfactory settlement.

An even larger uncertainty concerns the relationship of the United States to the various countries of Europe. Will the United States remain in close harmonious alliance with the countries of Western Europe as the "detente" progresses?

NO ONE NOW CAN foresee what will be in 12 months. And, of course, the shape of the relationship with Russia will largely determine the new relationship of Russia to the countries of Western Europe.

Subordinate to the larger uncertainties is the crucial relationship of Britain to the other members of the European Common Market. Until now that group of countries has been dominated by France. Will it continue to be so dominated after Britain is admitted? Doubt on this point is the very reason Charles DeGaulle did his utmost for so long to keep the British out. If the Germans and Italians side with the British on any specific issue, the French will no longer be in the controlling position.

These uncertainties in place of the old fixed certainties of the "cold war" era explain why diplomats were often reluctant to push on with the great changes of 1972. Before that year, one knew what one could count on. There was always the solid rock of American hostility towards China and rivalry with Russia. The nations did their planning from those fixed channel markers. A diplomat knew what he could rely on.

What are the "solid verities" of these times?

ARAB HOSTILITY towards Israel, and vice versa, is still with us. At least there is still that one fixed landmark, although a lot of people are thoroughly weary of it and wish it would go away.

The Berlin Wall remains. But its physical meaning to the people on opposite sides has been eroded. Will it continue to be eroded until the stiff, formal new relationship between the two Germanies becomes easier and more productive?

Japan still is on very formal, cold terms with Russia. Will this change during 1973, or will Japan tend to ally itself more and more with China and increasingly share China's interest in lands gathered in by Russians at one time or another?

Perhaps the most solid feature of the new landscape is the fact of Russian armed forces growing steadily stronger along the frontier with China. Most western experts think that the Russians have by now given up any serious thought of a preemptive strike at China. The primary Russian interests may be nothing more than hanging on to the lands in Asia the acquisitive czars gathered in during the 19th Century. The Russian empire is too loosely held together to permit any territorial losses (or so the Russians seem to think).

PERHAPS THE MOST interesting question during 1973 will be about whether the Russian empire can be held together. The Jews are not the only minority group which has grievances against the dominant Russians. Why have the Russians gone back to charging exhorbitant fees for exit visas? Obviously to discourage a Jewish migration which in turn might set other minorities to wanting escape, perhaps by other means.

Most westerners are anxious about loosening of the ties among Western countries in any continuation of the detente. But the Russians have their worries, too. Perhaps they have more reason to worry.

France Wants American Force In Europe — But Not In France

By NICHOLAS DANILOFF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the United States prepares for talks on military reductions in Europe, one of its oldest allies, France, is highly skeptical that any good can come from such discussions.

France will not be participating in the talks among the United States, the Soviet Union and their allies, expected to begin in Geneva Jan. 31. France, while still a member of NATO, has opted out of the military activities of the Atlantic Alliance.

But the government in Paris has strong opinions which it has not propounded very loudly so far. The French thinking runs along these lines: The strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT) reached between the United States and the Soviet Union at the Moscow summit meeting last May is a virtual guarantee that the two countries will not engage in war with strategic nuclear weapons.

THE AGREEMENT has rekindled the hopes of diplomats for a substantial detente in Europe. This hope is being further fired by the projected talks in Geneva on mutual and balanced force reductions (which diplomats call MBFR), and by a parallel conference now in its opening stages in Helsinki, Finland, on other European security problems.

But the difficulty, in the French view, is that the Soviet Union possesses an overwhelming superiority in conventional weapons compared to the defenses of the Western European countries.

Under the reductions which may be negotiated, a sizable number of U.S. troops would be pulled back to the United States.

This would presumably please Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who has been agitating for a reduction in the 300,000 troops which the United States maintains in Europe.

It would be virtually impossible to police any force reduction agreement which the Russians might undertake. And it would be an illusion to think, the French are saying, that Soviet forces could not sweep across Europe in a well coordinated drive.

In the French thinking, the general guarantee of European peace still appears to be the American commitment symbolized by the 300,000 U.S. troops.

With that force in Europe, the United States can hardly be indifferent to a deterioration in the politico-military situation.

The French do not appear to feel there is any inconsistency in the fact that in the 1960s they obliged NATO to move its European headquarters out of France to Brussels and required the departure of U.S. forces which had been stationed in France.

France seems to appreciate the American contribution while at the same time feeling that without U.S. troops on its soil it has more independence in making its own defense decisions.

U.S. diplomats acknowledge that the projected talks on force reductions are bound to be extremely complicated because of the different weapons used by the Atlantic Alliance and its Communist opponents.

10 YEARS AGO

Jan. 4, 1963

The Marin County Grand Jury censured the Golden Gate Bridge District's board and its general manager, James Adam, in a scathing report. The board was accused of "abdicating its authority to the general manager."

20 YEARS AGO

Jan. 4, 1953

Northern California's first polio death of 1953 was recorded when a 7-year-old Placer County boy died in Marin General Hospital.

"Our neighborhoods will be peaceful and safe only after we've quit glorifying violence in any form."

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

A street sweeper in San Francisco is paid $11,000 a year. It's hard work sweeping the litter to the top of all those hills, and nobody thought to tell the guys to sweep down instead of up.

Parents of doctors in the California city are being upstaged by mothers who go around bragging about "my son the street sweeper."

It might be cheaper for a San Franciscan to deposit his litter in a safe deposit vault instead of scattering it on the street.

President Nixon is working on a new revenue sharing plan. He wants San Francisco's big spenders to share some of their spare cash with the federal government.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Can't Make New Start In '73; Too Much Left Over From '72

The year of Our Lord 1972 seemed an unusually untidy year.

New Year's Day usually has been a time for neatly packaging up all the problems of the prior year, and saying we'll start afresh with a clean slate. This cannot be, in 1973-vintage Marin, for there were so many problems left unresolved in the closing days of 1972.

A FEW of the local Gordian knots even were puzzlers left over from 1971. For example, the seemingly endless debates over the countywide general plan, and its elements including a housing mix; how to make most of West Marin into a public recreation area without having the place jammed by throngs of tourists, and the interminable talk over the future use of Hamilton Air Force Base by civilian airlines.

The past 12 months added some more cliff-hangers: whether Fairfax would ever get a new town hall, whether the county health department streamlining would ever be finished; how projects such as the North Ridge open space preserve would become a reality.

The San Rafael City Council finished the year with the seat of the late Harry A. Barbier still unfilled.

Redevelopment plans in San Rafael, Larkspur, Corte Madera and elsewhere probably will generate columns and columns of type in months to come, overshadowing all the words that were written about the controversies in 1972.

It's not a local happening, but the Vietnam war still has oppressive effect on nearly every household, seemingly more so since it looked last fall as if we'd be out of it by New Year's Day.

These continuing worries prompt me to lift a glass in an apocryphal Irish toast: May all the lumps on our heads in this new year, be bumps of wisdom!

PROGRESS, if you want to call it that, is changing even the bucolic view from the windswept hill where Highway 37 crosses Sears Point in southern Sonoma County.

It was startling, while enjoying the clear air Sunday, to spot the Transamerica Building and the new television tower dominating the skyline of San Francisco. They showed up even more clearly after sundown.

At least the jagged hump of the Farralone Islands loomed unchanged above the Pacific mist Monday, as hundreds of strollers walked across the Golden Gate Bridge. I cannot remember seeing both the Bay and the Golden Gate straits themselves so filled with sailboats on any New Year's Day.

Janitor Ordered To Serve Time On Drug Charge

A 43-year-old janitor, arrested after he set off an alarm in a building he was cleaning, has been ordered to serve 90 days in jail on charges of having drugs and a concealed weapon in his car.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court also placed Eugene Williams of Mill Valley on probation for five years.

Mill Valley police arrested Williams Aug. 8 after he allowed them to search his car. The pistol was under the front seat; marijuana and 900 pills were in the trunk, according to police.

Police said they responded to an alarm in a doctor's office, found Miller outside, and asked to search his car when they couldn't immediately verify he was the janitor.

A misdemeanor count of having pot was dismissed when Williams pleaded guilty to the other charges in November. The sentence was arrived at in a plea bargaining session between judge, district attorney and defense counsel.

ART BUCHWALD

You Don't Need To Attend Those White House Dinners

WASHINGTON — The White House, in its running feud with the Washington Post, has kept Mrs. Dorothy McCardle, a Post reporter, from covering the President's social events. It is believed that the ban will be in effect at least until after the inauguration.

This is not the catastrophe one might think it is, mainly because social events at the White House write themselves, and you really don't have to be there to cover them.

THERE IS ACTUALLY a form which reporters fill out after each affair. This is it:

President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon gave a dinner party last night in honor of the prime minister of ..... Included on the distinguished guest list were Supreme Court Justice ....., Secretary of ..... and Mrs. ....., Admiral and Mrs. ....., Gen. and Mrs. ....., Ambassador and Mrs. ....., Mr. and Mrs. ..... of the ..... Oil Co., who gave $2 million to the Republican Party, Mr. and Mrs. ..... of the ..... Insurance Co., who gave $1 million to President Nixon's campaign, and Mr. and Mrs. ..... of the ..... Automobile Co., who donated $500,000 to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. Mr. ..... is being considered as ambassador to .....

Also attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. ..... of ..... Industries. Mr. ..... is under indictment in California for violations of the antitrust law. The guests dined on Soupe aux Poissons, Boeuf Comme il Faut, Salade Haricots Blancs and Souffle Billy Graham.

DURING THE DINNER the Air Force Strings played songs from "No, No, Nanette." After coffee the President rose to toast the prime minister of .....

After the toasts, ... and his chorus came out on stage to entertain the guests. They sang Stephen Foster songs. But in the middle of "Ol' Black Joe," a young lady in the chorus reached into her bosom and pulled out a sign which said "Stop the Bombing."

School District Said Solvent Despite Growth

The Cotati-Rohnert Park School District Board has heard that the district is financially solvent, despite rapid growth in number of students.

Schools Supt. James H. Davidson told the board Tuesday the district received an additional $146,162 from the state because of the increased enrollment.

He said expenses for four new teachers, additional portable classrooms and salary increases totaled $143,649 so far this year.

Davidson said the financial picture may get even better if Senate Bill 90 is approved, since it will increase income by 15 per cent to poor districts like Cotati-Rohnert Park.

Highway Fund Fight In Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's impounding of federal highway funds is being fought in court by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and 15 Senate committee chairmen.

The Democratic senators filed a friend of the court brief Tuesday in the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis. The court is hearing a test case of the impoundment of federal highway funds for Missouri.

In June, the U.S. District Court ruled the federal government cannot impound federal highway funds indiscriminately. The Circuit Court is hearing an appeal.

Nixon has impounded more than $5 billion in highway funds over the last four years.

Contracts For Plane Awarded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has awarded $181.1 million in contracts for Phase II of the advanced medium short takeoff and landing prototype transport aircraft program, it was announced Tuesday.

Sens. Henry Jackson and Warren Magnuson, both D-Wash., said Boeing Co., Seattle, would receive $95.2 million in contracts and McDonnell Douglas Corp., Los Angeles, $85.9 million in contracts.

Authorization of Phase I of the program at $2.5 million for each of the contractors came Nov. 10.

Social Security

For most American workers, the first pay check of 1973 will be somewhat smaller than the last one of 1972. There has been an increase in the Social Security tax deducted from pay checks. Social Security began during the New Deal. The benefits and the costs have been increasing ever since. When the program began in 1937, 6 out of every 10 workers were covered. Today, 9 out of 10 employed Americans are included in the program. To meet the rise in the cost of living, Social Security pensions and taxes will rise automatically in the future, matching increases in consumer prices.

DO YOU KNOW — Are federal civilian employees covered by Social Security?

In 1969 she joined three other Mill Valley women, Mmes. Sally Garoutte, Ellen Binkley and Lou Norton for weekly quilting bees. The women formed the Mill Valley Quilt Authority and began doing research on quilting in the United States. In pursuit of her hobby Mrs. Gross has traveled thousands of miles to attend quilt shows and has given lectures about quilting.

Last October the Mill Valley Quilt Authority presented its third quilt show, "A Patch In Time" in Mill Valley. She will bring quilts from her personal collection to illustrate her talk.

PATHFINDERS WILL meet Monday at 10 a.m. at their Tea Room on the grounds of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. A luncheon for members will follow the meeting.

PHOEBE COOPER
June vows planned

Little Fella Forester Is Woman

The "little fella" scaling logs at a mill just outside Prescott is the only woman forester in the Forest Service's Southwestern Region and one of five in the country.

"In my sophomore year of college I met Susan Varren, the only girl forestry student," says Becky. "She told me that if I wanted to be a forester, there was no reason why I shouldn't be and not let anyone talk me out of it."

"There were two other girls that started with me, but they dropped out, as I knew they would," she says. "They were too delicate and flighty."

"Then it was like having 30 brothers," she says.

Her "being mistaken for a man" problem, she says, began in college. In her forest clothes and hair tucked under a hardhat, she had to talk fast to keep from being thrown out of her dormitory one day by her house mother.

Becky landed her first job as a graduate forester in the Prescott Forest in June. It was supposed to be only for the summer, but a devastating 28,000-acre fire forced a crash timber sale to salvage as much of the damaged timber as possible. Scalers were critically needed and Becky volunteered to learn.

In six weeks of on-the-job training with experienced scalers, she felt she was ready to be tested for a certification of proficiency.

Louis Liedman, veteran forester and timber expert from the Regional Office in Albuquerque, administered the test. She passed.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Try To Charm Girlfriend's Mother — It Usually Will Work

RAP:

My girlfriend and I (both 16) have been going together for three months, but mostly it hasn't been "together."

Her parents have got to be the strictest in the world. I ask her out all the time, but the usual answer is, "No, my folks won't let me." We only see each other at school and sometimes on weekends when she's allowed to go skating with girl friends. If her father knew I was there too he'd probably keep her home, (which is off-limits to me).

My friends tell me to break up and find a chick who can do things with me, but they don't know how I feel about her. I love her very much but since the Christmas holidays, when I couldn't even talk to her on the phone, I'm beginning to agree with them.

What should I do? — CONFUSED

DEAR CON:

You'd be surprised how many teen-agers have this same problem. Parents of girls are often so scared by all they read and hear that they figure boys can't be trusted, even in their own living rooms.

What can you do?

We've listed several times before all the routine procedures:

1. Go to see the girl's mother and try charming her. Mothers aren't as tough as fathers, and sometimes they'll act as go-betweens.

2. Get brave and stop over on a Sunday afternoon. If you prove you aren't trying to avoid her parents, they may accept you (grudgingly). Or you might "happen" by as she and her dad are washing the family car. A guy who helps can't be all bad, yes?

3. Perhaps your girl can initiate discussions with other parents or relatives who aren't as strict.

4. Last, the old standby: Talk it out. If teens show they "understand" parental fear and work on trust, rather than resentment, they'll crack all but the hardest nuts. Let's hope your girl's parents aren't that hard, Con.

So these are our hints. If anyone has other ideas, please give! Maybe we can run a column on "How to Educate Over-Strict Parents." — HELEN AND SUE

RAP:

Every time I ride around and look at houses I wonder how many of them are like mine inside — full of screaming? You'd think since I was born to it, I'd get adjusted, but I guess I'm the oddball. I tie up in knots when my folks start yelling at each other.

It's worst at the breakfast table. I gag on my food, but I'm not allowed to leave. The terrible part is they don't even realize how they sound, while I'm quietly going crazy. They seem to thrive on noise.

My father can yell his head off. Then goes to work and his employees think he's the greatest. I live for the day when I can leave this house. Meanwhile, how can I live in it? — PATSY

PATSY:

There are people who can only show they care through "screaming." I mean they're noisy by nature. If they didn't explode, they'd end up with ulcers.

If you can look at your folks and still see love through their fighting, then don't shut them up — just tune them out. These aren't your battles. — SUE

DEAR PATSY:

Even if they aren't "your battles," constant screaming can drive a naturally quiet person up the wall. Why not tape record one of the fights, play it back to your parents, then ask them to tone it down until you leave the house? They might even enjoy calmer breakfasts themselves, once they get used to them. — HELEN

(Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

Larger Bustlines

There is a tendency for each generation to be larger than the preceding one. According to Department of Agriculture statistics, the average woman in 1939 had a 34-inch bustline, 25-inch waist and 36-inch hips. In 1971 average measurements increased to 35-26-37.

PARENT AND CHILD

Youngsters Learn About Grading

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

Elizabeth Boynton, a ninth-grade English teacher, read two earlier "Parent and Child" columns about school grades. The first discussed the harmful effects of giving arbitrary grades; the second suggested alternative ways to register success and failure in school work.

Using the two columns and a "Peanuts" comic strip poking fun at grading, Miss Boynton worked out an English class project. This is what she writes about what she did and what happened:

"My strategy, in giving the students photocopies of the comic strip and two columns, was to engage these students in small-group discussions about a topic that concerned them and thereby, on the sly, involve them at their best in working with language through reading, speaking, listening, and writing.

"NINTH GRADERS know a great deal about grading. This, I figured, would allow them to swim instead of sink during the discussion. On the other hand, they needed to know more.

"It had taken me two hours to prepare the discussion guide given to the chairman of each six-member group. I chose questions for discussion and also questions which needed a written response.

"Now I can see the time was worth it. As I visited the groups, I was excited by their concentration. They behaved as if their words were important. This class had never been able to carry off a small-group discussion before. I decided the fault had been mine, not theirs; mine for not asking the right questions.

"The next day I asked each one to evaluate his group discussion and tell how it had affected his views. The class clown, who liked voting on the different alternatives to grading, pointed out, 'This is the best thing we've done all year.'

"SEVERAL COMMENTED they enjoyed learning that there actually were alternatives to grading. A girl, who said she and her parents were very upset with the present system of grading and would do all they could to change it, wrote:

" 'This discussion made us feel like people, not things.' "

Grading is an excellent topic for use by English teachers to hold small-group discussions. It is also a topic where parents and children can meet as peers exploring ideas as equals from radically different perspectives.

If parents don't initiate such a discussion, then the children should prepare some discussion materials. Grading is different at different school levels and varies widely, of course, from teacher to teacher and from school to school. Discussion guidelines need to be set.

With no absolute measure to use as a standard, this means that grading and reward-punishment systems must always be compromise solutions. And compromises are best when all affected agree on the ground rules.

His Name's Known In 40 Nations

By ALINE WILLBUR
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

DALLAS — No wonder women in 40 countries have learned how to pronounce Ca-cha-rel and are collecting the imaginative French sweaters and their coordinated shirts, garbardine pants, and skirts, to play the mix-match game.

The Cacharel label brings the softness of cashmere and a body-hugging fit, not to be confused with the tight fit of stretch fabric, expressed in some of the most feminine fabrics that casual sportswear has seen. These include a light flannel, challis, wool jersey, and a lightweight wool gabardine, which Jean Cacharel himself calls "a 12-month fabric."

The Frenchman creates all his own fabrics and colors; some are in sunny, solid shades or cool pastels, but most are in the unusual print designs which launched him on the road to fame seven years ago.

THE PRINTS are small-scaled florals or tiny checks and whimsical nursery prints inspired by illustrations of old-fashioned children's books. What the prints have in common is a subtlety that creates an over-all effect; only at close range is one conscious of what the print really is.

The big news this winter is the "cache-coeur" (heart-warmer), a short, snug front-wrap weskit to wear over blouses, and the "sarraut," a long-belted overblouse with round collar and cuffs similar to the cover-up grade-school children wear to protect their clothes. The cache-coeur can be worn with skirts or slacks; the sarraut, because of its length, requires pants.

Designed for slender women, Cacharel clothes have a fit and a look which has a universal appeal. Some 60 per cent of Cacharel clothes are sold overseas without any adaptation or change in sizing for any country.

"They bring a new personality to the woman who wears them," Mr. Cacharel says proudly "and this is why they appeal to Japanese women as well as to American women."

In Dallas for a short visit to present his new collection, the handsome designer-manufacturer and his wife, Dominique, frankly admit that they are amazed at the quick growth of Cacharel. Seven years ago, when Jean Cacharel left his hometown of Nimes in southern France for Paris, he was a well-known soccer player and a tailor by trade. Bored by the drabness of men's clothes, he decided to invade women's sportswear, and bring color to it.

"Seven years ago ready-to-wear was in its infancy and women's slacks were black, navy, or red," Cacharel said. He started in his own apartment with custom-made slacks and shirts, but in a year he had so many orders on a waiting list that he was forced into ready-to-wear.

THAT IN turn led to weaving his own fabrics. "This was the only way I could be assured to have always the right weight, quality, and design," he explained. Cacharel factories are now scattered around Paris and in the south of France.

Four years ago, Cacharel Boutiques sprang up in Paris and in major French cities. There are now 20 of them in France alone. They sell exclusively Cacharel clothes, offering customers a quick, easy way to achieve a wide variety of looks.

"No unisex for us" Mr. Cacharel explains. "The men's clothes are quite different in look and are as masculine as the women's line is feminine."

But what really excites Dominique and Jean is the reception they hope their children's clothes will have in the United States. "They are as practical as blue jeans" stresses Dominique, "only a little more elegant and colorful."

Press Is Subject Of Bagley Attack

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman William Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday accused the news media of "seeming hypocrisy" and complained of "incessant criticism" of the Legislature by the press.

Bagley, who declared he was not trying to "ape" Vice President Spiro Agnew, said that lawmakers often receive a "lot of unnecessary heat." Agnew is well-known for his criticism of the news media.

"If we don't get something done," Bagley said, "we are accused of partisan bickering. If we do get something done, we are accused of engaging in an unholy alliance."

The "unholy alliance" comment referred to a description of the joint support of both Gov. Ronald Reagan and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, of a $1.1 billion school finance-property tax relief bill. The description originated with legislative opponents of the bill.

"That's not an unholy alliance, that's how the system works," said Bagley.

He declared such comments are "unfair," warning that the public is losing faith in the Legislature. Bagley asked for a halt to the "incessant criticism."

The assemblyman said he "hijacked" the bill and "rammed it out" during the last days of the 1972 session.

"But," he added, "you didn't hear one adverse word (in the news media) because that bill was favorably received."

Bagley charged that other "hijacked" measures which were not favored by the media received a different treatment."

McDonald's Hits Back In Big Suit

McDonald's hamburger restaurants yesterday filed a $11 million federal antitrust suit against San Francisco's labor unions and restaurant owners for allegedly stopping their application for three new eating places.

The suit said the company now operates two restaurants in San Francisco and was denied licenses for three others despite the fact they complied with "all of the necessary code requirements, ordinances and regulations."

The suit contends that the defendants conspired by bringing pressure, including political pressure, on the Board of Permit Appeals.

The defendants were not acting in good faith, the suit said, in "their consistent, repeated and baseless opposition" to the permits and they knew their opposition to be "a sham and frivolous."

Defendants were the San Francisco Local Joint Board of Culinary Workers, Bartenders, and Hotel, Motel and Club Service Workers, the Golden Gate Restaurant Association and Hotel Employers Association.

Evers Is Named To Bay Group

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Regan has named William D. Evers, a San Francisco attorney, as chairman of the San Francisco Bay Conversation and Development Commission.

Evers, 45, a member of the commission since June 1967, succeeds Melvin B. Lane of Atherton, who resigned.

Call Made For Safety At Airports

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The director of the state Aeronautics Department Wednesday proposed far-reaching legislation designed to prevent recurrence of the Sept. 24 ice cream parlor tragedy in Sacramento where 22 people were killed by an F86 Sabrejet.

The proposal by Joseph R. Crotti, which would affect every California airport in densely populated zones, was unveiled at the opening of a two-day hearing by the Assembly Natural Resources Committee on airport safety.

Crotti urged the 1973 Legislature to appropriate vast sums of money to purchase land developments in the direct line of busy airport runways, to establish "green belts" around airports, and to "put teeth back into" local land use commissions.

He also called for state standards on zoning around airports, the requirement of barriers at the ends of dangerous runways and the shortening of runways that lack sufficient "clear zones."

The director said airports are "an endangered species" and like wild animals "they become dangerous when they are hemmed in."

Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, committee chairman, indicated he may sponsor legislation during the upcoming session to prevent recurrence of the Sabrejet crash at other airports in densely populated areas.

Several other local representatives proposed measures similar to that of Crotti and detailed specific instances where they had been unable to halt development around airports because of weak state laws.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., has introduced a bill to convert the United States to the metric system of measurements. "The United States is one of the last nations to remain on the old system of measures," Teague said Wednesday.

Youth Is Held For Auto Theft

A 19-year-old Waldo Point resident has been ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court after a Marin Municipal Court judge ruled enough evidence exists to try him on an auto theft charge.

Ordered to appear Wednesday by Judge David R. Baty was Adam Jesse James, arrested Dec. 17 after residents of apartments at 450 East Strawberry Drive in Strawberry detained him as a possible prowler.

Deputies determined the car he was driving was stolen from Vito Migale of San Francisco.

Students Burn Effigy Of Nixon

DACCA (UPI) — Students hoisted the flags of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong atop the United States Information Service (USIS) building Wednesday and then burned an effigy of President Nixon.

They also hoisted a black flag to mourn the death of two other students who were killed Monday during a violent demonstration in protest against U.S. bombing of North Vietnam outside the USIS building.

Police guarding the USIS center and library withdrew Tuesday.

PARKING LOT REPAIR JOB — Frank Lathrope, founder of the "Car-Doc" mobile automotive repair service, replaces an ailing auto's muffler in a downtown San Rafael parking lot. Lathrope and his partners will take their well-stocked van anywhere in Marin for emergency auto repairs, days, nights or weekends. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

GARAGE ON WHEELS

Doctor For Ailing Autos Even Makes House Calls

By JEFF GREER

Frank Lathrope of Fairfax owns a stethoscope, forceps and hemostats just like a medical doctor, but he does his surgery on ailing autos.

Lathrope and two partners launched their "Car-Doc" business in October. Since then, their bright yellow truck has buzzed around Marin County day and night, putting distressed motorists' cars back into running order.

The truck is a miniature service station on wheels, stocked with ignition parts, fan belts, radiator hoses, oil and even gasoline to help motorists who simply have run dry.

The emergencies range from drying out the distributor of a San Anselmo merchant's auto on a stormy night to paying a house call on a weekend to replace brake linings on a housewife's family chariot in Tamalpais Valley.

And the van has made nighttime runs to Marin motels and trailer parks to soothe balky engines for tourists while they slept.

Lathrope and his partners, Michael Tachet and Neil Crowley of Greenbrae, all hold other jobs to support their families while the Car-Doc venture is getting started — but their hours are staggered so one is always available for an emergency run.

Lathrope's wife, Carolyn, takes customer calls and handles the books from the couple's home at 76 Wood Lane.

The truck, equipped with two-way radio, should be accustomed to the snow-rain-sleet routine, Lathrope explained, laughing. It's a rebuilt Post Office vehicle, still retaining its right-hand driver's seat.

"We want to get two more trucks and outfit them completely," Lathrope added.

The Car-Doc's tool chest is a gadget nut's dream. Tucked inside are an oscilloscope for tune-ups, an array of timing lights, compression testers and every description of wrench, plier and other tool found in a normal service station.

Neatly crowded in are Lathrope's stethoscope — useful for locating sinister noises in a running engine — and the forceps, hemostats and other tools he's adapted for special mechanical tasks.

"I have a standing order with all the tool supply places to let me know when anything good comes in," explained the balding, mid-40ish Lathrope. "If a tool can make the job easier or save time, I want it."

Lathrope took a service station gas-pumping job after he got out of the Army in 1946. He soon graduated to mechanical work, not entirely willingly.

"The boss told me to rebuild the carburetor on a Cadillac parked outside the station. I said I didn't know how; he said do it," Lathrope said. "I lifted the hood, saw that four-barrel carb staring at me and put the hood right down again."

But pressed by his employer, he disassembled, cleaned and reassembled the gadget and the auto ran well. "The boss told me I had eyes in my fingers and knew how to take things apart and put them back together again," the Car-Doc founder recalled. "He sure trusted me — I found out it was his car."

Among his best customers are doctors and other professional men who don't want their cars put out of commission for long. Lathrope will perform a tuneup or replace a muffler in the office parking lot.

He won't charge extra for night or week end work. Car-Doc's flat $10 service call is absorbed into the bill if the emergency is anything major, such as a tune-up or a carburetor replacement.

Lathrope had to turn down one job Tuesday evening, he confessed yesterday.

"I happened onto a car stalled on the freeway, and offered Car-Doc's services," Lathrope related. "But the driver wanted me to lift out the whole engine and put in a new one, right there on the freeway."

Eyesore Bus Removed From School

A battered yellow school bus, its windows shattered and tires flattened after repeated attacks by vandals, was towed from San Rafael High School yesterday amid complaints by neighbors and school officials that it was an eyesore.

The bus, owned by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, was towed to the school last month for repair by students enrolled in the county's regional occupational program, according to program director Douglas P. Moore.

But repair of the bus, which was missing its drive shaft and needed a major overhaul, was beyond the capability of the students.

"We didn't want the bus anyway," Moore said yesterday. "But somehow we got stuck with it."

The bus, parked in the school parking lot, quickly became the target of vandals, who flattened its tires, smashed at least 14 windows, broke the headlights and ripped wiring from the engine.

After repeated complaints by angry school officials and concerned neighbors, the bus was towed away yesterday for possible repair by a San Rafael car dealer.

Woman Denies Drug Charge

A 20-year-old Texan has denied in Marin Municipal Court that she tried to pass a forged prescription at a Tamalpais Valley drug store.

After the innocent plea by Betty Frances Kingsbury, formerly of Austin, a preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

She was arrested Dec. 27 at the Shoreline Drugstore, 205 Flamingo Road, after the druggist became suspicious of the signature on a prescription and called sheriff's deputies.

Drastic Rezoning Said Needed To Trim Density

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — Drastic rezoning to cut the density allowed in undeveloped areas of Marin and other Bay Area counties will have to begin soon, the Association of Bay Area Government staff warned yesterday.

Current zoning in the region would allow a population of 25 million, more than the present population of the entire state, according to ABAG's regional planning director, Rudolph R. Platzek.

Even this figure represents recent drastic cuts especially in "downzoning" of agricultural areas of Marin, Sonoma and Alameda counties, he said.

At present, Marin shows a zoned population 200 per cent greater than the population allowed by its city and county master plans. Current zoning in the county would allow 800,000 people, while the general plans provide for 400,000 by 1990, the staff report said.

In Sonoma, the disparity is 400 per cent, or a zoned population of 1.6 million compared to a planned population of 400,000. Other figures were 700 per cent in Napa, 200 per cent in San Mateo, 220 per cent in Contra Costa, 260 per cent in Alameda and 230 per cent in Santa Clara.

The staff pointed to a new state law that requires zoning to match general plans by this coming July. The law has no provision to punish jurisdictions which fail to comply with it, but the staff noted that taxpayers' suits could be expected to enforce the new law.

The staff report was given to ABAG's regional planning committee, which asked the staff to come back with "an action program" for state legislation to coordinate land use throughout the region. The staff will report its recommendations at the next committee meeting at 4 p.m. on Feb. 7 in the Claremont Hotel.

The zoning for 25 million people "contrasts markedly" with the general plans of the region, whose population targets total roughly eight million in 1990, Platzek's report said. It also contrasts with the state's projection of 6.6 million in 1990 and ABAG's recently adopted growth planning guideline of 5.5 million by 1980, he added.

Platzek, a resident of San Rafael, said that failure to coordinate zoning with planning contributes to premature and unnecessary development of open space, development in hazardous areas and "feelings on the part of the citizenry that growth is unmanaged and does not preserve human or natural resources, contributing to the current stop-growth movement."

He suggested "vesting some authority at the regional level" to share the costs and benefits of large new developments. This would reduce competition among local governments for industry and development, he said.

Local zoning, Platzek said, should be tied more closely to ABAG's regional plan.

Police Say Purse Shopping Bag

A Fairfax woman, who police said used her purse as a shopping bag, was arrested yesterday in San Anselmo on suspicion of burglarizing a San Anselmo food store.

Charlotte McNaulty, 47, of 30 Acacia Road, was booked into Marin County Jail and released on her own recognizance to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Officers said officials of the Safeway Store at 900 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard saw the woman making repeated trips from the store to her car, where she unloaded items from her purse, according to police. Police said she purchased goods worth about $13, but additional items worth $51 were found in her car, according to police.

Old Dixie School In Register Of Historical Spots

The 113-year-old Dixie Schoolhouse has been entered in the National Register of Historical Places, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R.-Sixth District, announced yesterday.

The action, taken by the Department of Interior, makes the one-room building eligible for matching federal grants for refurbishing and preservation, Mailliard said.

The schoolhouse, which served as a school from the 1860s until 1954, is currently being restored by the Dixie Schoolhouse Foundation, a group that hopes to turn the facility into a community hall and museum.

Foundation members last year financed the relocation of the school from its original site alongside Highway 101, north of San Rafael, to its present location near Miller Creek School in San Rafael.

The interior of the building is being restored to that of a turn-of-the-century schoolhouse, with foundation members furnishing the school with old desks, clocks and educational antiques.

Youths Invited To Sessions On Animal Diseases

Young persons between the ages of 8 and 18 may attend the five final sessions of a nine-part series on animal diseases being conducted by Marin County veterinarians, according to Mary Karinden of the Marin County farm advisor's office.

The next meeting, dealing with animal parasites, will be at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 15 at the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science in San Rafael.

Dominican Educators To Probe New Ideas

New ideas for elementary and high schools will be discussed at a conference for principals and vice principals of such schools operated by the Dominican Sisters of San Rafael tomorrow and Saturday at Dominican Convent.

Among speakers will be Jim Olivero, executive director of Nueva Day School and Learning Center in Hillsborough, which has a contract with its teachers believed to be unique. Each teacher must agree to do research in the field of his interest. The material he develops is tested in the school, and if found worthwhile, is published.

Other featured speakers will be Robert Lamp, director of the educational planning laboratory at University of San Francisco; Charles Lavaroni, director of in-service education at Dominican College, San Rafael; Sister Peter Traviss, assistant director of education for the Mission San Jose Sisters; Mrs. Victoria Katz, assistant director for student activities at De Anza College, Cupertino; Rev. Thomas J. Riley, assistant superintendent of the Archdiocese of San Francisco's education department, and Dorothy Blackmore, consultant in early childhood education for the State Department of Education.

Improvement of students' self-image, creativity, developing performance standards, counseling and guidance programs, and continuous programs to evaluate schools and teachers will be among priority items, according to Sister Francis de Sales, director of education for the Dominican Sisters.

Audubon Society Opens Marsh Wildlife Survey

The Marin Audubon Society has begun a wildlife survey of the marsh and mudflat areas on Larkspur and Corte Madera bayfront lands.

George Ellman, the society's conservation chairman, said the survey will be used in the society's opposition to development proposals for the marshlands, which include the town of Corte Madera's redevelopment plans.

Residents of Marin who visit the area are asked to contribute names of species of birds and wildlife they spot, together with the date and time and location of sighting.

Ellman said the society suspects that many bird watchers and nature lovers already have conducted informal surveys of their own, but a central compilation is needed.

"There has been a tendancy to say it's a dead marsh," he added, "but we know this is far from true."

Photographs and historical records also are sought by the society, which may be contacted at Box 441, Tiburon.

Audubon Society Will See Film On Pygmy Forest

A movie, open to the public, about the Pygmy Forest staircase in Mendocino County will be shown by the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Ross School auditorium.

Field trips open to the public sponsored by the society this month include one to Bolinas Ridge on Jan. 13. Naturalist Clerin Zumwalt will lead a five-mile hike along the ridge, beginning at 9 a.m. at the junction of Ridgecrest Boulevard and Bolinas Ridge Road.

On Jan. 28 a hike from Muddy Hollow to Coast Camp in the Point Reyes National Seashore will be led by Elizabeth Terwilliger. Those wishing to join the hike may meet at 10 a.m. at Muddy Hollow.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Famous people! But what made them great! Try to guess whether each statement about them is true or false.

1. FLOYD PATTERSON, is that "good guy" who became a remarkable American prize fighter. He is 38 today. In the history of the heavyweight ring, he is the only champion who ever lost his title to a contender and then came back to regain it with a crushing knockout of his opponent. Is that true or false?

2. JANE WYMAN, Hollywood film star, reaches 59 today. This winner of an Academy Award for best actress in 1948 got it for playing a deaf mute in the picture "Johnny Belinda." But she gave up her movie career 20 years later after her husband Ronald Reagan was elected Governor of California. True or false?

3. DON SHULA, head coach of the Miami "Dolphins," is 43 today. He charted his hard-hitting team to an American Football Conference title last year, defeating the Kansas City Chiefs in pro football's longest game (82 minutes, 40 seconds). But his "Dolphins" went down to defeat before the Dallas "Cowboys" in the Super Bowl, 24 to 3. True? False?

4. ISAAC NEWTON (1642-1727) would be elated to learn that Stanford University has reintroduced a non-credit course in "How to Enjoy Fishing" because he was the one in the 17th century who helped make this activity a fine art by authoring "The Compleat Angler, or the Contemplative Man's Recreation." Reallly — is that true or false?

ANSWERS: 1 - True (a real champion); 2 - False (Jane is divorced from Reagan); 3 - True (a tough loss); 4- False (This describes Izaak Walton, not Isaac Newton).

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Declarer Must Play For That Break For Pulling Off Victory

As defenders, we get into the habit of leading in an "orthodox" way because of the importance of informing partner. As declarer, however, there is no need to keep partner informed. All partner wants to know is that the contract has been fulfilled; the details are completely up to you.

Opening lead — ♠ 4

TRUMP ACTION

West opened the queen of spades and continued the suit. South ruffed and had to tackle the trumps.

The temptation was very strong to lead the king of hearts out of sheer habit. This would have been fatal. West would win with the singleton ace, and East would later get two additional trump tricks. The three trumps and one spade would defeat the contract.

LOW LEAD BETTER

South thought about the trumps for an additional moment or two. If the hearts were divided 3-2, he would have to lose two trump tricks no matter how he played the suit. He could afford to lead a low trump the first time, and he could lead the king of trumps the next time. This would give the enemy only the same two trump tricks that were bound to be theirs.

The advantage of leading a low trump the first time was that one of the opponents might have the singleton ace. South therefore led a low trump and saved his vulnerable game contract.

CONTRACT SAFE

West had to win with the ace of hearts. Now South could regain the lead and draw two rounds of trumps with the king and queen. He lost only two trump tricks in all, and the contract was therefore safe.

Partner opens with two spades and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - K 7 3
♥ - 5
♦ - 10 9 8 4
♣ - J 8 6 3 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 2-NT. You will show the spade support later, but you must avoid an immediate show of strength when your high cards consist only of one king.

Republicans Set Three-Day Meeting

FRESNO (UPI) — The board of directors of the California Republican Assembly have scheduled a three-day meeting here starting Jan. 19.

The board is expected to take up a number of resolutions including some which are critical of President Richard Nixon, according to CRA president D. Donald Pretzer of Thousand Oaks.

Princess Anne Said Serious About Soldier

The latest round of talk about Anne, 22, the only daughter of Queen Elizabeth II, began after newspapers learned Phillips spent New Year weekend as the guest of the Queen and the royal family.

Phillips is a lieutenant in the Queen's Dragoon Guards and recently has been Anne's steady beau. Buckingham Palace said Tuesday he was among the guests for the royal family's New Year weekend at Sandringham Castle estate in Norfolk.

DOLLAR INCREASE OVER 1971 $128,085,115

Yes, almost $21,021,348 extra cash went into the pockets of Marin home owners in 1972 because they wisely listed their property through Multiple Listing Service. Thus they got 225 Realtor members of the Marin County Board of Realtors and a sales force of over a thousand realty experts working for them. This makes short work of selling desirable property at profitable prices!

NO EXTRA COMMISSION!

The cost to you of a fast sale through Multiple Listing, as compared to the slow, old-fashioned way, is NOT ONE DOLLAR MORE. You pay the REGULAR COMMISSION ONLY to get the services of 225 member offices and over 1000 sales people.

NOTICE OF IMPROVEMENT SEWER PLANT EXPANSION, PUMP STATION, AND TRANSMISSION AND COLLECTION FACILITIES ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 28th day of June, 1972, the Board of Directors of the San Rafael Sanitation District of Marin County, California, adopted its Resolution of Intention No. 247, as subsequently amended, wherein it did declare that in its opinion the public interest and convenience required and that it was the intention of said Board to order acquisitions and improvements in and for said District, as follows:

a) The construction of all offtract sanitary sewage transmission facilities necessary to transmit sewage from the area of the proposed assessment district to the existing sewage treatment plant of the San Rafael Sanitation District of Marin County, located at the intersection of the northerly extension of Biscayne Drive and Pt. San Pedro Road, including sanitary sewage pump station, force main, gravity sewer, modification of existing pump station, and all necessary connections.

b) The construction of all facilities and improvements necessary to expand the capacity of said sewage treatment plant from approximately 500 residential connections to approximately 1600 residential connections.

c) The construction of a reclaimed water irrigation system, consisting of lake excavation, pump station, storm drain relocation, transmission mains and potable water and electric power facilities.

d) The acquisition of all lands and easements and the doing of all work auxiliary to any of the above and necessary to complete the same.

All of said work and improvements are to be constructed at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes, dimensions and materials, and at the lines, grades and elevations shown and delineated on the plans, profiles and specifications preliminarily approved therefor by the Board of Directors of said District and on file for public inspection in the office of the District Secretary.

Notice is hereby given of the fact that in many cases said work and improvements will bring the finished surface of the ground to a grade different from the surface as it now exists, and that to said extent said grades will be changed and that said work will be done to said changed grades.

Said contemplated acquisitions and improvements, in the opinion of said Board, are of more than local or ordinary public benefit, and the costs and expenses thereof are made chargeable upon an assessment district, the exterior boundaries of which are the composite and consolidated area as more particularly shown on a map thereof on file in the office of the District Secretary, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars. Said map indicates by a boundary line the extent of the territory included in the proposed district and shall govern for all details as to the extent of the assessment district.

Notice is hereby given that serial bonds to represent unpaid assessments and bear interest at the rate of not to exceed 7% per annum, will be issued in the manner provided in the Improvement Bond Act of 1915 (Division 10 of the Streets and Highways Code), the last installment of which bonds shall mature not to exceed fourteen years from the second day of July next succeeding ten months from their date.

The descriptions of the acquisitions and improvements and the termini of the work contained in the Resolution of Intention are general in nature. Son Of O'Neill In Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The name of C. William O'Neill is again on the roster of the Ohio House of Representatives. The 26-year-old O'Neill was sworn into that office Monday by his father—C. William O'Neill, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The elder O'Neill served in the Ohio House from 1939 through 1950 and was once its speaker. He was Attorney General from 1951 through 1956 and governor of Ohio from 1957 through 1960.

"Obviously, though I am a new representative, the name will have some advantages," the younger O'Neill said. "But I also have a lot to live up to."

Development On Ranches Is Opposed

The Lucas Valley Homeowners Association announced it will oppose plans to place 745 dwellings on the sprawling Alfred Luis and Edward J. Grady ranches in Upper Lucas Valley.

An association spokesman, Martin A. Schainbaum, said the plans, scheduled for review by the county planning commission on Monday, show "too many houses and too many people."

Another association member, Ron Marinoff, told the Independent-Journal the group does not oppose development of the land, but rather the kind of development.

He said the development plans submitted to the county show too many apartment and townhouse units.

Early last year, the association suggested rezoning the picturesque 2,732 acres to a low-density designation but later agreed to work with property owners on development plans acceptable to both.

Schainbaum said representatives of the Luiz and Grady families met several times with association members and appeared to be near a compromise plan at one point.

However, he continued, negotiations broke down and the 745-unit development plan was submitted to the county for consideration.

"Their position of 745 housing units is unacceptable," Schainbaum said. "The association claims that 745 structures, which includes 140 garden apartments, 425 townhouses and 180 single-family residential units, will ruin the unique environment of Lucas Valley by compressing too many units and people into the available reasonably developable land.

Chess Tourney Is Announced

A championship chess tournament for Marin County residents only has been announced by the Ross Valley Chess Club.

Club president Jerry Frazier said 40 moves must be complete in the first 90 minutes of play, and the entry fee will include a year's membership in the club.

Players may register any Tuesday at the club's meetings at 7 p.m. at the Pepperwood coffee shop in the Redhill Shopping Center, San Anselmo, or mail entries to Frazier at 37 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo.

The tournament schedule will be played Jan. 16, 23 and 30, and Feb. 6 and 13, from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. All entries must be in by Jan. 15, said Frazier, and cash prizes will be awarded.

What's Next In Space For U.S.?

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The United States ended 1972 "on the verge of understanding the evolution of another planet," in the words of Apollo 17 crewman Dr. Harrison H. (Jack) Schmitt, the first scientist to walk the surface of the moon.

The Apollo 17 venture to the moon—the last moon exploration on the nation's current space calendar—provided a treasure trove whose value to science is already under study and will be for a long time to come. No one yet knows all that mankind may have learned from that fantastically successful expedition.

Meantime, what's next in space?

It may be, as some have said, that American men will not again walk the moon this century. But the nation's science is not through with the moon. So eminent an authority as Dr. Wernher von Braun has said Americans will be back on the moon within 20 years. By 1990, he forecasts, people will be living weeks at a time on the moon, traveling it in special vehicles, experimenting with "lunar gardens," perhaps becoming self-sustaining there.

Until that day, American space activity and exploration will be at lower levels, perhaps no more than a few hundred miles away from Earth for the next decade or more. There will be, experts are convinced, manned Earth-orbiting space stations, possibly with American and Soviet scientists working together. And as more is learned, there is an expectation the United States may attempt a manned expedition to Mars, either late in this century or early in the next.

None of these ambitious aspirations will be much forwarded in 1973, or for some years after. During 1973 there will be a concentration on Earth orbit in the Skylab program. Then, due to budget cutbacks, will come an anticipated lag in U.S. space activity of at least four years, possibly longer.

For the time being the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is concentrating what resources it has on the development of a combination airplane and spaceship called the Space Shuttle. It is designed to lower the cost of operating in space and make possible almost routine orbital flight by scientists and engineers who will have little or no need for astronaut training.

The shuttle is scheduled to make its first test flights into Earth orbit in 1978. The project, however, is vulnerable to funding cutbacks and NASA officials fear that any significant delays forced by national monetary problems could kill the program.

"Whether it will be stretched out in a major way, or—even worse to contemplate—whether it will be stretched out so far you couldn't do it, is hard to say," according to NASA Administrator James C. Fletcher. "I'll certainly try hard not to let that happen and I don't see it happening in the near future."

In any event, the United States is now committed to manned Earth orbital flight for at least 10 years. The equipment to land on the moon no longer is there after Apollo 17. It would take years to design and build improved lunar landing apparatus and Earth orbit to moon orbit shuttle ships, all of which would have to be carried into space by the space shuttle.

"We're not going to give up on what happens in the solar system, but we're going to try and get that information with the unmanned flights," Fletcher says. NASA is planning a series of automated probes to explore Venus, Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn this decade.

Manned flight is scheduled to return to Earth orbit in the spring with the Skylab project. Skylab is a large orbiting laboratory now undergoing final testing at Cape Kennedy. It will be America's first space station. It is designed to see how well man can live and work in weightless space for long periods.

Three three-man crews are scheduled to spend a total of five months in the 190,000-pound assembly over an eight-month period. They will live in a two-level cabin with as much room as a small house and the comfort of a naval ship.

Apollo veteran Charles Conrad will command the first Skylab mission. He, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz are scheduled to be launched May 1, 1973—a day after the Skylab is launched unmanned into a 270-mile high orbit. They will remain aboard the station for 28 days and then return to an Atlantic Ocean splashdown in the Apollo command ship that carried them into orbit.

Alan L. Bean, another moon pilot, will command the second Skylab mission with Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma. They are scheduled for launch July 30 and plan to remain aboard Skylab for eight weeks. The third crew, Gerald P. Carr, Dr. Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue, is scheduled for launch Oct. 31 on the final eight-week mission.

The joint Soviet-American spaceflight set for 1975 will follow Skylab. In that unique project, three Americans in an Apollo command ship will rendezvous and link up with two Russians in a Soyuz spacecraft.

A special airlock module being built in the United States will serve as a common link between the two ships and permit spacemen to visit each other's craft. The two ships will stay docked for 48 hours and then the Russian craft will return to Earth while the Apollo stays up for as long as 10 more days.

NASA's Fletcher has said he expedts that Russians will land on the moon before the end of the decade. So far as a manned American flight to Mars is concerned, Fletcher said recently:

"I think we'll get there, probably by the end of this century. We may get there earlier if the Russians start to move too fast. That would tend to spur things along. But even without this, I think we'll get there. With luck, maybe we'll do it with the Russians."

No Increase In School Funds Seen

Trustees of the Reed School District have learned the district's income will not increase substantially from the present level as the result of a new state tax shift bill recently signed into law.

Charles Condrotte, district business manager, told the board Tuesday that it will no longer be possible to depend on money from increases in assessed valuation to finance new programs, since assessed valuation will have no bearing on income once the measure goes into effect.

"This means that any time the board wants to initiate a new program, it will have to cut out something else," Condrotte said.

Under the law, the state will set the revenue for each district, according to the business manager. Currently, revenue is determined by the amount of aid the state provides for each student enrolled and by assessed valuation in that district.

Reed's 1972-73 budget is $2.5 million, and the district can expect a small boost, to approximately $2.6 million once the law becomes effective, he said.

But, after that, Condrotte said the revenue apportioned to Reed by the state will only be increased to meet rises in the cost of living or increased enrollment.

PREP CAGE

Terra Linda Tops Rancho

Terra Linda High School sank its first five shots last night and continued its outside bombardment to take a 57-43 non-league basketball victory over Rancho Cotate in Rohnert Park.

In other contests, as Marin County Athletic League teams played their final games before opening of league play tomorrow, Drake drubbed Hogan of Vallejo, 79-61; San Marin fell to Sonoma, 71-65; and Marin Catholic topped Analy of Sebastopol, 67-42.

In the only other scheduled game, forward Neil Hennessy's two layups in the final 45 seconds enabled Redwood to edge host City College of San Francisco's junior varsity, 59-58.

The win upped Terra Linda's final pre-league mark to 6-8. The Cougars finished their pre-league season with a 6-5 record, with all the losses coming against Marin schools.

'VERY HAPPY'

"I was very happy with the things I saw," Trojan coach Bob Corley commented. "Everyone was hustling, the kids were hitting their shots and clearing the boards."

The Trojans connected on 40 per cent of their field goal attempts, but their percentage ent down in the last few minutes when Corley cleared his bench. Most of Terra Linda's shot attempts were from outside 15 feet, with Nick Mattos doing much of the long distance damage.

Getting the points inside for the Trojans was Mark Lowey, who was the game's leading scorer with 19 points. Lowey also picked off 11 rebounds to pace Terra Linda behind Scott Logan's 13 caroms.

COUGARS FLAT

The Cougars looked flat most of the game except for an early second-half surge which cut the margin down from 18 to 12 points. "We haven't played for two weeks, and that really hurt us," Rancho Cotate coach Mike Francis said. "We just weren't ready to play, and it showed."

Leading the Cougar effort was Marshall Brant, who scored 13 points, with most of them coming on muscle plays underneath the basket. John Sorenson chipped in with eight points for the losers.

Drake (11-3) concluded its most successful cage pre-season in years, pounding Hogan. Three Pirates scored in double figures, as Eddie Joe Chavez had 20 points, John Channell 14, and Don Asay 10.

San Marin (6-5) came back from a 15 point third quarter deficit to cut the margin to two late in the fourth quarter. However, the Dragons sank some clutch freethrows to win.

MUSTANGS

The Mustangs dominated the boards, outrebounding the hosts, 48-28, but shot only 38 per cent from the field. Sonoma shot 59 per cent. Hoza Wright topped San Marin scorers with 20 while John had 17, and Fred Doar, 15. Skip Starnes contributed seven, and a game leading 12 rebounds.

Marin Catholic (8-7) had a well balanced attack as nine players scored in the one-sided victory over visiting Analy. The Wildcats shot a blistering 59.5 per cent by converting 22 of 37 field goal attempts, while holding Analy to 37.2 per cent on 16 of 43. "We played the type of game we were trying for. We slowed down the tempo the way we wanted to. We're as ready for the league (Marin County Athletic League) as we'll ever be," "Wildcats coach Dave Gonsalves said today.

USF's Junior Varsity Handles Tar Cagers

Marin's Defense Falters

By LEW CODDINGTON

The University of San Francisco did not reach the nation's top 20 by recruiting bad basketball players, a fact which became apparent last night when the Dons' junior varsity soundly defeated College of Marin, 70-62, in Kentfield.

Even with their two best players gone to join the nationally-ranked varsity in Seattle, the visitors controlled the game throughout, building a 60-44 lead and never really allowing Marin to threaten. About 300 fans watched in silence.

"I've never seen a team so flat," said coach John Panagakis of his Tars, who lost for only the second time in 14 tries this season.

The game marked a homecoming of sorts for 6-foot-5 USF freshman Jim Thorne, who once played for Redwood High School in Larkspur. Thorne tossed in 12 points, 10 in the first half as the Dons pulled out to a 37-28 lead at intermission.

The game's star, however, was USF's Larry Deal, who came off the bench to score 23 points. Center Roger LaLanne added 15 and guard Chris Lawrence 12.

The Tars lapsed in an area where they usually are strong — defense — allowing LaLanne and Deal to make a number of easy inside bank shots. For variety, Deal, Lawrence and Thorne threw in jump shots from outside.

USF (8-2) shot 45 per cent from the floor for the game, making 29 shots in 65 attempts despite some early cold shooting. By contrast, Marin hit 38 per cent (28 of 73).

Guard Joe DeMaestri scored 20 points to lead the Tars. Dana La Ferriere added 14 and Wil Garner and Joe Smith 10 each.

"I hate to think what the score would have been if they (USF) had had their best players," speculated Panagakis. Stars Howard Smith and Richard Johnson stepped up to the varsity before the game.

Marin seized an early 11-6 lead, but the Dons went ahead for good midway through the first half on a jump shot by Thorne for 23-21. The lead grew to 41-30 early in the second half, and Marin couldn't get untracked long enough to score more than four straight points until USF had a 64-50 lead. A brief flurry cut the score to 64-56, but the Dons clinched the victory with a series of free throws over the final two minutes.

TEAM MARK FALLS

A Happy Finley Sees Hot Seals

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — As owner Charles O. Finley watched happily, the California Golden Seals broke their team scoring record by storming past Vancouver 11-3 Wednesday night, but all was not rosy with the outspoken Seals owner.

Rookie winger Pete Laframboise led the stampede with a four-goal performance while Ivan Boldirev and Craig Patrick added two apiece. Boldirev is coming back after an injury and could help turn things around for the Seals, who have won only seven times this season.

It was Finley's first appearance here for a hockey game this season. Only 2,702 fans joined him to see the Seals roll up their biggest score since coming west six years ago.

It was the first time in four tries that the Seals had defeated the Canucks, who had won each of the three previous meetings by one goal.

It was 3-1 after one stanza and 5-3 after two before the Seals exploded for a half-dozen tallies in the final period.

Vancouver goalie Bruce Bullock was bombarded with 44 shots after facing 53 against Boston Jan. 1. the Canucks dropped that one 8-2.

The 22-year-old Laframboise, a 190-pounder from Ottawa, who played a few moments at the end of last seash, now has 10 goals for California.

The Seals call on Montreal Saturday and Toronto Sunday.

Meanwhile, Finley blames deception regarding players' salaries by former general manager and coach Garry Young for several of his players going to the World Hockey League.

Young was not immediately available for comment.

Finley called a news conference after the Seals 11-3 romp over Vancouver Wednesday night to accuse Young of hiring "several" players at thousands of dollars more than he had told. Finley.

As an example, Finley said Young told him he signed defenseman Dick Redmond for $30,000 but said he later found out that Redmond had been signed for $80,000 the first year and $100,000 the second year.

Redmond was recently traded to the Chicago Black Hawks for Darryl Maggs. Finley did not mention any other player by name but said "several" were involved. Eleven former Seals are now playing in the WHL.

Young resigned as coach of the Seals on Nov. 7, giving ill health as the reason. He became coach after undergoing major surgery last August.

Super Bowl Television Ban Is Lifted; Game Sold Out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National Football League, assured of a sellout crowd for Super Bowl VII on Jan. 14, has lifted local television blackout of the National Football League championship playoff for the first time.

Final assurance came Wednesday when the participating clubs, Miami and Washington, reported sale of their allocations of 12,000 tickets each. The game will be televised nationally by NBC.

"Heck," said a spokesman for Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, "we've had 24,000 inquiries for tickets since last March when we learned the game would be played here. In fact, we've had that many in the past week."

Commissionr Pete Rozelle of the NFL announced last October that the blackout that has existed for each of the first six games would be lifted if the game was sold out 10 days in advance.

The NFL announced that all 90,182 tickets — each costing $15 for a total worth of $1.35 million — were allocated. The deadline was 12:30 p.m. PST today.

The tickets sold represent seats with unobstructed views in the mammoth 93,791-seat stadium constructed for the 1932 Olympic Games. The game will be sold out for the sixth consecutive year. Only 63,036 attended the first Super Bowl which was played in Los Angeles Coliseum.

"We had only 10 days to prepare for that first game," the Coliseum spokesman said. "That's how much time we had after the site was announced. We didn't get the tickets until five days before the game."

After announcing conditions by which the blackout would be lifted for the Super Bowl, Rozelle rejected a request from President Nixon to allow local television of earlier playoffs in Washington if those games sold out 48 hours in advance.

Nixon would be able to watch Super Bowl VII from his Western White House in San Clemente now that the blackout has been lifted. The 75-mile blackout radius included San Clemente.

There was no indication the President will be in San Clemente on Super Bowl Sunday.

WITH CAMERA

Ohio State's Hayes Has More Problems

Otherwise, Hayes didn't say a word. He declined to make any comment on the incident with Los Angeles Times photographer Art Rogers, who contends Hayes pushed a camera in his face.

William F. Thomas, editor of the Times, responded, "I don't know what Dr. Harold Enarson is really trying to say, but it would appear that he wants our photographer to apologize for being deliberately assaulted.

"I, too, might look more sympathetically upon a hasty action in the 'rush and crush' before a game if the man involved did not have a history of violent tantrums vented upon anyone who displeases him.

"It's time he is told he must behave as an adult, and that's what the police action is aimed at doing.

"As for Enarson's remarks about badgering, we're at a loss to understand them. Times reporters, as always before a big game, tried to interview players.

Hayes insisted he did not hit Rogers. He said he "shoved the camera sideways, not in his face. It did not go in his fac."

Packers' Devine Is Coach Of Year

The Conference Selection Had A Slow Start

DAN DEVINE
Coach honored

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dan Devine, who lived in the shadow of a legend while he brought the Pack back to the playoffs, Thursday was named the United Press International National Football Conference 1972 Coach of the Year.

Devine, who built the Green Bay Packers back into a playoff team in just two seasons while he was being measured by the record left behind by the late Vince Lombardi, edged George Allen of the Washington Redskins in the balloting of 39 sportswriters across the nation—three in each of the conference's 13 cities.

Devine received 22 votes to 17 for Allen, who won the honor last year and also was named coach of the year in 1967 when he was with the Los Angeles Rams. None of the other 11 coaches in the conference received a vote. Allen was attempting to become the first coach to win the award three times since it was inaugurated in 1955.

Devine left a secure job as head coach of the Missouri Tigers in 1971 to tackle the difficult job of satisfying the Packers fans, who had been spoiled during the success of the Lombardi era when the club won five NFL titles and the first two Super Bowls.

"I tried to turn the Lombardi legend into an asset rather than a liability but it was awfully, awfully tough, almost overwhelmingly," he admits.

He didn't exactly get off to a sparkling debut a year ago when he suffered a broken leg in the Packers' opening game against the New York Giants when he was bowled over on a play at the sidelines.

He spent most of that year on crutches watching as the Packers struggled through a 4-8 -2 season. Most observers figured Devine would be fortunate to get the back back to the .500 mark this year and almost no one picked them to win the NFC Central Division crown. The Minnesota Vikings, with the addition of Fran Tarkenton, were supposed to be the favorites with Detroit the top contender.

But Devine shaped his club with shrewd deals and good drafting and led it to a 10-4 mark for the Central Division crown and a playoff spot. The Packers were beaten 16-3 by Allen's Redskins in the playoffs but then even Lombardi lost his first playoff game in his second year with Green Bay and that loss didn't diminish the Packers' fine season.

Roberts Is Retained By New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans Saints head coach J.D. Roberts was secure in his job today for at least another year after weeks of wavering by team owner John Mecom Jr.

Mecom announced late Wednesday he had decided to keep Roberts as head coach next year despite the Saints' dismal 2-11-1 season record in 1972.

"The decision has been the product of considerable thought and research," said Mecom, who said he had spoken to dozens of other professional and college coaches, owners and players.

"I learned that some building projects had been set back two or three years when the head coach was changed," said the young Houston oil millionaire who once admitted the Saints were "just a hobby" with him.

"I firmly believe that the progress being made in our rebuilding program under J.D. Roberts had been satisfactory," he added.

Roberts was in Hawaii and not available for comment.

Centaurs Whip Headstart Five

Woody Woodward scored 30 points to lead the Centaurs' 66-44 thrashing of Headstart last night in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league play.

In other games, the Sharks decisioned the Organics, 45-31, while Ritter defeated Mazza Fuller Paints, 50-45.

Warriors' Lee Status In Doubt For Contest

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors may be without Clyde Lee again tonight when Portland comes to call.

Lee reinjured his arch in Tuesday's 112-106 win over Los Angeles that cut the Warriors margin behind the Lakers to five games.

"I won't know until just before the game whether or not Lee will be able to go," said coach Al Attles. "Clyde is very important to us because he gives us a lot of board strength. It doesn't matter how many good shooters you have if you lose the boards."

Lee was injured during late November and early December and the Warriors play slumped noticeably.

Lee's absence will be especially missed against Portland, which is pretty much a one-man team. That one man is forward Sidney Wicks and he is the guy Lee normally guards.

If Lee can't go, then presumably Cazzie Russell will start in his place with Rick Barry trying to guard Wicks.

"I don't like to use Rick on Sidney," said Attles. "It's not good policy to tire your hot scorer."

Portland Wednesday activated 6-7 forward Bob Davis from Weber State. He'll suit up tonight.

Fighter Mazon Decisions Kelly

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Eddie Mazon, 154 ½, San Diego, scored a split decision over Walter Kelly, 154, Las Vegas, in the featured 10-round boxing match at the Silver Slipper Arena Wednesday night.

There were no knockdowns but Kelly suffered a cut nose in the seventh round. The judges favored Mazon's performance 48-42 and 46-45. The dissenting judge called it for Kelly, 46-45.

Drake '5' Rated Loop Favorites

By LEW CODDINGTON

A phalanx of good big men will provide stability and one smaller player will provide much of the fireworks during this year's Marin County Athletic League basketball season, which will open with a schedule of four games tomorrow night.

Defending champion Tamalpais High School will visit Novato, Redwood will journey to San Rafael, San Marin will drop in on Marin Catholic and Terra Linda will trek to Drake, all games beginning at 8 o'clock. Junior varsity games will precede the varsity contests at 6:45.

Drake must be rated the preseason favorite on the basis of a 11-3 won-lost record during nonleague play. The Pirates from San Anselmo have averaged 69 points a game and given up 57, and their scoring and average margin of victory are the best in Marin.

Drake has extraordinary depth, using up to 10 players effectively during the pre-season campaign. The Pirates have a well-coordinated fast break and shoot well, but they are weak in the one area where many other teams are strong — height.

Drake has only four varsity players over six feet tall, and none above 6-foot-4. The Pirates will encounter only one shorter team all year, and all the likely contenders will have a height advantage on them.

The MCAL also appears to be more balanced than in the past. The worst record of any team during non-league play was 5-8 by Tamalpais. Many coaches feel a team will be able to win the title with three defeats.

Perhaps the best player in Marin is not the tallest, however. Hoza Wright, a 6-2 senior guard from San Marin, finished second in the league in scoring last season with a 17.6 average.

Wright's skills notwithstanding, the championship probably will be won or lost under the bucket this year. Virtually every team has a player 6-4, 6-5 or taller who is also mobile.

DRAKE (11-3) — Quite a bit depends on the ability of 6-4 pivot man John Channell to make his taller opponents behave. Additional muscle underneath will be provided by 6-1 forward Greg Shw, but otherwise, the Pirates must rely on speed and sleight-of-hand.

REDWOOD (7-6) — Coach Dick Hart has pronounced his Giants "ready;; to attempt to regain the title they held for three straight years prior to 1972. Leaping 6-6 junior center Darrell Elder will be hard to contain underneath, and 6-2 wing man Mike Connor will provide stability and floor leadership.

NOVATO (5-6) — The Hornets return four starters and the top reserve off last year's team, so they are experienced and know each other well. Junior center Willie Barnes is 6-5 and a fine leaper who can also shoot from outside. Novato has had problems with its shooting this year, and must improve to win.

SAN RAFAEL (7-6) — The Bulldogs have the tallest team in the league, but also the most inexperienced, having lost all five starters and the coach from last year. Byron Stewart is the 6-7 center and he can be joined on the front line by 6-7 Pete Neuwald, 6-5 Guy Perry and/or 6-3 Dan Zitek.

SAN MARIN (6-5) — The Mustangs won only seven games of 24 all last season, so their improvement is obvious. Wright's outside potential hopefully will keep defenses from sagging on 6-5 John Tait and 6-5 Price (Skip) Starnes.

TAMALPAIS (5-8) — Bernie Schneider may coach the team, but the doctor picks the starting lineup. Versatile 6-4 forward Jared McFerrin is among the league's best when not bothered by mononucleosis, and 6-4 center Mike Dinehart is similarly valuable when not bothered by bad knees. In their absence, 6-4 Hollis Owens and 6-2 Kevin Murphy must provide inside muscle.

MARIN CATHOLIC (8-6) — With 6-4 Tom Cronin their tallest man, the Wildcats resort to a deliberate game, working hard for what coach Dave Gonsalves calls "the cheap shot." Forward Mike Mahoney may be the best sophomore in the league.

TERRA LINDA (6-8) — The Trojans have an outstanding forward, 6-4 Mark Lowey, and commit additional height with 6-6 center Brian Morey. Only Lowey was a full-time starter last year, however, so they must overcome inexperience plus what coach Bob Corley calls some problems on defense.

Sonoma Five Hosts Pair Of Loop Foes

The Sonoma State College Cossacks come home this weekend in search of their first Far Western Conference basketball victory in three years and a starting center when they face Chico State College and University of California, Davis tomorrow and Saturday nights at 8 o'clock.

The Cossacks (4-4) have just completed a one-month road trip last weekend with one win and two losses in the Rogue Valley Invitational in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

"Both games should be tough this weekend," Joel Spear, Sonoma State sports information director, commented. "As a matter of fact, all our games in the Far Western Conference are going to be tough."

They will be made tougher still by the disclosure last night that the Cossacks' starting center, 6-foot-6 Ron Johnson, has been declared ineligible for the season, due to a grade technicality at Pasadena City College, which he attended last year.

Johnson has been hitting 56 per cent of his shots from the floor and better than 75 per cent from the free throw line while averaging 15 points per game. "This is really going to hurt us," Spear lamented.

With either George Schandelmier or Bill Belander in the pivot, the Cossacks host a 5-4 Chico Wildcat aggregation tomorrow night. Led by 6-7 center Mark Harski, the Wildcats are a running team with five starters averaging in double figures.

On the bench, Chico also has 6-7 Arlandes Lee, who made All-Tournament at the Wildcats' Invitational.

Saturday night, the Cossacks face the deceiving Davis Aggies. The Aggies pre-league record was 1-7, but they opened up with five games on the road against the like of the University of Missouri, Southern Illinois University and the University of the Pacific.

Davis is led by 6-foot guard Gary Fox, who's averaging about 12 points per game, 6-7 sophomore center Dan Dowling from San Bruno and 6-5 Manny Cranford.

Terra Linda Is Grappling Pick

By LEW CODDINGTON

For the second year in a row, Terra Linda High School apparently has the team to beat in Marin County Athletic League wrestling.

Trojan coach Bob Hetherington is understandably reluctant to concede the point, however, since last year when he had the team to beat, somebody beat him.

In fact, MCAL wrestling the past two years has been the exclusive domain of the two schools in the San Rafael City Schools. San Rafael upset Terra Linda in the key, season-ending match of unbeaten teams last season, 31-28, but Trojan wrestlers turned in better performances in the MCAL meet. The year before, Terra Linda won the dual-meet schedule and San Rafael shone brighter in the league meet.

This year, Terra Linda will have two league champions returning — Mark Egide, who won at 106 and has stepped up to 112, and Mike Weinstein, up to 120 after winning at 115.

In addition, the deep Trojans have Reggie Grant (135), Tim Bennett and Steve Runchy (both 154), Bob Spain (175), Ron Losk (191) and Jon Loberg (unlimited) as standouts.

"I hope we'll do well. We hope to contend. We have some very good boys," is all Hetherington would say, however.

The season gets underway with two matches tomorrow, Novato visitng San Rafael and Terra Linda journeying to Drake, both at 6:30 p.m. Tamalpais and Redwood switched their match to Jan. 23. San Marin draws a bye and Marin Catholic does not have a team.

There will be one and a half new coaches in the league this year. Chris Alvarado, a student teacher in English at San Rafael, takes over the defending champions from Larry Lack, who is assisting him.

At San Marin, Bob Martin has taken over for Bill Graves. Martin is only half new, having guided the grapplers four years ago.

For the first time since MCAL wrestling started, five-time champion Novato does not expect to have a strong team. "We only have 20 or 25 kids out, and most of them are beginners," said Hornet coach Ralph Cutler. Kurt Belter (112) was the 98-pound champion a year ago, and Al Christman (138) is experienced, but beyond that Novato is thin and young.

San Marin also suffers from inexperience. Martin expects his top performers to be Dave Jensvold (112), Tim Lessley (165), Brian Saling (175), Steve Fowler (191) and Hal Wood (unlimited). Five of the 13 varsity starters will be sophomores, however.

Redwood "will have a good club this year," according to coach Wes Price. His top grapplers figure to be Doug Frager (154), Peder Pederson (145), Don Littman (112) and either Said Farah or Transfer Jamie King at 95.

Tamalpais returns league champion Craig Marshall (177) and topnotcher Alvin Price (145), and expects to improve on last year's performance, even though the team prematurely lost both star Fords from last year. Three-time league champion Greg (103) took extra courses and graduated early, while Jerry (127) suffered a broken neck during football season, from which he is recovering without complication, coach Dennis Untermann reports.

San Rafael returns 154-pounder Mike Milbauer, who won the league at 141 last year. Lack expects the Bulldogs to finish third or fourth.

Drake's second-year team more than doubled its turnout, from 13 to 29, and coach Imants Abers expects improvement on the mat. The Pirates return their most valuable wrestler from last year, Marvin (Corky) Ingraham at 177.

Slide And Rose: A Good Combo

By CHARLIE COANE

Slide Mountain and Mount Rose have been back-to-back for many years. In fact, you could get off at the top of one area and ski down into the other. Unfortunately, in past years that move would not be wise, as there was no working relationship between areas. Each area was separate and that was that. Skiers often wondered why they didn't combine forces.

Well, with a few management changes here and there, and in trying to keep pace with the growing interest in skiing, Mount Rose and Slide combined forces two years ago. They still operate under separate management, but for skiers it's one big area now. A combo ticket can be purchased at either place.

Standing alone, neither Slide nor Rose was considered a large resort, yet both had some fine runs. But together, with nine chair lifts to choose from the combo area has become quite formidable.

The main advantage of Slide and Mount Rose is the elevation: 8,200 feet at the lodge is the highest around, and they peak at 9,700 feet — not the highest, but close to it. Generally speaking, this elevation should give the areas better snow conditions — the higher, the drier, etc. This can be especially true during the Spring.

Another item that many skiers pick up on is the location of the sun relative to Slide and Rose. Being back-to-back, the areas face different directions. Without going into the routine on rotation of earth and its effect on the sun, let it suffice to say that Slide gets the most sun in the mornings and Mount Rose catches the rays in the afternoons. This can certainly be used to an advantage in trying to find the best skiing conditions.

This year, both areas have night skiing. Yes, with lights. Slide lights up the poma slope and about half of the Overland Chairlift, Tuesday through Sunday until 10 p.m. Mount Rose began skiing under the stars midway through last season and continues the effort this season each Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 7 - 10 p.m.

Slide also added snow-making equipment to the lower bowl this season. "This, along with removal of all large rocks and planting of grass last summer," reports new manager Cliff Wordal, "will help general snow conditions and improve in late Spring."

Boating Safety Courses

It is said that "some of the best things in life are free." One such example is the free boating safety lecture course presented by the Marin County chapter of the United States Power Squadron.

This 13-week lecture course has three Marin County locations and starts Tuesday, Jan. 30, in the San Rafael High School cafeteria. Redwood High hosts the same program in Rooms 200-203 Wednesday, Jan. 31, and Novato High begins in its lecture series on Thursday, Feb. 1 in its auditorium. The classes run from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Signups will be taken at the three locales during the first session.

In explaining the importance of the course, San Rafael High boating safety program chairman Allen F. Livers Sr. pointed out: "Boaters must know the ground rules of Mother Nature to prevent needless boating fatalities. We're trying to spread the fundamentals (of power and sail boating safety) into as many hands as possible.

"We wouldn't want people to go out in weather that is too rough for the boat. We also want them to know the rules of the road" when boating.

Class topics include: handling under normal conditions; handling under adverse conditions; seamanship and common emergencies; rules of the road; aids to navigation; compass and chart familiarization; running lights and equipment; boat trailering; river boating; and mariner's compass and piloting.

Pirates Pay Respect To 'Friend' Clemente

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The fluorescent marquis atop Mount Washington shone hazy red through a steady winter drizzle, gracing an abandoned Three Rivers Stadium far below with the words, "Adios Amigo Roberto."

Pittsburgh Pirates Public Relations Director Bill Guilfoyle stepped out into the chill, the last man out of the lonely clubhouse, on his way home to pack up for today's quick, somber flight to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"Well, so long," Guilfoyle said, glancing up at the glowing red letters. "Come on back when we have something more pleasant to talk about."

Twenty-seven Pirates and their saddened entourage took off for San Juan today, bearing their final respects to the family of the late Roberto Cemente and a personal commitment from the President of the United States for the establishment of the national Roberto Clemente Memorial Fund.

President Nixon summed Pirate President John Galbreath and pitchers Steve Blass and Dave Giusti to the White House Wednesday and inaugurated the fund with a $1,000 contribution to earthquake devastated Nicaragua in the Pirate hero's name.

"The entire Pirate club was so stunned by Roberto's death that we really kept asking outselves what could we do— what should we do?" Galbreath said from an easy chair at the clubhouse, just four hours after leaving the President' oval office in Washington.

Clemente died New Year's Eve off the eastern shore of Puerto Rico amid the wreckage of a cargo plane bearing supplies to the shattered city of Managua—a project the superstar coordinated for his native Puerto Rican government.

Two Marin Champs In Oakland Car Show

Two San Rafael competitors hold sweepstakes titles going into the 25th National Roadster Show Feb. 16-25 at the Oakland Coliseum, producer Al Slonaker said today.

Olympics Site Decision Due

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — The United States Olympic Committee was to make known today its choice for the 1976 Winter Games as the nation's alternate to Denver.

Lake Placid, N.Y., Salt Lake City and two Lake Tahoe resort areas have made formal bids for the Games which Denver rejected in a November referendum for reasons of economy and ecology.

The USOC selection will be recommended to the International Olympic Committee whose executive committee will make the final decision in Lausanne, Switzerland next month. Several cities outside the United States also have bid to replace Denver as the site of the Winter Games.

In another Olympic development, the American Broadcasting Co. announced Wednesday it had bought the U.S. television rights to the 1976 Summer Games at Montreal for an unprecedented $25 million.

Football

STANFORD — Bob Jones, offensive coordinator of Stanford University's football staff, resigned Wednesday in order to make himself available for a head coaching position.

In announcing Jones' resignation, Stanford athletic director Joe Ruetz said that the vacancy will probably be filled by someone presently on the Stanford staff.

NEW YORK — Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins, who ran around and over waves of tacklers, and Mean Joe Greene, who made waves of tackles, were named today The Associated Press Players of the Year in the National Football League.

TAMPA, Fla. — Dennis Fryzel, 31, Wednesday was named to succeed Earle Bruce as the fourth football coach at the University of Tampa in four seasons. Bruce has become head coach at Iowa State of the Big-Eight Conference.

A native of Cleveland, Fryzel played his college ball at Denison University where he was a defensive standout. He came to Tampa last spring as defensive coordinator when Bruce came here from Ohio State.

Golf

NEW YORK — The Professional Golfers Association announced the establishment of the World Open Golf Championship, worth a record $500,000 with $100,000 going to the winner.

Tennis

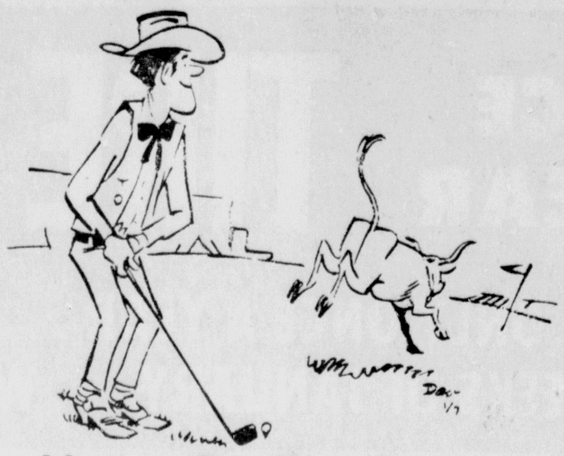
BOSTON — Australians John Newcombe and Margaret Court won the men's and women's singles titles Wednesday in the Australian Open to take an early lead in the $400,000 1973 Commercial Union Grand Prix of Tennis.

Newcombe, a three-time Wimbledon champion, defeated Onny Parun of New Zealand, 6-3, 6-7, 7-5, 6-1, and Mrs. Court picked up her 11th Australian title by knocking off fellow Australian Evonne Goolagong 6-4, 7-5.

Most Yardage

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —The record for most yards total offense in a single game for Michigan State football is the 698 yards picked up by the Spartans in their 1971 game at Purdue.

TREVINO TALKS Ggolf



Home On The Range

By LEE TREVINO

I'm partial to driving ranges as a place to practice. Practicing can be a bore. But on a range we used to play various games to keep it interesting. So can you and your friends.

We'd shoot at yardage markers for a quarter. The closest to the sign won two bits apiece. Or we'd try to hit a ball between the two posts on a yard marker for a dollar.

Not everyone has a dollar. Neither did we. But we were learning how to hit low, straight shots. We tried everything with a ball except kicking it.

Most people try to hit practice balls in the air, pretty-like. Or they try to hit 'em close to the caddy so he won't have to walk too far. That's no good.

They don't care how you spray 'em on a driving range. Hit 'em high, low, low hook, high fade, low fade, high hook, low straight, the whole smear. That's PRACTICING.

The pretty shot isn't the one that climbs gracefully into the air, then falls by the caddy. It's the one that hooks, fades, goes straight — low or high — when you want it to.

Golf Veteran Snead Plays Like A Youth

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Veteran Sam Snead, at 60 still playing like a youngster, picked up $500 Wednesday for the best individual score, a 68, in the pro-amateur prelude to the $135,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open.

Snead was three-under-par at the Riviera Country Club where par is 35-36--71.

Lenny Thompson, South Carolina pro, also had a 68 but his was on the easier Bel-Air Country Club course and was only two-under-par. Bel-Air par is 35-35--70. Thompson also won $500.

Dolphins' Quarterback Pick: Griese

MIAMI (UPI) — Washington Redskins Coach George Allen doesn't have to wonder any more. Bob Griese will start at quarterback for the Miami Dolphins in Super Bowl VII.

Unlike Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who waited until late in the game week to announce whether Roger Staubach or Craig Morton would start against Washington last Sunday, Shula announced his decision 10 days in advance.

"I don't believe in going to the wire with an announcement of this type," said Shula of his choice of Griese over the 38-year-old Earl Morrall. "You don't play games with people the stature of a Morrall or a Griese," Shula said.

Morrall, picked up on waivers from Baltimore last off-season, stepped in for Griese Oct. 15 when the younger quarterback broke and dislocated his ankle.

Morrall led Miami to 11 of its 16 victories this year until yielding to Griese in the second half of Miami's AFC championship win over Pittsburgh Sunday.

"I have tremendous personal feeling for Earl," said Shula. "Nothing but respect and admiration for him as a man. But I also have to sit down and evaluate the situation, and then do what is in the best interests of winning this ball game.

"I feel Bob now is healthy, as he demonstrated in the second half against Pittsburgh," Shula said.

Veteran Wrestling Coach Disappointed By Turnout

By LEW CODDINGTON

The disappointment in Ralph Cutler's voice was keen. If you can transmit a frown through telephone wires, he was doing it.

"The number of kids who have been coming out has been decreasing every year," Novato High's wrestling coach was saying. "We used to have 50 or 60 left at the end of the season. Now we have 20 or 25 out at the start."

Cutler's problem is not unique in the Marin County Athletic League, although it is more disappointing since he brought the sport to Marin high schools and once coached five consecutive MCAL champions.

Redwood and Terra Linda reported improved turnouts over last year, but the number of students did not match the totals of previous years. Drake's second-year program also reported a jump and Tamalpais remained about the same, but the problem is more severe in the Novato schools than elsewhere.

"The junior high setup here is not conducive to this kind of team sport," Cutler said. There is no junior high wrestling in Novato, and both San Marin and Novato high schools begin in the 10th grade, so sophomores who come out for wrestling may find themselves a couple of years behind their counterparts from other schools.

RALPH CUTLER
Novato coach

Of course, this is true of football and basketball players and everybody else in Novato, but there are other outlets for those sports. Every playground has a hoop and a backboard, but wrestling mats are few and far between.

Wrestling has other problems, too. It is not a "glamor" sport, and is plagued with low crowds, unenthusiastic student body response, and the lack of a college or professional future.

The shifting of water polo from winter to fall, leaving only basketball and wrestling for the winter, has done nothing to help the mat sport. Water polo players are unlikely to go out for wrestling, preferring instead to practice swimming, Cutler said.

San Marin High's grapplers must share facilities in the student center with girls gymnastics and the drama department, coach Bob Martin reported. Sharing facilities, in fact, is a way of life at San Marin, which also lacks a swimming pool and uses Novato's.

TRUCKIN' — It's been that kind of season for Tamalpais High's basketball team. On the way to Napa last Friday for a game, the bus broke down. The junior varsity team found a way to the game and was sent ahead, but the varsity straggled in late, and the varsity contest didn't end until 10:30 p.m.

Center Mike Dinehart, playing his first game after coming back from a knee ailment, scored the winning basket in that contest. Tam's other injured star, Jared McFerrin, sank the winner earlier last month against Lowell of San Francisco — in only his second game after coming back. They may not play much, but they're effective when they do.

Chain Store Stock Will Make Recovery

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I purchased 200 shares of Dillard Department Stores on the AMEX as a growth stock. Other retail issues have been going up but the market seems to be ignoring this stock even though its growth has been rapid. I now have a six-point loss and would appreciate your comments. — A.S.

A. Dillard's five-year average growth rate, at 10 per cent annually, is better than nine of the 12 leading retail department store chains. Market evaluation of the shares, however, as measured by the price earnings multiple, is one of the lowest in the industry at only 12x. This may reflect the company's comparatively narrow margin of profit. For the fiscal nine months through October, Dillard was able to take only 1.8 per cent of sales down to earnings. In 1971, department store chains averaged a 3.2 per cent profit margin, whereas Dillard achieved a modest 2.2 per cent.

The company operates a chain of 24 stores located throughout the Southwest. In recent years the company has replaced older, small retail units with large full service stores. In 1972, four outlets were opened and three phased out. Three suburban stores will be opened this year. While opening costs have cut into near term profits, over the long range, the more efficient larger units should allow a higher percentage takedown from sales. Hold for recovery.

Q. At what age are paid-up annunity and mutual fund withdrawals advisable? I'll receive minimum Social Security benefits and no pension. — R.D.

A. Whenever you stop work you'll need your annuity payments to supplement Social Security income. Postpone withdrawals from your mutual fund as long as possible to build your investment to its peak potential. Meantime call in your fund representative to advise you how best to fit withdrawals to your needs. Fund withdrawals are flexible income supplements but will consume principal if set too high. As a general rule of thumb, if withdrawals are limited to 6 per cent to 8 per cent capital inroads are insignificant.

TRIUMPH GT-6

Power assisted front disc brakes, wider rear track and tinted glass all-around are the key features of the 1973 GT-6 fastback coupe. The six-cylinder sports car also has interior modifications including improved seats and instrument graphics. Brown Motors Inc. of San Rafael is the Marin dealer.

Canvass Of Businesses Starts Soon

The next canvass of the nation's manufacturing and business firms — the Economic Censuses — will get under way this month and will cover calendar 1972.

The censuses, to be conducted by the Bureau of the Census, a part of the United States Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration, will update statistics on America's manufacturing, mining, transportation, retail trade and other business activities.

Due date for the return of the mailed out questionnaires is Feb. 15. The Economic Censuses now are taken at five year intervals and cover the years ending in "2" and "7".

As in the past censuses, all firms canvassed will be asked to provide such information as the number of employees, payrolls and value of sales and or shipments.

The census law protects the privacy of all information reported to the Census Bureau.

Hub Chamber Puts Out Shopping Map

A new brochure-map inviting shoppers and businesses to San Anselmo has just been publishd by the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the city.

William Trewhella, 1972 manager of the chamber, said 10,000 copies were printed during the Christmas season, and another 15,000 will be added for wide public circulation.

The attractive folder reflects the signs of the times in downtown San Anselmo with photographs and a brief text describing the city as "A new experience in shopping ... Quaint little boutiques and specialty shops pleasantly intermingled among the traditional type stores ... With free parking (no meters!)."

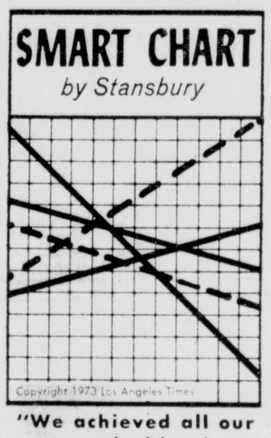
"It's the first time that we produced a brochure on one side with a map on the other," said Trewhella. Kenneth Ball was 1972 president of the San Anselmo Chamber. James F. Reed will succeed him as president this year.



"We achieved all our year-end objectives. Unfortunately they were the wrong objectives."

Leader Dies

TORONTO (UPI) — George A. Drew, former premier of Ontario and leader of the Canadian Progressive Conservative party, died today in a Toronto hospital. He was 78.

Market Starts Sluggish After Three Good Days

Analysts said the market was somewhat overbought, having moved sharply higher in the last three days. The Dow has climbed about 36 points since last Friday. However, the economic factors leading to the advance still are present, analysts said.

In the news, a U. S. representative in Paris said the problems preventing a Vietnam peace treaty will exist for sometime, but this year will be the last phase of both the war and the negotiations.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in moderately active trading.

New Shops Are Being Opened In San Anselmo's Lansdale Area

Several shops have opened or are about to open in the 1500 block of San Anselmo Avenue in the old Lansdale area of San Anselmo.

The "Whatever" antique and jewelry store at 1509 San Anselmo Avenue has been taken over by Robert B. Taylor, San Geronimo jeweler, and his wife, Peggy Taylor, a seamstress. The Taylors bought it from Mrs. Marian Feehery of Forest Knolls, who owned the shop for about a year and a half. "Whatever" carries antique clothes, handcrafts, and jewelry, many of them made by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. It is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The shop next door, at 1511 San Anselmo Avenue, will be a new silver jewelry store to be operated by John Sabo, who is partner in The Post, a jewelry store at 391 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley. Sabo and his partner, James Shelley of San Anselmo, opened The Post about six months ago.

Sabo said his partner will probably continue with The Post, and he (Sabo) plans to establish the San Anselmo shop on his own.

Sabo is a painter, metal sculptor and jewelrymaker specializing in silver. He has not decided as yet on the name of his new shop. "I'd like to see this area (Lansdale shopping area) fixed up with extensive use of redwood," said Sabo. "I think it can be an attractive shopping area."

Another new shop planned in the same block is a furniture repair and refinishing store called Compleate Refinishing Kit, which will open at 1525 San Anselmo Avenue. Christopher Frederick Mosden of Ross plans to open the Compleate Refinishing Kit in space formerly occupied by Andromeda dress shop, which moved to 425 San Anselmo Avenue in downtown San Anselmo.

ROBERT A. (BOB) TONEFF, tackle for the San Francisco Forty-Niners, is the new Dodge dealer in San Rafael.

Toneff, who took over as general manager of Marin Dodge Inc. at 1075 Francisco Boulevard, announced that his sales manager will be Daryl Richardson of Millbrae.

A resident of Sleepy Hollow, Toneff has been in the automobile business for 15 years, and his new sales manager has had 20 years of experience in the field. The other consultant at Marin Dodge remain the same.

Former dealer Len Hughston quit the agency last November.

Niggeman

FIREMAN'S FUND American Insurance Companies will break ground Monday morning on its new multimillion-dollar computer center at Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101. Following the groundbreaking, chairman Louis W. Niggeman will describe the new facility at a Rotary Club luncheon at The Medallion restaurant in San Rafael.

The three-story structure with almost seven acres of floor area will go up on a 38-acre parcel across the highway from Northgate Industrial Park.

THE LACQUER CHANNEL Inc. (TLC), the new disc mastering service at the Bridgeway Plaza, 2829 Bridgeway in Sausalito, has added a new service for the community at large.

If you or your church or school wants to have records made for personal use or for sale, The Lacquer Channel will handle all the details.

Just record your choir, band, soloist etc. and take the tape to TLC. Pamela Strickland will help select labels, jackets and special needs, and Trent Strickland will edit the tapes and make the first master disc. You can get as many records as you need, jacketed and ready for sale.

GRAF VAN & Storage has been appointed San Rafael agent for Four Winds Forwarding Inc. of San Diego, an international mover of household goods in containers.

Graf Van & Storage, located at 174 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park, will repreent Four Winds Forwarding in the San Rafael and Hamilton Air Force Base areas.

EDWARD S. LEWIS, 66, of Mill Valley, who worked at Varney's Tiburon Hardware and Marine Inc. for the past six years, retired last month.

Lewis was in the hardware business for 20 years, and before that, worked for the California Fish and Game Department hatcheries for 25 years. He was also a member of the Mill Valley Volunteer Fire Department for 28 years.

The Ever-Changing Makeup Of Cells

How can some cells in the human body change their chemical output according to the body's needs? Why are some bacteria able to live on any of several different food sources? How does any cell regulate its own internal chemistry?

A mass of experimental observations on this subject had been puzzling scientists for years. Then, in 1961, two French scientists announced a comprehensive theory to explain the data.

When the two men did their work, this much was already known: the cell's genes, made up of a chemical called DNA, contain the codes for the structures of various proteins, and other machinery exists in the cell to read the codes and produce the proteins. These proteins, which are special ones called enzymes, then initiate the cell's chemical reactions with its environment. The question in 1961 was, how does the cell regulate the quantity of each enzyme it produces?

The two scientists, Francois Jacob and Jacques Monod, put forward the idea that some of the genes had regulatory, rather than productive functions. These genes code for special products that can stimulate or inhibit the machinery for enzyme production. Jacob and Monod indicated that a separate regulatory system like this may exist for each enzyme produced by the cell.

So important were the implications of this theory, and so rapidly was it confirmed by others, that the two scientists were awarded the Nobel Prize a mere four years later.

At The Salk Institute as at other research institutions, this line of work is being pursued now in greater detail. Dr. Suzanne Bourgeois at the Institute is working with Monod and others on studies of the regulation of enayme production in a common bacterium.

Although most of the work on regulatory genes has been restricted to a few bacterial and virus systems, the available evidence on higher organisms indicates that their cells follow the same general pattern. In fact, the model offers an explanation of the apparent differences among the many cells in one organism. By this model, all the cells in one organism have the same complete set of genes and differ from one another only in which genes are inhibited and which are expressed. Attorney Gets Time In Jail

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Former South San Francisco City Attorney Richard P. Lyons, 54, Hillsborough, was sentenced Tuesday to 10 months in the San Mateo County Jail on five counts of embezzlement.

Visiting Superior Court Judge Robert D. Carter also fined the prominent lawyer $5,500 and placed him on probation upon his release from jail.

"You would be on your way to state prison if you had not made restitution," Carter said.

Investigators said Lyons embezzled as much as $68,000 from trust funds he administered.
